[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—When Justice Hugo L. Black, a former, if not present, member of the Ku Klux Klan, ascends to the exalted bench of the United States Supreme court he will take the place of a justice who once excoriated the hooded order of religious and racial bigots in a formal opinion of the court.

Justice Willis Van Devanter, retired, in whose place President Roosevelt appointed Senator Black, wrote and delivered the Supreme court's opinion of Nov. 19, 1928, in which the klan was denounced as a terroristic society "conducting a crusade against Catholics, Jews, and Negroes, and stimulating hurtful religious and race prejudices."

The opinion expressing such supreme loathing for the Ku Klux Klan was concurred in by four justices whom Black will have to face when he sits around the conference table in the privacy of the court's deliberations.

Brandeis and Stone Included.

The fifth justice who still is on the Supreme bench — James C. McReynolds—dissented on the ground that the court had no jurisdiction. The present members who concurred included Justices Louis D. Brandeis and Harlan F. Stone, whose dissenting opinions Black has been wont to cite in his attacks on Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and other members of the court; Justice George Sutherland and Justice Pierce Butler.

Among those concurring in the Van Devanter opinion was the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, whom the liberals of the country virtually deified. Others concurring were the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft and the late Associate Justice Edward Terry Sandford.

The Supreme court, in the decision announced by Justice Van Devanter, upheld the validity of a New York state statute which required all oath bound organizations, exclusive of labor unions and associations specifically named in the New York benevolent orders law, to file their oaths, by-laws, constitutions, regulations, and membership lists.

Kluxer Charges Discrimination.

George W. Bryant of Buffalo, a kluxer, who was arrested and jailed for violation of this statute, sued for a writ of habeas corpus, charging that the act violated the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution by denying the equal protection of the laws. The law discriminated against the klan, he contended, because it did not affect the Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Columbus, etc., which had been required to register by the previously enacted benevolent orders law. The New York courts upheld the statute, and the case was appealed to the Supreme court.

"The main contention made under the equal protection clause," said Justice Van Devanter's opinion, "is that the statute discriminates against the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan and other associations in that it excepts from its requirements several associations having oath bound membership, such as labor unions, the Masonic fraternity, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the Grand Army of the Republic, and the Knights of Columbus—all named in another statute which provides for their incorporation and requires the names of their officers as elected from time to time to be reported to the secretary of state.

"The courts below reached the conclusion that the classification was justified by a difference between the two classes of associations shown by experience and that the difference consisted [a] in a manifest tendency on the part of one class to make the secrecy surrounding its purposes and

BEGIN BOYCOTT AGAINST JAPS IN BRITISH EMPIRE

Nippon's Invasion of China Denounced.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—(AP)—British Liberals and Laborites promoted an anti-Japanese boycott throughout the empire tonight.

Public gatherings denounced the Japanese invasion of China. "Don't Buy Japanese Goods!" was the slogan of the boycotters.

Although sponsors of the boycott admitted privately there was little hope of obtaining the government's open indorsement, they expressed confidence that the movement will spread to other countries. The London labor council announced it would ask American labor to coöperate in the campaign against Japan.

Plan Week-End Rallies.

The National Council of Labor, which declared a boycott, said a wide response had been given its proposal to hold demonstrations throughout Britain over the week-end. Demonstrators will express opposition to bombings of Chinese civilians.

Newspapers were deluged with letters protesting Japanese military activities. One correspondent urged a boycott of the 1940 Olympic games in Tokio.

A large pro-Chinese rally was held tonight. Speakers included Lady Dorothea Hosie, writer, lecturer, and widow of Sir Alexander Hosie, prominent in the British consular service in the far east; Sir Norman Angell, 1933 Nobel peace prize winner; Prof. Chang Pen-chung of Tientsin, and Koo Chu-chen, daughter of Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to France.

Urges Boycott by Dockmen.

Ben Tillett, veteran Labor leader, urged dock workers throughout the world to follow the example of New Zealand dock workers, against whose boycott the Japanese chamber of commerce at Wellington protested.

The executive committee of the league of nations union summoned its general council to an emergency session Oct. 10 after passing a resolution urging the government to press for a league boycott of Japanese goods.

The British Red Cross sent medical supplies to China and announced that an appeal for funds to aid the Chinese would be launched.

Parliament's Action Sought.

The British Labor party planned to demand an emergency session of parliament as the first step toward a world boycott of Japanese goods. Party leaders said the matter would be threshed out at an executive meeting at Bournemouth tomorrow.

It was disclosed that British colonial authorities at Hongkong had opened an official inquiry into the reported sinking of Chinese fishing junks and a loss of 300 lives during an attack by a Japanese submarine.

BATTLE HAND TO HAND

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1.—[Friday.]—(AP)—A battle for Chapei, Chinese section north of Shanghai's international settlement, today entered the fourth day with no apparent change in the Chinese-Japanese lines. Japanese bombarded the section and the North railway station to the northeast of it with artillery and planes throughout the night.

Fierce fighting was in progress near the boundary of the international settlement, where Chinese and Japanese fought hand-to-hand and with machine guns for a block of foreign houses on Range road and the Pantheon theater.

Far to the south Chinese reported Japanese warships had destroyed a fleet of Chinese junks at Swatow. A school, several houses, and a Confucian hall were reported destroyed by Japanese bombing planes at Tsingyuen, north of Canton. Civilian casualties were estimated at 200.

200,000 Reds Join War.

Chinese communist troops and armies of western provincial war lords were ordered into action yesterday in a united Chinese battle against the Japanese.

Two hundred thousand more Chinese communists were mustered into service to join their former enemies, Chinese nationalist troops, on the northern fronts. An American observer reported that thousands of warriors of all Chinese clans are leaving interior and coast cities for the North China and Shanghai battlefields.

Couple Dodge Marriage Law; No Annulment!

Two Chicagoans who married in Crown Point last Aug. 5, yesterday were denied an annulment by Judge John J. Lupe in Superior court when he ruled that a deliberate evasion of Illinois' new hygienic marriage law does not constitute grounds for the severance of wedding bonds contracted elsewhere.

The case, first of its kind in Cook county courts, was filed by Mrs. Maria Hughes Steinke, 35 years old, 1439 South Cicero avenue, Cicero. She testified that she and Edward Steinke, 40 years old, had driven to the Indiana Gretna Green to avoid complying with the Illinois laws.

Judge Is Indignant.

This admission brought an expression of indignation from Judge Lupe, who said: "You and others like you are here in a court of equity with unclean hands. You flout our laws and then come here for annulments when you find you have made mistakes.

"The law with which you refused to comply is a good law, designed to protect the children of future generations. I refuse to grant the annulment on the grounds you present. You can file a suit for divorce if there are grounds to support such a bill, but I am not going to open the courts to this practice and establish a precedent of this kind."

Mrs. Steinke's attorney, William C. Burns, asked leave to cite authorities to prove that the court had the power to grant the annulment.

Refuses to Hear Plea.

"No. I won't waste the time," the judge replied. "To grant this bill would open the door to the most outrageous abuses. The opinion of Attorney General Kerner was absolutely right and I'll follow it."

The opinion to which Judge Lupe referred was one handed down by Attorney General Otto Kerner last Tuesday. He held that the new marriage license statute which provides that both prospective members of a union must prove their freedom from venereal infection and must post a three day notice of their intention to marry, is binding only on individuals who obtain licenses in this state.

All Are Legally Married.

Those who go to other states and marry there are legally married, nevertheless, the attorney general declared.

County Clerk Michael J. Flynn reported yesterday that 2,548 marriage licenses had been issued during September as compared to 4,227 issued during the same month last year.

U.S. THROUGH FIGHTING FOR EUROPE, LEGION HEAD TELLS BRITISH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PLYMOUTH, England, Sept. 30.—America's determination to stay out of European entanglements was stressed today by Daniel J. Doherty of Boston, newly elected commander of the American Legion, on his arrival aboard the liner Washington en route to France. The Washington, flagship of the Legion's battlefields pilgrimage, docked later at Le Havre with nearly 700 world war veterans and former nurses.

"I do not think Americans ever will fight in Europe again," Doherty told reporters here. "The view of the majority in America is against interference in European affairs."

Declaring that "only the necessity for defending our own country would make us fight," Doherty asserted that all wars are "futile." "Millions of lives were thrown away in the last conflict," he said. "Nothing can ever be gained by war, but the misery war causes still is before us. One of our principal problems in America today is to look after men who were disabled in the war. Many veterans only now are beginning to suffer."

CHICAGO BIDS WARM GOOD-BY TO SEPTEMBER

September said a warm farewell to Chicago yesterday, the maximum temperature being 82 degrees at 3 p. m. The record for the day was 86 degrees in 1877. Showers and cooler are forecast for today, and more rain is probable tomorrow, with continued cool.

New daily records were set two weeks ago when the mercury soared into the 90's, but September broke no monthly records. Although many persons have been applying the term Indian summer to the recent warm days, Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said real Indian summer comes later in the fall or in early winter after freezing weather.

Sergeant's False Teeth Hold Up Whole Army Maneuver

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 30.—(AP)—An army motor car raced out of the dust and stopped, blocking a motorized column in maneuvers testing the new infantry division.

"What's the meaning of this?" asked Lieut. Col. Henry Terrill Jr., chief umpire, as he confronted the driver.

"Please sir," stammered the driver, "I've been sent back to look for Sergt. Jones' false teeth."

Help Wanted; Offer Reliefers Jobs on Farms

Relief Shelters

Arguments for and against the use of shelters to house single men on relief are told in today's survey article dealing with Chicago's pressing relief problem. Page 12.

Farmers who say they can't find men to work in their fields will have a chance to hire some of the 48,440 of the employable persons receiving relief in downstate counties under a program announced yesterday by Leo M. Lyons, secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

Lyons issued orders to relief commission field representatives to arrange conferences in every county between representatives of farm bureaus, granges, public employment services, WPA officials, and Farm Security administration workers.

How Program Will Work.

The farm bureaus will be urged to canvass members to find out where farm labor is needed. Through the IERC conferences this information is to be supplied to the local public employment office and at the same time the relief commission representative will coöperate by supplying lists of employable men on relief.

"According to official records the Illinois demand for farm labor is at the highest figure since 1929," Lyons said. "Illinois farm wages in April averaged higher than for the five preceding years. Now we want to see if the farmers will actually put the men to work."

Seek Jobs as Harvest Hands.

The commission wants to make every possible effort to furnish employment to relief clients during the current harvest season, Lyons added.

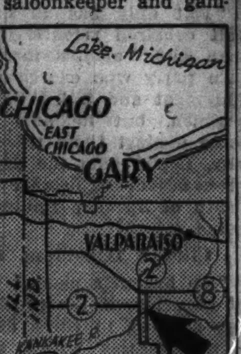
There are 71,194 cases on relief in 64 downstate counties this month, of which 22,754 are listed as unemployable. The average relief check for each family downstate this month will be $21.24, according to Lyons.

Snake Has to Bite Teacher to Prove It Is Harmless

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Harold Brown, physical education instructor, today explained to pupils of his grade school class that the snake they had found was harmless. He picked up the reptile and the snake bit him. He was taken to a hospital where it was found Brown was correct. The snake was harmless.

Slaying Victim, Bound to Rail, Found in River

The gangland murder of George Morris, Gary saloonkeeper and gambler, was disclosed yesterday with the finding of his body, trussed with wire and rope to a heavy piece of railway rail, in the Kankakee river sixteen miles south of Valparaiso, Ind.



Where body of gangland victim was found.

Investigators said that the murder plainly was a crime of vengeance. They expressed belief that vice operators of the Gary district, disturbed by a recent federal investigation of their trafic, might have ordered the murder because they thought Morris was an informer. He had been missing since Sept. 8.

The discovery of the body caused a momentary flurry in Chicago among state's attorney's police working on the mysterious kidnaping of Charles S. Ross. Fear has been expressed that Ross might have met death after he was abducted Saturday night in Wolf road near Franklin Park.

Body Identified by Tattoo.

Capt. William Boger of the Gary police identified Morris' body from a tattoo mark on his right forearm. The mark consisted of two flags, one an American, the other apparently a Greek flag. Police said Morris was a Greek. He was 45 years old.

A woman who gave her name as Mrs. Florence Morris and said she was the slain man's widow, identified an octagon shaped wrist watch found on the body.

Mrs. Morris operates the People's hotel at 1432 Jefferson street in Gary. She said Morris was a part owner in the hotel. He owned a tavern at 752 Van Buren street in the steel town.

Victim's Auto Missing.

The woman said she started a search for Morris after he failed to keep an appointment with her the night of Sept. 8. His automobile has not been found. In its pocket was Mrs. Morris' driver's license, which she received by mail on Wednesday in an envelope postmarked Chicago.

Morris' body was found lying in shallow water near a bridge which serves a little used, unpaved county highway. The road runs north and south, about a mile east and parallel with Route 2, the nearest paved highway. The body was discovered by Harry Werich, a river man.

Sherif Freeman Lane of Porter county said the piece of railway rail was fastened to Morris' body by a rope around his neck.

HOMER MARTIN PICKETED BY HIS OWN UNION AIDS

He Pulls Pistol to Break Siege.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Homer Martin, the former minister who became president of the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers, drew a revolver today on persistent members of his own organization who "picketed" him in his hotel. They wanted to talk to him. After a seven hour siege he consented to meet them.

Irked when the union used his own tactics, the official poked a gun out the door of his suite when four men and a woman pounded and kicked against the panels. Another union official had told them Martin was not in the hotel.

"I mean business," rasped Martin as he stood in his shirtsleeves, pointing the revolver at the breast of Robert Gallagher of Detroit, leader of the delegation. "What's all this noise?"

He's in Conference.

"We just want to know when you are going to see us," he was told.

"I'll see you at the first opportunity," Martin answered tersely. "I am in conference now."

With that he closed the door upon his union workers and they dejectedly retired.

The game of hide and seek went on, however, with U. A. W. workers claiming their president was giving them "the run around." One of the besiegers said "we want to talk to Martin about a lot of things, but we don't think it is a good idea to make them public."

Protest His Union Purge.

The workers said they wanted to protest recent dismissals by Martin of union organizers active in last winter's strikes.

About forty union members from Flint, Pontiac, and Detroit, set up a watch at entrances of the hotel this morning, asserting they would see Martin before he left.

The pickets succeeded in cornering their president in the lobby several hours before the gun display, but he evaded them with a "see you later," and escaped to his quarters.

Some time after the revolver episode, the committee returned to Martin's suite. A union man said he had indicated he would see them at that time. They got inside his rooms but Martin was not there. The committee talked to Richard T. Frankensteen, assistant president.

All Kept Off Floor.

Fred W. Pieper, member of the union's international executive board, aided in clearing the corridor outside the suite, and hotel elevator operators were instructed to discharge no one at Martin's floor.

"This looks like a secret organization. Why don't you wear a hood?" union members shouted at Pieper when he appeared later in the lobby. "We pay you $45 a week and we give that guy Martin $5,000 a year and then you give us the run-around."

After seven hours of the siege Martin met the demonstrators in the hotel lobby and accompanied them to U. A. W. offices for a meeting. He told them he was "quite willing" then to discuss with them their protests.

Three hours later their noisy conference ended without announcements. Martin hurried from the building, jumped into a taxicab and sped away. There were rumors he had been summoned to a conference in Washington with his boss, John L. Lewis.

Angered by Dismissals.

Rank and file members of the union were incensed over the sweeping changes in the international union's general staf which Martin announced yesterday. These included dismissal of ten organizers and assignment of regional and district directors.

Undeterred by his members' displeasure, Martin announced a further administrative change today. Walter N. Wells, union vice president, will leave Monday for the west coast to take over the position of director of all aviation industry locals.

Some members believe Martin's action is actually a "purge" of his enemies. In recent weeks he has been constantly encountering more opposition within his own organization.

The mounting anti-Martin movement reached its peak at the Milwaukee convention of the U. A. W. a month ago when a near riot was started by demonstrators opposing him.

More than 400 of the 1,100 delegates attending the convention marched up to the platform shouting condemnations and threats against Martin, who had ordered adjournment as a political maneuver.

Although Martin was reëlected at the convention, he was defeated in his campaign to obtain the removal of Wyndham Mortimer and Ed Hall, vice presidents and radical leaders of the left wing of the union.

BUILDING TRADES UNIONS IN BITTER FACTIONAL FIGHT

Denver, Colo., Sept. 30.—(AP)—A new civil war which might affect most of the country's home builders threatened tonight to break out in the American Federation of Labor.

Behind the scenes at the annual convention of the federation's building trades department, leaders of the 19 construction unions were engaged in a bitter factional feud. Selection of new department officers and the present method of settling interunion jurisdictional disputes were at issue.

Leaders of one faction talked of leaving the department if the other had its way.

The current feud started when William D. Hutcheson, president of the carpenters' union, let it be known he would oppose reëlection of J. W. Williams, retiring department president, and would demand some changes in the arbitration system. Williams announced this morning he was not a candidate for reëlection.

25 FAMILIES GET ORDERS TO MOVE INTO U. S. COLONY

Greenbelt, Md., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Twenty-five families who had been investigated, interviewed by social workers and selected from thousands of applicants, received word today to move into Greenbelt, the government's $14,000,000 community. They were the first of 885 tenants destined to live here.

Only one family, however, slept at Greenbelt tonight. Others moved some of their belongings, stirred about their prospective new homes, tested the chrome finished sinks, porcelain electric stoves and refrigerators, and peeked at the park views from their bedroom windows. More will move in tomorrow.

CHARGES SLUSH FUND RAISED TO OPPOSE DEWEY

New York, Sept. 30.—[Special.]—The whispered charge that the underworld is raising a huge slush fund in an effort to prevent the election of Thomas E. Dewey as district attorney of New York county was brought into the open today by Joseph D. McGoldrick, fusion candidate for controler.

Dewey, when told of McGoldrick's statement, admitted he had heard the reports and said he had even heard that a definite percentage of the intake from major rackets was being impounded for the fund.

HOFFMAN BRANDS U. S. LABOR BOARD C.I.O. MOUTHPIECE

Assails New Deal-Lewis Alignment.

The national labor relations board was termed a mouthpiece for John L. Lewis and his Committee for Industrial Organization last night by Congressman Clare E. Hoffman [Rep. Mich.] In an address before the American Vigilant Intelligence Association at 32 West Randolph street, Hoffman declared that in their aims at reëlection Democratic members of congress who fought the court packing projects and other administration measures are being punished by an alignment of the New Deal and the C. I. O. Since his election in 1934 from Allegan, in the fruit belt, Hoffman has been an outspoken critic of the Roosevelt administration.

"Not only has President Roosevelt declared relentless war," Hoffman said, "against members of his own party who exercised their own judgment and failed to continue as yes-men, but he also has turned loose against them the force of his ally, Lewis, who the day after congress adjourned decreed the political death of Speaker Bankhead of Alabama.

Cites 3 Dangerous Agencies.

"To hasten a change in our form of government the president is giving support to three dangerous instrumentalities which are destroying business and taking away the liberty of the worker. These are the senate civil liberties committee, the NLRB, and the C. I. O.

"The NLRB sends out its undercover men to spy upon the employer and his activities, upon the independent worker, and upon the American Federation of Labor men.

"When, by its encouragement, trouble comes between workers or employers, or between American Federation of labor men and C. I. O. organizers, the NLRB sends out its men, heralded as coming from Washington with all the power of the federal government behind them, to drive the employer to his knees and to force the independent worker and the American Federation of Labor member into the C. I. O. organization, where he will be compelled to contribute to the slush fund of the Lewis organization.

Scores Collection of Funds.

"In turn the C. I. O. will contribute, as has Lewis' organization in the past, hundreds of thousands of dollars toward the reëlection of those men who give the NLRB members their official jobs, a vicious system of collecting from the worker a campaign fund to be used for political purposes.

"Responsible American Federation of Labor officials have charged repeatedly that the NLRB is dominated by the C. I. O. and its tool, and back of the labor board stands the President.

"When Ford advised his workers that they did not need to pay to obtain a job in the Ford Motor company the NLRB charged him with a violation of the Wagner act for giving this information. Analyze that action and see to what it leads.

Tells of Grand Rapids Strike.

"Coupled with the closed shop which the C. I. O. is trying to force upon industry, it means all men who desire to labor must pay tribute to Lewis.

"There is now pending at Grand Rapids, Mich., a strike where 26 C.I.O. members walked out of the Globe Knitting works while the independent union had about 900 members. But the NLRB representative at Grand Rapids refuses to call an election so collective bargaining can be undertaken with the real representatives of the workers."

Mr. Hoffman said the effort of the La Follette senate committee in its report on the Memorial day riot at East Chicago was to brand as criminals the policemen who were doing their duty.

"The committee," he said, "exhibited pictures which tended to show these policemen were the aggressors, when it knew and had in its possession information to the contrary."

RAIL PAY RAISE OFFER REPORTED AS COMPROMISE

New Proposition May End 6 Week Deadlock.

After a joint meeting of railroad management and labor representatives here yesterday with Dr. William M. Leiserson, federal mediator, it was reported that the management group had submitted a compromise offer which may end the deadlock in wage negotiations that has existed for the last six weeks.

The nature of the compromise offer was not learned, but it was reported that the railroads are ready to grant an increase in wages to operating trainmen represented in present negotiations which would be comparable to the increase given nonoperating men. The latter were given an increase of 5 cents an hour last month.

Refuses to Confirm Report.

Dr. Leiserson would not confirm the reported offer. He merely said that the wage conferences would be continued.

The five operating brotherhoods, representing 250,000 railroad workers, have been demanding an increase of 20 per cent in wages, which would add $116,000,000 to railroad pay rolls. Heretofore the railroads have maintained that the financial conditions of the carriers will not permit any increase.

Negotiations have been on the verge of a breakdown several times. A week ago it was reported that suspension of the conversations was imminent.

Unions' Demands Resisted.

The federal mediator was sent here six weeks ago to attempt a solution after the railroads had refused the unions' demands for a 20 per cent increase. Should the mediator's efforts fail the question will go to a fact finding commission appointed by the President.

In the face of hopes for a compromise, A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, took a thump at the railroads yesterday. He charged that the roads had replied to demands for wage increases by laying off 100,000 men, or almost one out of every twelve. He also charged that the railroads were delaying carrying out business orders so they could show a decrease in revenue.

Railroad officials replied that the layoffs were seasonal and Whitney retorted that the seasonal layoffs generally total fewer than 40,000 men.

INDUSTRY READY TO PLACE GRADS OF NEW SCHOOL

Representatives of leading Chicago industries told James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, yesterday that they are ready, willing, and able to absorb all the pupils who will be graduated each year from the proposed $2,250,000 south side trade school. The industrial group met with McCahey, Charles W. Fry, vice president of the school board, and Superintendent of Schools William H. Johnson at a luncheon conference in the Morrison hotel.

C. L. Rice, president of the Association of Commerce, told the school representatives that industry is lacking in skilled workers because many apprenticeship courses were stopped during the depression.

Dr. Johnson said he has organized a vocational survey department to inform him of the needs of Chicago's industrial groups so he can develop studies in trades where vacancies exist. Condemnation proceedings are now underway for land at 87th street and Chappel avenue, the site of the south side school.

Mulqueen, 70 years old, of Michigan City, who started railroading when he was a boy and wound up with 56 years on the job, most of that time as an engineer with the Michigan Central railroad.

The other veterans retiring were H. G. McCollin, 72 years old, 3303 West 60th street; Harry Hogan, 67, of 4210 Lake street, and William F. Tursman, 68, of Valparaiso, Ind. McCollin finished 40 years' service as a switchman for the Santa Fe railway, Hogan 52 years' service as a terminal engineer for the North Western, and Tursman 47 years' service as a conductor for the Pennsylvania. All went on pension.

PLOT TO WRECK $50,000 INJURY VERDICT CHARGED

Accuse Detectives Hired by Railroad.

Seeking to set aside a $50,000 personal injury judgment against the Indianapolis and Louisville [Monon] railroad, attorneys for the road yesterday filed a motion for a new trial and an affidavit in which a key witness repudiated the testimony she gave during the court hearing before Judge Paul McWilliams in Circuit court last July.

The railroad affidavit was immediately answered in a counter affidavit filed by Attorney Harold Jackson, counsel for Rosemary Kieffer, 9 years old, of Michigan City, who won the judgment.

Jackson, in behalf of his client, alleged that immediately after the verdict was returned two railroad detectives rented rooms in the home of the witness, Mrs. Frieda Hanief, 34 years old, a widow, who lives on a farm near Michigan City with her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Dean.

Marriage Proposal Charged.

By proposing marriage to the women, and spending large sums of money for their entertainment, Jackson charges, the detectives persuaded Mrs. Hanief to swear that she testified falsely in the trial.

Attorney Jackson also charges that the two detectives disappeared after carrying out the plot to discredit the testimony of Mrs. Hanief.

The damage suit grew out of an accident which occurred on a grade crossing of the railroad near Mrs. Hanief's home on April 16, 1935. Rosemary and her sister were crossing the tracks when an automobile and trailer approached.

Jury Awards Full Amount.

Rosemary and other witnesses said the timbers installed by the railroad at that point were loose, causing the car to swerve off the road and strike her, inflicting injuries which resulted in the loss of one eye. The railroad was sued in her behalf for $50,000 and the jury awarded her the full amount.

At the trial Mrs. Hanief testified that she saw the car swerve when it struck the loose planks and watched it strike the child. Her new statement, as embodied in the railroad affidavits, was that she did not see the accident but heard the child scream when she was struck.

Jackson's counter charges stated that the two men who had obtained rooms in Mrs. Hanief's farmhouse soon after the trial were agents of the Arthur Matson Detective agency, 547 West Lake street, which had been retained by the railroad company.

ASKS DIVORCE; FINDS SHE NEEDS AN ANNULMENT

When Mrs. Theresa Thibeau Chample appeared yesterday before Judge Philip J. Finnegan to ask a divorce from her second husband, she learned that she had not been freed from her first husband at the time she remarried and that the second marriage was invalid.

The divorce, awarded her July 9 against Henry Thibeau, had not become legal when she remarried, because her attorney failed to have Judge Finnegan sign the decree.

So yesterday, when she asked a divorce from Frank Chample, 6119 South Washtenaw avenue, chief electrician for the Continental Can company, she was told that her first divorce had become effective only the previous day, when Judge Finnegan finally validated it. Her attorney, Victor Frohlich, said he would change her suit to one for an annulment against Chample. Mrs. Chample, who is 35 years old, lives at 7223 South California avenue.

apparently had produced no results up to last night.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, said no demand for ransom had been received by Mrs. Ross in her apartment at 2912 Commonwealth avenue. He added that kidnapers usually wait from five to eight days before making contact with their victims' families.

Mrs. Ross was visited for several hours last night by Miss Florence Freihage, former secretary of the kidnaped man, who was with Ross when he was kidnaped. Miss Freihage would make no comment when she left.

Unless the kidnaping is solved within the next few days, police said, 100,000 circulars with a description of the missing man will be sent to police stations in all parts of the country.

WILKERSON ACTS TO DISPOSE OF TRANSIT MUDDLE

Sets Joint Hearings for Oct. 20; Franchise Up.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, obviously impatient at the long delay in settlement of the Chicago transit problem, indicated yesterday he would insist on early clarification of all phases of the situation. Judge Wilkerson, who has had the Chicago Surface Lines and the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated lines] under his jurisdiction during many years of receivership proceedings will hold a joint hearing of the two interests Oct. 20.

His hearing yesterday was on a report of the Abbott committee for reorganization of the surface lines companies. The report, filed Wednesday, asserted that the committee was unable to reconcile differences blocking possible consolidation of the surface and elevated systems. The surface lines seek a separate franchise from the city providing for acquisition of the Chicago Motor Coach company with the way left open for future consolidation with the elevated.

Full Report Demanded.

Judge Wilkerson said he wants full reports on all phases of consolidation and franchise negotiations so he can determine whether the surface lines' dealings with the city have been reasonable. If the committee, which is headed by W. Rufus Abbott, has been arbitrary and unreasonable, Judge Wilkerson declared, he will get another instrumentality for dealing with the city.

Referring to the plan of the committee to seek a franchise for the surface lines alone, Judge Wilkerson said that as far as his records disclose there has been no change in the city's policy of working for a comprehensive unified system.

Blames Misunderstanding.

"The time has come to bring this litigation under control," he said. "The trouble with this whole matter arises from what appears to be a complete misunderstanding of the situation. We have spent a great deal of money on the assumption of a continued public policy of coördination and unification of the entire traction system.

"There seems to be a misapprehension of the facts—that the city has reversed its public policy for a unification of the entire system. As far as the record discloses, somebody is mistaken. The attitude of the city appears to be the same as always—unification of all the lines."

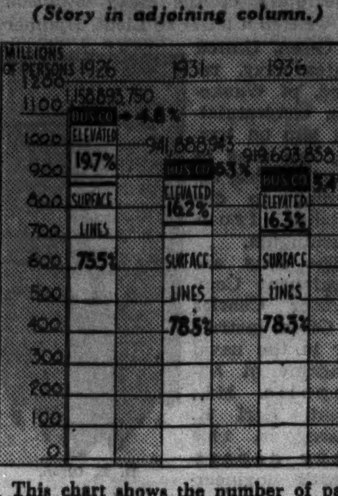
May Continue Negotiations.

Judge Wilkerson told sponsors of the Abbott plan they could continue negotiations with the city for a separate franchise, but he would not formally instruct them to do so. Neither would he instruct them to ask the Illinois commerce commission to approve issuance of securities for a new surface lines company before the Oct. 20 hearing.

He indicated that if he is convinced that a sincere effort has been made by the surface lines to obtain a franchise he may finally approve the Abbott plan for reorganization without a new ordinance. He said he would have to be convinced, however, that the reorganized company would have the right to operate on the city streets without a new franchise.

Passenger Division

(Story in adjoining column.)



This chart shows the number of passengers carried for revenue on the bus, elevated and surface line systems in Chicago for the years 1926, 1931 and 1936. These figures are important because of the muddle that has grown up around the problem of unification, upon which a showdown is expected soon.

HOLD 24 TRUNKS OF WEALTHY FOR CUSTOMS CHECK

New York, Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Costly foreign finery got three wealthy passengers of the S. S. Normandie in difficulty with the customs inspectors today. The returning voyagers were accused of failing to declare properly expensive imported gowns.

Twenty trunks belonging to Mrs. Samuel Welldon, wife of the vice president of the First National bank of New York, were ordered held for a detailed check of their contents. Mrs. Welldon said the garments which she is accused of omitting from her declaration were purchased on previous trips abroad. The agents, however, insisted on holding her baggage until they checked customs records.

Four trunks brought back by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Buhl of Detroit were impounded because customs inspectors said the couple did not declare properly a gown of silver fox skins.

SEIZED FOR DOING DENTIST'S WORK WITHOUT LICENSE

William J. Prindiville, 856 West 63d street, was arrested yesterday on a warant charging him with practicing dentistry without a license. The warant was obtained in the County court by investigators for the state department of registration and education. They asserted that Prindiville gave dental treatment to a patient in his office. He was taken to the county jail to be held for arraignment in the County court today.

Mr. Bays received his law degree from Northwestern in 1904 and now is head of the department of business law there, having been a law professor since 1912.

SHOOTS SELF TO DEATH.

Ernest Trantz, 64 years old, 1921 Fremont street, ended his life yesterday by shooting himself while in the bedroom of his home.

WEARY WANDERER SEES THE CLOUDS ROLL AWAY AT 82

Regains Health and Cash; Family Claims Him.

Forty-two years ago Thomas Ross walked angrily out of his home in Joliet after a bitter quarrel with his wife over his drinking. He never returned, never again saw his wife, Delia; baby daughter, Clara Belle, or his newborn son, Emmett.

With the passing of the years they gave him up for dead. The children grew up, left Joliet, and were married. His wife, too, was married again. She died 12 years ago.

Then, yesterday in the Cook County hospital Thomas Ross, now 82 years old, saw his daughter. Embracing him, she quickly forgave his desertion. She promised that never again will he want for a home; that her home will be his. She is 44 years old, the wife of a well to do soap company representative, Edward Halter. Their home is in Columbus, O.

Story of His Wanderings.

Between the angry good-by and the joyous greeting lies a story of the father's life in the southwest, his years of labor in the Texas oil fields, and his return to Chicago as a casual. There follows the story of his life in the Madison street lodging houses and of his final efforts to provide for his old age by the sale of newspapers on west side streets.

Ross was a picturesque figure who attracted many customers for his papers. In five years he was able not only to maintain himself but to put $2,500 into postal savings. He told all this last night in the hospital as he looked forward happily to spending his declining years with his daughter.

Earns a Lot and Spends It.

He made a lot of money in years past, but he spent a lot of it, too, he admitted. He traveled about quite a bit, working here and there, saving up a little money at times, then spending it. He made one trip home to his native Ireland.

"Money means nothing to me," he said. "It's always been the least of my worries."

Last February Ross became ill. His lodging housekeeper was kind to him and, believing death was near, Ross turned over his $2,500 postal savings to him.

Seeks to Recover Money.

Shortly afterward, however, his condition improved, and he realized he had made himself penniless. He decided there was only one thing to do—try somehow to get help from his son and daughter. He wrote to his son Emmett in care of his brother-in-law, Michael Mulock of Joliet, and the letter finally reached Emmett in Braddock, Pa., where he is a steel worker.

Emmett immediately notified his sister, Mrs. Halter, and got in touch with Attorney William C. Mooney of Joliet. Attorney Mooney, after a quick investigation, was able to get postal authorities to void the certificates given away by Ross and to issue new ones to him. Then yesterday, to complete the happy ending, Mrs. Halter arrived to take her father home.

TEACHER'S EVOLUTION CASE ENDED BY COURT WITH HER RESIGNATION

Waynesburg, Pa., Sept. 30.—(AP)—A County court judge dismissed Pennsylvania's "evolution school case" today with announcement of a compromise providing for the resignation of Mrs. Laura Elms Morriss as teacher of the one room Baily school.

Mrs. Laura Morriss.

Judge C. W. Waychoff said the teacher withdrew the appeal from her dismissal by the Whiteley township school board in this southwestern Pennsylvania town and that the board withdrew its charges of incompetency and cruelty against Mrs. Morriss.

Under the out of court settlement, the middle-aged country "schoolmarm" resigned formally this afternoon and received $100 from the school board as salary for September, although she was dismissed last May.

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Judge Steven S. Groves of the Adams County court today fined Louis Kespohl, a painter, $100, sentenced him thirty days in jail and suspended his automobile license for six months, for driving a car when drunk. Ten days ago he hit three cars, and left the scene.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & CO

BAR IS WARNED OF NEW ATTACK ON U. S. COURT

Way to Censure Black Is Kept Open.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Defeat of President Roosevelt's Supreme court packing proposal did not end the campaign to destroy the independence of the courts, Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.], one of the senatorial stalwarts in the battle against the court bill, warned members of the American Bar association tonight. He spoke at the association's annual dinner.

Senator Burke.

"My main reason for consenting to appear before you this evening is that I may add an additional word of warning," said Senator Burke. "It is this. The forces that have set about deliberately to despoil the federal judiciary, to lower its prestige in the eyes of the people, to besmirch its membership, and to strip it of its constitutional functions, are not in complete rout.

Not Defeated Yet.

"It is true that they suffered, in their first open assault, a major set back. Quickly they have reformed their broken lines, and have developed what they hope will be a more effective strategy.

"Sharpshooters have been posted at every point of advantage with instructions to show no mercy. It may be that when the next engagement is on, some of the leaders in the former fight will be missing. There is on hand a plentiful supply of poison gas ready for use."

President Roosevelt's attack on lawyers in his Constitution day speech was part of this new strategy, Senator Burke charged. The President, he said, has nothing against lawyers as lawyers, but attacked them because of the effective part they took in rallying the country against the court packing bill.

Lawyer Becomes "Whipping Boy."

"You may be sure of this, also," warned Senator Burke, "if you persist in your 'evil way' you would better fortify yourself against the shafts of ridicule, of contumely, and of every other weapon that may be thought useful in breaking down your resistance. There was a time when the banker was the favorite whipping boy. The welts of the lash upon the back of the banker now may be permitted to heal, while the lawyer takes his place with bared back at the whipping post."

Overriding its resolutions committee, the assembly of the bar association today kept alive a resolution censuring the alleged Ku Klux Klan membership of Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black.

Action on resolutions still pending will bring the convention to a close tomorrow, when Arthur T. Vanderbilt of Newark, N. J., will be elected and installed president of the association for the coming year. Mr. Vanderbilt was named by the nominating committee in January and has no opposition.

Confesses Tying Dog and Letting Tide Drown It

South Portland, Me., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Responsibility for death of a police dog by slow drowning was charged tonight against Ralph Marr, a painter, 19 years old. Police said the youth confessed he tied the animal to a rock on the harbor shore and let it drown in the rising tide.

DEMANDS PROBE OF KLUXERS IN JUSTICE DEPARTMENT OFFICES

New York, Sept. 30.—[Special.]—An investigation of reported Ku Klux Klan connections of attachés of the federal department of justice was demanded today by Alfred J. Talley, former judge of general sessions court and president of the Catholic club, which has protested appointment of Hugo Black as Supreme court justice.

Published reports that former Senator J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama and William E. Fort of the same state, both present or former special assistants to Attorney General Cummings, are klansmen or former Klansmen inspired the demand. Talley also listed Walter S. Brower as a special assistant attorney general once affiliated with the klan. Brower has been in charge of prosecution of mortgage cases for the government in New York City.

"It is beginning to look as though the office of Attorney General Cummings has been used as a stowaway for kluxers," Judge Talley said. "It would seem an investigation of that office is very much in order, because it is important to keep out members of the klan, whose oath pledges them to a denial of justice to Catholics, Jews, Negroes, and alien-born, and pledges them to favor those they patronizingly call 'white, native-born gentiles.'"

REVEAL PROFITEERING IN LIMESTONE DUST MADE IN STATE PRISON

Profiteering in limestone dust manufactured by convicts at the Joliet and Menard penitentiaries was disclosed yesterday by A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare. He also said he learned private individuals are obtaining crushed stone made at the prisons which, under the state law, is to be used only for state highway construction.

Mr. Bowen took steps at Springfield to end these practices. He raised the price of the limestone dust from 70 cents to 90 cents a ton and ordered that it be sold only in carload lots. The dust is used to neutralize the acid in farm lands and usually is purchased by groups of farmers or farm bureaus.

Commercial truckers, however, had been getting l[illegible]ds of the dust at th[illegible] prison gates at the old price of 70 cents a ton and selling it at a profit under the $1.25 a ton price charged by private quarries.

Mr. Bowen also began an investigation to determine which township supervisors have been giving away or selling prison shipments of crushed stone.

66,654 Country Voters Sign Permanent Lists

County Clerk Michael J. Flynn announced last night that 66,654 persons in 527 country precincts under his jurisdiction became qualified voters under the new permanent registration system on the first day of registration last Monday. The second and final day of registration is Oct. 5. The total was slightly greater than on the first day of registration for the comparable off year primary in 19[illegible]. The total registration for last year's presidential election, however, was 235,084. Flynn attributed the light registration Monday to the fact that there is no forthcoming election in November to hold voters' immediate attention.

NATION TO HEAR BLACK DEFENSE ON KLAN TONIGHT

Gets Half an Hour on All Air Networks.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—At long last the voice of Justice Hugo L. Black of the Supreme court, carrying his answer to the charges that he retains fealty to the principles of the Ku Klux Klan, will be heard throughout the nation at 8:30 p. m. [Chicago time] tomorrow night.

Every other program on the three national radio networks, National, Mutual, and Columbia, will be stilled when Justice Black takes to the air. A half hour has been allotted to him.

[Hugo L. Black's explanation is to be broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual network from 8:30 to 9 p. m. tonight [Friday]. Other outlets are WMAQ, WBBM, and WGFL.]

The much abused word "unprecedented" may legitimately be applied to this broadcast. A radio address by a Supreme court jurist is in itself exceedingly rare. Certainly never before has a member of that august branch of the government been forced to give an explanation of his past career to the people before taking his place among his colleagues.

Seven Weeks of Silence.

Mr. Black will thus break the silence into which he retired when the first discussions of his klan affiliations were heard on the floor of the senate after his nomination had been sent over by President Roosevelt on Aug. 12.

In the seven weeks ensuing he has never opened his mouth, not even to his closest intimates, so far as is known, concerning the evidence that he became a member of the klan in 1926 when he was first running for the senate and in 1928 was given a life membership which he has not repudiated.

He permitted his friends in the senate to deny for him that he now is a member of the klan and his nomination was confirmed with that understanding. Numerous senators have said that they would not have voted to confirm if they had heard the evidence since revealed in the newspapers.

Uncovered While Abroad.

The new justice and his wife sailed for Europe Aug. 25. Documentary evidence concerning his klan connections was unearthed while he was in London. He fled from reporters there, booking secret passage on a Baltimore mail boat. On his arrival at Norfolk yesterday, he avoided questions by attacking the press, insinuating that such a plain statement as "I am not now a member of the klan" would be distorted in the newspapers.

He indicated then that he would deliver the radio address, saying that his statement would be made "in a way that cannot be misquoted and so the nation can hear it."

The mystery concerning the nature of his remarks was maintained today. He left the house in Alexandria, Va., at which he has been staying, avoided the surrounding cordon of reporters, and motored to some retreat where he worked at a draft of his address.

May Be No Advances.

Broadcasting officials said that advance copies of the speech might not be available as is customarily the case when an important statement is to be delivered. Mr. Black has been given complete freedom to say what he will and the usual preliminary inspection of his message will be waived.

Speculation concerning the nature of Mr. Black's talk was purely on a guesswork basis. It was assumed that he will admit having once joined the klan, as the evidence is indisputable to that effect. It is hoped that he will clear up the big puzzle—whether he ever resigned. Critics of his appointment will await eagerly a statement of his present opinion of the objectives of the klan, which devotes itself to the persecution of Negroes, Catholics, and Jews.

May Be Roosevelt Idea.

Whether Mr. Black consulted with the President before making up his mind to give his side of the case over the air could not be learned. It is believed possible that Mr. Roosevelt himself advised the radio solution, having had good fortune himself in appealing directly to the people in "fireside chats."

Mrs. Jane Dodget Csiha and her two children, Dorothy, 9, and Kenneth, 6.

With her two children, Dorothy, 9 years old, and Kenneth, 6, holding her hands, Mrs. Jane Csiha appeared before Superior Judge John J. Lupe yesterday asking for an increase in the support money from her former husband, Joseph. Mrs. Csiha, who is 24 years old, said her former husband had been paying her $4 a week since they were divorced in 1936.

"O, yes, these are my daughter and son," she replied to a question of the judge, who remarked on her youthful appearance. "I was married when I was 13 years old."

"I want Csiha informed his former wife and children are in need and I expect him to respond like a man," said Judge Lupe. "I'll continue the case until Oct. 7.

FAMOUS OYSTER BEDS BUSTLE WITH ACTIVITY AFTER OLD CEREMONY

BRIGHTLINGSEA, Essex, England, Sept. 30.—The Colchester oyster fisheries of this Colne river area, famous for centuries, today ended the first week of the new season with production proceeding at an active pace. The great beds in the Colne river were opened Sept. 23 with the traditional gin and gingerbread ceremony, which was led by the mayor of Colchester, Maj. Gerald C. Benham. The mayor always has the privilege of eating the first oyster from the beds, which are owned by the Colchester town corporation, but are operated by a fishery company under a ninety-nine year lease. The main beds are in the vicinity of Brightlingsea, which is a port and fishing station on a creek opening from the east shore of the Colne estuary and is eight miles southeast of Colchester.

Proposed Evanston Park May Go for a Gas Station

A small triangle of land at the intersection of McCormick boulevard, Green Bay road [West Railroad avenue], and Grant street, in Evanston, may be sold as a gasoline station site by the Chicago Sanitary district which owns the land. The plot, near the district's north shore channel, is part of the area suggested for an Evanston park last spring by the Chicago Regional Planning association. John J. Touhy, chairman of the district's real estate committee, said yesterday he didn't know why the property was being offered for sale, but in the board's realty department it was said negotiations were on for a filling station.

membership a cloak for acts and conduct inimical to personal rights and public welfare, and [b] in the absence of such a tendency on the part of the other class.

"In pointing out this difference, one of the courts said of the Ku Klux Klan, the principal association in the included class: 'It is a matter of common knowledge that this organization functions largely at night, its members disguised by hoods and gowns and doing things calculated to strike terror into the minds of the people.'

"We assume that the legislature had before it such information as was readily available, including the published report of a hearing before a committee of the house of representatives of the 57th congress relating to the formation, purposes and activities of the Ku Klux Klan.

[A footnote in Justice Van Devanter's opinion here referred also to "The Challenge of the Klan," by Stanley Frost, and "The Ku Klux Klan," by John M. Mecklin.]

Cites Purposes of Order.

"If so it was advised—putting aside controverted evidence—that the order was a revival of the Ku Klux Klan of an earlier time, with additional features borrowed from the Know Nothing and the A. P. A. orders of other periods; that its membership was limited to native born, gentile, Protestant whites; that in part of its constitution and printed creed it proclaimed the widest freedom for all and full adherence to the constitution of the United States, in another exacted of its members an oath to shield 'white supremacy,' and in still another declared any person actively opposing its principles to be 'a dangerous ingredient in the body politic of our country and an enemy to the weal of our national commonwealth'; that it was conducting a crusade against Catholics, Jews, and Negroes, and stimulating hurtful religious and race prejudices; that it was striving for political power and assuming a sort of guardianship over the administration of local, state and national affairs; and that at times it was taking into its own hands the punishment of what some of its members conceived to be crimes."

Court Foe of Klan

Justice Willis Van Devanter, whose retirement created vacancy on United States Supreme court which has been filled by Hugo L. Black. Van Devanter wrote the court's opinion of 1928 which denounced the klan for "conducting a crusade against Catholics, Jews, and Negroes."

MAUBORGNE TO BE MADE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—(AP)—A man who played a major rôle in adapting the radio to aircraft a quarter of a century ago becomes the army's chief signal officer tomorrow.

With two other officers, Col. J. O. Mauborgne established the first radio communication in history from a plane to the ground, in an experiment at Fort Riley, Kas. The three also were the first to adjust artillery fire from the air.

As director of army communications for the next four years, Col. Mauborgne will have the rank of major general. For the last year he has been director of the aircraft radio laboratory at Wright field, Dayton, O., flying almost daily testing new radio equipment.

ROOSEVELT SEES VICTORIA; PLANS ST. PAUL SPEECH

His Next Talk on Air Will Follow Black.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lake Crescent, Wash., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt paused for the night beside the crystal depths of this mountain lake after carrying his "good neighbor" policy into northwestern Canada.

In a brief visit to Victoria, B. C., the President was received with the honors due a visiting head of a nation. He remained in the dominion only for luncheon, making no speeches.

Travels on Destroyer.

To make the journey into Canada, Mr. Roosevelt left the Seattle home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Boettiger, in the early morning and was piped over the side of the U. S. S. Phelps.

The sixty mile journey was made in two hours; the Phelps and her convoy, the U. S. S. Porter, cut through a sluggish sea at 32 knots. As they neared the Canadian shore the destroyers were met by the H. M. S. Frazer and H. M. S. Skeena, two of four destroyers that make up the Canadian navy.

As the Phelps docked, Lieut. Gov. Eric W. Hamber and a delegation of British Columbian officials went aboard.

Guest of Governor's Aid.

The President was driven to the lieutenant governor's house for luncheon. With him were Mrs. Roosevelt, the Boettigers, his son, James, and the latter's wife.

He told the luncheon guests of a toast he made "to the king" at Port of Spain, Trinidad, last December. He said it was the day, and almost the hour, of the abdication of King Edward and he never was sure whether he had toasted King Edward or the new king, George VI.

The stay on foreign soil was of only two and a half hours' duration. He left in the early afternoon for Port Angeles and then on to the lake beside Mount Olympus of the Olympic peninsula. He came to look over the forest which he has been asked to save by expansion of the Olympic National forest to stop lumbering.

Tomorrow he will drive over 200 miles about the peninsula. The drive ends at Tacoma, where he will reboard his special train for the trip eastward.

Mrs. Roosevelt Flies East.

At Port Angeles, Wash., on the return from Victoria, Mrs. Roosevelt left the Phelps for the convoying destroyer U. S. S. Porter to go to Seattle, where she boarded a plane at 9:07 p. m. for New York.

The President changed his plans to fit in a speech at St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 4, the day before he is scheduled to make a major address in Chicago at the dedication of the outer drive link bridge. The change was made after it was learned here that Justice Hugo L. Black will go on the air tomorrow night, presumably to defend his association with the Ku Klux Klan.

White House aids said the two speeches have no connection.

Work Will Be Started Soon on New Chapel at Loyola

Construction is to be started in three weeks on the Madonna Della Strada [Our Lady of the Wayside] chapel at Loyola university. To cost $350,000 and to be completed in the autumn of 1938, it will be on the south side of the new campus, facing Lake Michigan.

A model has been made of the chapel by Edgar Miller from drawings by A. N. Rebori, architect. The tower, faced with seven grooved shafts, has at its top a cross which is to be illuminated at night.

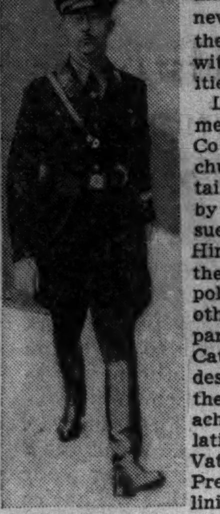
HITLER FORBIDS CHURCH TO TRAIN ITS OWN PASTORS

Police Curtail Liberties of Protestants.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—Both the Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] and Roman Catholic churches in Germany today faced new difficulties in their disputes with Nazi authorities.



Heinrich Himmler.

Liberties of members of the Confessional church were curtailed drastically by a decree issued by Heinrich Himmler, chief of the GSP [secret police], and all other police departments. The Catholics were despondent over the failure to achieve better relations with the Vatican during Premier Mussolini's visit to Germany.

Police intervention in the affairs of the Confessional church, which is opposed to Nazi domination of religious affairs, is based on an allegation that certain of the church's activities "endanger the dignity and welfare of the state." The decree said this applies especially to the "attitude of the Confessional church in educating and examining its theological students and young preachers."

Dissolves Educational Offices.

Consequently Himmler ordered the dissolution of Confessional educational and examining offices. At the same time he pointed to facilities provided by Adolf Hitler's government for educating students for the ministry.

The decree affects two schools for students and four for young preachers maintained by the Confessional church since the Nazis sought to control church affairs.

Earlier in the month it was disclosed that 105 pastors had been imprisoned, 34 removed from churches, and 27 forbidden to preach. The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, submarine commander in the world war and imprisoned leader of the Confessional movement, still awaits trial. He was arrested July 1. He was accused of "stirring up hatred in his speeches and sermons against leading persons in the Nazi state and movement."

Blow to Catholic Leaders.

The dispute between Berlin and the Vatican, particularly regarding the ban on Catholic parochial schools, played only a small part in the discussions between Hitler and Mussolini, it was disclosed.

The impression was left that in the future the Vatican can rely little on assistance from the Italian government, and that Mussolini will take no part in any negotiations with Germany. This is a blow to Catholic leaders who, before Il Duce's trip to Berlin, were confident the visit would tend to lessen the dispute.

However, it is expected that when Cesare Orsenigo, papal nuncio to Berlin, returns to Berlin from Rome, where he has had several conversations with Pope Pius XI, and Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, papal secretary of state, he will resume discussions with the foreign office.

INSULIN TREATMENT RESTORES SANITY TO 14 ELGIN PATIENTS

Fourteen more dementia praecox patients have been allowed to return to their homes from the state hospital for the insane at Elgin since July as a result of receiving the new shock treatment with insulin metrazol injections. Dr. Charles F. Read, hospital director, said yesterday that 40 patients have been sent home since the treatments were begun last March.

In the insulin therapy, enough units are injected to cause convulsions. After three hours the patient is released from the shock. Usually it is found that beneficial brain changes have occurred. The metrazol treatment is similar.

Order Auditor's Arrest in Child Support Case

A writ of attachment yesterday was issued for Alfred C. Geller, 34 years old, 1812 Chicago avenue, Evanston, an auditor, for failure to pay $1,200 which he owes his former wife, Mrs. Mildred Geller, 5340 Wrightwood avenue, for child support. Mrs. Geller divorced him in March, 1934, and at that time he was ordered to pay her $7 a week for support of their daughter, Elaine, now 9 years old.

MRS. DODGE SUED BY ACTRESS FOR LOVE OF FIGHTER

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Accusing Mrs. Delphine Dodge Godde, automobile heiress, of offering Jack Doyle, boxer and actor, several hundred thousand dollars to ensure him a life of luxury, Judith Allen, film actress and Doyle's recently divorced wife, filed suit for 2 million dollars late today. The full name of the defendant was given as Delphine Dodge Cromwell Baker Godde.

Miss Allen's interlocutory decree of divorce from Doyle does not become final until April 28, 1938, a fact she pointed out in her plea. Since the granting of the interlocutory decree, Miss Allen contends that her husband has endeavored to effect a reconciliation, but that the defendant alienated his affections and prevented a reconciliation.

The suit climaxed reports earlier in the day that Mrs. Godde had presented Doyle with a $25,000 birthday gift. Doyle termed this report "malicious gossip," but admitted he and the heiress are to be married as soon as they are "free to do so."

DIES OF GUNSHOT WOUND.

Addie Horton, colored, 4224 Evans avenue, died yesterday in the County hospital of a gunshot wound inflicted Sunday. Walter Williams, also colored, of the same address, told Wabash avenue police the gun accidentally discharged as he cleaned it.

Fete A. E. Germer, Postal Inspector for 43 Years

Completing his last day of work yesterday after 43 years in the post-office department, Inspector Albert E. Germer was feted last night by his friends and associates at a testimonial dinner in the Hotel Sherman. Mr. Germer, who was 70 years old on Wednesday, is retiring on a pension. He is married and lives at 136 South Taylor street, Oak Park.

Starting Today!

A two-fisted Fall Suit Special with double-woven Stonehaven Worsteds
Royal Scot Weaves and Sedan Shetlands at two corking low prices!

THIS is our second bombshell of the season. Two weeks ago, we announced that Bond prices would not be raised this Fall. That started plenty of talk, and won us a host of new friends. Now we go even further—with a double-barrel blast that will get a tremendous hand from hundreds of men who need new clothes. ★ The suits in this twin Special are pippins! "Royal Scot" and "Sedan Shetland" are names that need no introduction to men who know their woolens. For years, they've been rated with the best from the world's finest looms. But it's a safe bet that you've seldom seen them for much less than $32.50! And the way our tailors have handled these rich weaves is distinctly in keeping with their high quality. ★ The Stonehaven Worsteds will appeal particularly to the men who appreciate the niceties of Rochester needlework—and who don't want to pay a fortune for it. ★ Here you have 2 powerful examples of how much you profit by doing business with America's largest clothier. Make the most of them before selections melt away. No time like today or tomorrow!

Above—From Hollywood come these broader shoulders and tapered waistline. And, below, one of the season's best sellers, the new semi-drape Double Breasted. Both are headlined in this October Special.

BUSINESS IN SCHOOL

By CALEB

TWO men were discussing which was the more difficult to teach in college—science or business.

It seems to us there is little argument on this score. That is like asking whether arithmetic or art is the more difficult to teach.

In most of the sciences it is possible for laboratory experiments to conclusively demonstrate fundamentals and principles peculiar to the science.

If a professor wishes a demonstration of atmospheric pressure, he needs only a Bunsen burner and an empty oil tin, or a flask and a medium boiled egg—and his case is won!

Economic pressure is not so easily demonstrated in the laboratory. Exact answers can be called for in connection with most of the sciences. A scientific experiment performed even on a small scale affords the student a sense of reality impossible to procure when it comes to experimenting with principles of business. What exact answers can be called for in connection with matters of business policy, organization, or methods?

In the laboratory, if a student decides on a certain answer which is to be demonstrated by an experiment, he is personally responsible for that answer and it will confirm or renounce his opinion. The student of business may decide an answer to a business problem is thus or so, but he cannot be held responsible for the position he takes. There is no demonstrating the basic essences of business truths on a small scale in a classroom. Besides, who knows what they are?

It is for this reason that most large businesses which are earnestly concerned with personnel, provide prospective executives with considerable training after they are employed.

Business school students can carry but little of fact or information into business which they can directly use and apply. If, during their academic courses, however, they learned intelligent methods of approach to problems and how to apply themselves, they have something they can use from the first day of their employment.

BRITISH LAUNCH BOYCOTT AGAINST JAPANESE GOODS

Labor Denounces Nippon Invasion of China.

nists was largely concentrated in Kiangsi province. The Reds have been ordered to meet the Japanese advance through eastern Hopei to the borders of the coastal province of Shantung.

Japanese declared they had been informed that Marshal Vassily Galents-Bluecher, commander-in-chief of soviet Siberian forces, was advising the Chinese armies. Japanese also said munitions and other military supplies were being shipped into China from soviet Russia across the western province of Sinkiang.

Japs Capture Two Towns.

PEIPING, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Japan's North China army was reported tonight to have captured two strategic Chinese towns, advancing to within ten miles of Shantung province, where Chinese forces were beleved to be prepared for a major stand.

Domei [Japanese] News agency reported the fall of Tungkwang, 100 miles south of Tientsin, on the Tientsin-Pukow railroad, to a Japanese column. The agency said another column, mopping up Chinese detachments between the Tientsin-Pukow and Peiping-Hankow railroads, had taken the town of Hsienhsien. Japanese planes bombed the town several times before infantry closed in.

Japanese authorities said trenches at Juyuehkow pass, in North Shansi province, were jammed with Chinese dead when Japanese detachments moved into the area after a fierce 48 hour battle. The Chinese apparently had been machine gunned and bombed by Japanese planes. Domei reported that another Japanese column had taken Fanchih, inside the ancient Great Wall of China.

JAPAN'S NOTE ON BOMBING FAILS TO SATISFY HULL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Disappointment was expressed today by Secretary of State Cordell Hull at the reply he received from the Japanese government answering his note of Sept. 22 protesting the bombing of Nanking and the killing of thousands of noncombatants.

The Japanese government stated frankly that the bombing of the city was "a necessary and unavoidable measure for the attainment of the military objectives of the Japanese forces."

Secretary Hull also revealed that the state department's first note on Aug. 17, making Japan responsible for the loss of life and property of American citizens in the Sino-Japanese war zone, had been answered "unsatisfactorily."

The state department had hoped that as a result of its Sept. 22 note the Japanese government, confronted by similar notes from Great Britain and France, would promise to refrain from further air operations.

Rockford Girl, 15, Missing; Wire Says She Is Bride

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Grogan asked police to search for their daughter, Ruth, 15 years old, when she failed to return from school. Today they received a telegram from Bellevue, Ia., explaining she was married to Cecil Jones, 23, an employé on an Iowa dam project. The parents asked the state's attorney's office to investigate.

Silent About Divorce

[Acme Photo.]

HEDY KIESLER.

New York, Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Hedy Kiesler, the nude girl of "Ecstasy," the foreign film that has proved one of the most inflammable strips of celluloid in the movie business, arrived here today.

Fraulein Kiesler refused to affirm or deny reports that she had come to America to divorce her husband, Fritz Mandel, Austrian munitions maker.

Mandel, described as inordinately jealous, has for five years spent a fortune to have "Ecstacy" suppressed. Fraulein Kiesler appears nude for only a split second in the film, but this was long enough to excite mass admiration and enrage Mandel.

Fires on Colored Youths Skulking Near Nurse Home

Policeman John Cafferata of the Hudson avenue station fired several shots last night at three colored youths whom he saw skulking in an alley at the rear of the Henrotin hospital nurses' home, 1222 North La Salle street. They escaped.

JAPANESE FIGHT CREEPING DEATH; 6,000 STRICKEN

Doctors Are Baffled by Mystery Epidemic.

TOKIO, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The mysterious "creeping death," an epidemic which already has snuffed out nearly 300 lives in Fukuoka province, seeped through the hygienic barriers around the city of Omuta today into four neighboring communities. Fifty-two new cases were reported.

Authorities, scoffing at the possibility water sources had been deliberately polluted, ceased announcing the death toll. The best bacteriologists of Japan were unable to diagnose the disease or state its cause. The Kyushu Imperial university said it might be one of five types of dysentery, but was not sure. About 6,000 persons have been affected.

Despite strict measures 40 cases were reported at Kumamoto, nine at Yamamagu, two in Fukuoka City, and one in Nagasaki. Among the new cases in Omuta were eight policemen who had been sent there to aid health authorities.

RARE GLANDULAR MALADY IS CAUSE OF CO-ED'S DEATH

Madison, Wis., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—A rare glandular malady today was revealed as the cause of the death 11 days ago of Barbara Martin, 18 years old, University of Wisconsin student. Her body was found in a women's dormitory. Miss Martin, enrolled as a freshman, was from Birmingham, Mich.

Dr. Frank L. Kozelka, state toxicologist, who analyzed the girl's internal organs for a possible drug or poison, said in his report to Coroner Edward Fischer that the cause of death "is a rather rare pathological condition in which the chief lesion is a superactivity of the lymph gland tissue of the heart and underdevelopment of the heart and blood vessels."

In the case of Miss Martin, the report continued, there was a minute hemorrhage from a small blood vessel near the base of her brain.

ONLY ONE NEW CASE OF PARALYSIS; 40,000 1ST GRADERS RETURN

As 40,000 first grade students returned to classes in Chicago yesterday Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, announced that only one new case of infantile paralysis had been reported to his office in the 24 hour period ending at 9 a. m. There were two suspected cases, he said, but the total is the lowest since the beginning of the paralysis emergency. "It appears the recent spell of cool weather has cleared up the situation," Dr. Bundesen said. "At this time it seems a certainty that the board of health will be able to allow the kindergartens to be opened Monday."

His Face Under Water 5 Minutes; Saved in 2 Hours

Moline, Ill., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Artificial respiration saved the life of William Wopsandwich, 44 years old, after he had been in the Mississippi river today. He was floating face down when sighted, and was pulled out at a power dam. Albert A. Adlfinger, power company superintendent, said five minutes passed from the time he was seen until he reached the dam. In a half hour he started to show signs of life and was conscious in two hours.

ILLNESS DELAYS U. OF I. ROMANCE, THEN LOVE WINS

A story of love overcoming illness was reported last night from Omaha, Neb., with the marriage there of Miss Clarice Weiner, 25 years old, Chicago actress and dramatics teacher, and Joe Turner, 29, Omaha business man.

They met at the University of Illinois several years ago, but their plans to marry were disrupted when Miss Weiner became ill. It was feared she would be an invalid for life. Turner corresponded with her from Omaha. Two months ago he learned she was now almost completely well, and so he proposed marriage again. She accepted.

A few days ago Miss Weiner flew to Omaha, a train trip being considered too arduous. She went to a hospital for rest. Then Turner took her to a new home he had purchased, and they were married there by Rabbi Frederick Cohn. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Weiner.

Alcatraz Warden Better; Prison Strike Waning

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Warden James A. Johnston, wounded last week when attacked by a convict at Alcatraz federal prison, returned to his duties today. He reported the "strike" of 100 men, which apparently precipitated the attack, was "crumbling rapidly."

Dr. William R. Cubbins, former member of the faculty at the Northwestern university school of medicine, has joined the staf of Loyola university as director of a new division of bone and joint surgery of the school of medicine, President Samuel Knox Wilson, S. J., announced yesterday. Dr. Cubbins was chief of the surgical staf at Cook County hospital for 12 years and is past president of the Institute of Traumatic Surgery and the Chicago Surgical society.

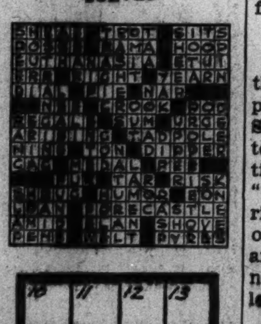
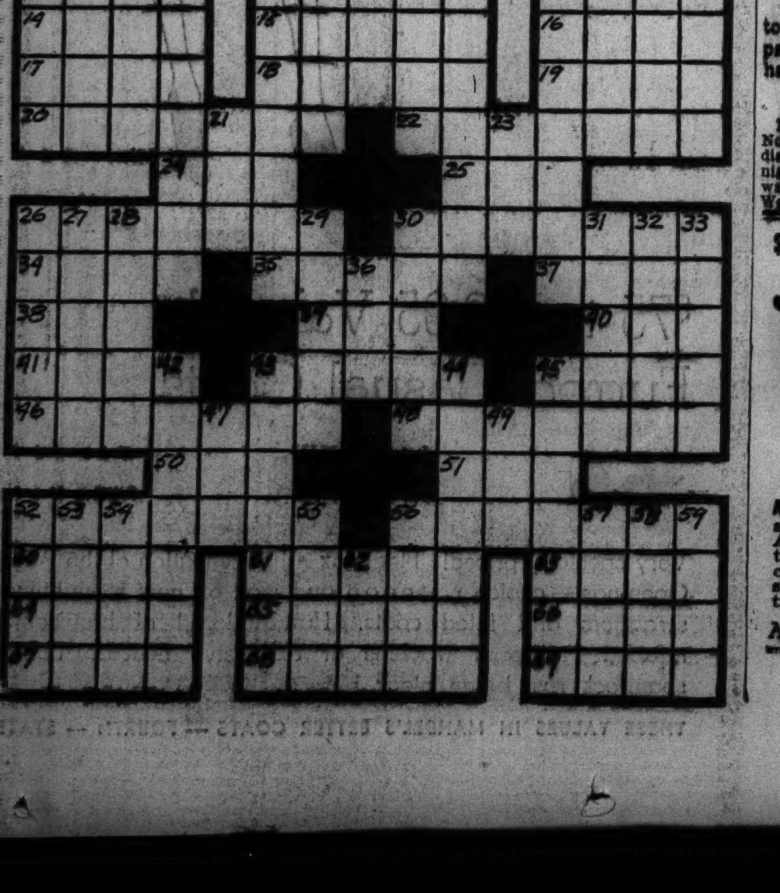
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





LEAGUE MOVES TO HELP SPAIN AGAINST ITALY

France May Open Border for Arms Trafic.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Sept. 30.—France, England, and Russia, in a new triple entente, agreed among themselves that Italian intervention in the Spanish civil war menaces their interests. They wrung from the political questions committee of the league of nations a mandate to negotiate with Premier Mussolini for "immediate and complete withdrawal" of his "volunteers" fighting for Gen. Francisco Franco on the rebel side.

Yvon Delbos.

Under the terms of a resolution drafted by a special subcommittee after a three day wrangle, the league recognizes that there is foreign intervention in Spain—without calling it aggression or even directly naming Italy and Germany—and agrees that if Anglo-French negotiations in Rome do not secure the withdrawal of Italian forces from Spain "in the near future" the league "will consider ending the policy" of nonintervention.

(Dispatches from London last night indicated Mussolini would refuse to attend a three power conference on the withdrawal of volunteers from Spain.)

Resist Attacks of Fascists.

The new triple alliance is implicit in the terms of the resolution, but was brought out more clearly in debate in the political committee tonight on adoption of the resolution.

The three big powers refused to budge before attacks of the Fascist satellites in the league—Portugal, Austria, Hungary, and Bulgaria—and of the Irish Free State. The resolution was adopted with these powers and South Africa abstaining.

The principal objector was Eamon de Valera, president of the Irish Free State, who protested the statement concerning ending of nonintervention on the ground that it constituted a threat. Ireland, for her part, De Valera declared, never can approve any policy but nonintervention in Spain whether other powers observe it or not. Yvon Delbos, French foreign minister, remarked that the resolution did not oblige any power to commit itself to intervention in Spain.

The resolution will now be forwarded to the whole league of nations assembly. It was evident from tonight's discussion that the league is split wide open on the Spanish question and unable, as a body, to take any stand on it.

Would Open French Frontier.

The discussions showed the following important things:

FIRST—That France, England, and Russia have a common policy with regard to Spain. This policy is to insist on the withdrawal of Italian troops from Spain and, if Mussolini refuses, to allow France to reopen her Pyrenees frontier and Russia to send arms by sea to loyalist Spain.

SECOND—That the league considers France and England as acting in the general interest in negotiating for a withdrawal of Italian troops.

THIRD—That while other league states will not engage themselves to follow the same policy, France and Russia and any one else who thinks the same are justified legally in intervening in Spain if Italy and Germany do not cease to intervene on behalf of the Spanish rebels.

FOURTH—That the majority of league members are opposing the stand taken by the Fascists and approve the British, French, and Russian tactics of threatening Mussolini with scrapping the agreement for nonintervention in Spain before opening negotiations with him.

FIFTH—That Mussolini is put in a bad spot by the maneuvers of the triple entente and will probably refuse to negotiate at all.

Retreat for Loyalists.

The resolution itself showed how far the Spaniards had receded from the position stated by Dr. Juan Negrin, Spanish loyalist premier, in a speech to the league assembly. The resolution did not get Italy named as an "aggressor," and though Valencia's right to buy arms is implied, it is put off on the pretext of allowing France and Great Britain to carry on secret negotiations with Italy outside of the league.

When the resolution was submitted to the whole committee, it was apparent, however, that the Spaniards had gained something pretty solid.

200,000 ROMANS WELCOME IL DUCE HOME IN TRIUMPH

He 'Reports' on Trip to Berlin; Vows Peace.

Hitler to Visit Italy

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Plans for another meeting between Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy are in the offing. It was announced officially tonight that Hitler had accepted Mussolini's invitation to visit Italy. No date was given.

Before their meeting, just concluded, in Germany, the two leaders conferred in 1934 in Venice.

ROME, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini told a cheering throng of 200,000 which welcomed him home from Berlin tonight that Italy and Germany are joined to seek a "rebirth of Europe."

In one of the shortest speeches Il Duce ever has made he proclaimed:

"Black Shirts! I bring a profound and indelible memory of my conversations with the Fuehrer of Germany. Italian and German friendship, consecrated in the policy of the Rome-Berlin axis, has become engraved on the heart of two nations in these days, and there it will remain.

Rides Under Laurel Arch.

"The objects of this friendship are strict solidarity between the two revolutions [Fascist and Nazi], the rebirth of Europe, and peace between the peoples worthy of the name."

Italy welcomed Premier Mussolini home from his five day visit to Germany in the style to which he long has been accustomed—that of a Roman conqueror.

His triumphal tour from the Alps southward to Rome, bearing news of friendship with the country which was Italy's wartime enemy, ended with Il Duce riding under a laurel covered arch built to form a huge letter M.

Palace Decked with Flags.

From there he proceeded down the broad Via Nationale between the customary thousands of cheering spectators to Palazzio Venezia, which was decorated with hundreds of flags that waved in the flare of oil lamps.

Then from the balcony where two years ago he summoned Italy to form a united front against the league of nations, he made a brief "report" on his visit to Hitler.

British Warship Races for Holy Land; Tension Grows

LONDON, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The British destroyer Active sailed hurriedly tonight from Malta for Haifa, Palestine. It was believed the movement was connected with tension in northern Palestine growing out of the slaying of Lewis Andrews, British commissioner of Galilee. Andrews and his bodyguard, Constable Peter McEwan, were killed Sunday.

CHARGES SOVIET FLYERS DIED ON STALIN'S ORDER

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Charges that the plane in which Sigismund Levanevsky, famed Russian flyer, and his five companions disappeared on an attempted Moscow to San Francisco flight, was deliberately sabotaged by the Russian government were made here today by Sergei Tolmacheff, former white Russian officer.

Tolmacheff, now living in Hollywood, said that Levanevsky had incurred jealousy of Dictator Josef Stalin, but was too popular to be "liquidated" openly. The sabotage of Levanesky's plane so that it would crack up in the arctic fastness was the "strategy" devised by Stalin to do away with the flyer, the white Russian declared.

"We think Levanevsky and his companions were doomed before they left Moscow," Tolmacheff said. "Probably they knew it, but could do nothing less than take off for their bizarre death sentence. Perhaps they were even given orders to fly far off the charted course until their motors quit and they plunged to death."

They were married in Waukegan on Nov. 13, 1936. He left her seven months later, according to the charges.

CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE

MUSSOLINI JOLTS HOPES FOR TALK ON 'VOLUNTEERS'

Is Unwilling to Withdraw Troops from Spain.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Italy has given Great Britain and France a rude jolt by turning down their invitation to a proposed three power conference on the withdrawal of foreign "volunteers" from Spain even before the invitation was sent, it was understood here tonight.

The British at least were confident Premier Mussolini would be pleased with the invitation in view of hints that Britain and France were ready to recognize his Ethiopian conquest if he played ball.

Tonight the British feared the French will open the Pyrenees frontier and pour arms, ammunition and men into loyalist Spain, despite all that London can do, if the Italian refusal is made formal and definite.

Wants Committee Revived.

Work is going ahead on the text of the Franco-British note to Italy. Apparently the two powers intend to present it to Rome no matter what Mussolini thinks about it.

Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to London called on Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, yesterday and, the Evening Standard said, his message was that Rome would not consider a new conference on volunteers, but wanted the matter laid once more before the practically defunct international committee for nonintervention in the Spanish civil war.

The truth is, the British believe, that the Italians want to get the matter before the committee so they can stall once more with the endless debates which have been the chief feature of the committee's existence.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Eden conferred today on this snag. The cabinet met so secretly the fact of its meeting was not known until tonight.

Taken Out of Eden's Hands.

Chamberlain's policy still is to do anything possible to pacify Mussolini and he has taken the reins from Eden's hands. Eden left tonight for a week's vacation in Yorkshire despite the tension in European affairs.

The British are willing to recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia and perhaps even give belligerent rights to Gen. Franco in return for the withdrawal of Italian volunteers from Spain.

The French, it is understood here, would block an effort to grant belligerent rights to the Spanish rebels, but probably would give in on Ethiopia.

GERMANS OFF TO PARIS TO DISCUSS AIR ARMS LIMIT

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—A French-German-British agreement for the limitation of air armament apparently was drawing nearer reality tonight as a special German delegation started for Paris and London.

It is headed by General of Aviators Erhard Milch, secretary of state in the air ministry, and by Reichsfuehrer Hitler's peace adjutant, Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, who are flying to Paris at the invitation of Pierre Cot, French air minister.

On their flight to Paris the German negotiators were being escorted by the aviation attaché of the French embassy in Berlin, Col. de Geffrier.

Milch and Wiedemann are prepared to fly from Paris to London, where they are expected by British authorities. If negotiations warant it, however, the two may return to Germany this week-end to submit the draft of the proposed agreement to Hitler before flying on to London.

Hitler was scheduled to leave Berlin tonight for a day's rest in Godesberg on the Rhine. From there he will proceed to Duesseldorf to participate in the closing ceremonies of the "creative nation" exhibition and be present at a harvest festival in Bueckeburg on Sunday. It is understood that important cabinet conferences are scheduled to take place in Berlin early next week.

ADMIRAL ORLOV, CHIEF OF SOVIET NAVY, IS OUSTED

MOSCOW, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Admiral Vladimir Orlov, who with Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov represented soviet Russia at the coronation of George VI. of Great Britain, has been removed as commander in chief of the soviet navy, it became known today.

Pravda, official communist organ, reporting a parade of naval officers newly graduates from the soviet naval academy, referred to Admiral Victorov, until now commander of the far eastern fleet, as commander in chief of the navy.

Provincial newspapers reported the execution of twenty-four more alleged enemies of the soviet union who were accused of spoiling grain. Twenty-one persons were said to have been executed in four districts of the Black sea region and three in Crimea.

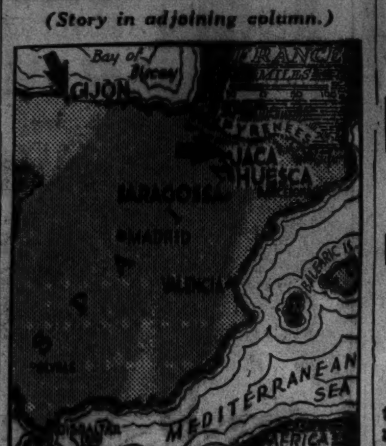
Rebels Bolster Line

(Story in adjoining column.)



Spanish rebels were reported yesterday to be shifting troops from the Gijon front (indicated by arrow) to reinforce their line at Jaca (also indicated by arrow), which has been under attack for four days by loyalists. Control of the area has increased in importance since France has threatened to open its frontier to arms trafic.

REBELS RUSH NEW ARMY TO BOLSTER LINE NEAR FRANCE

Loyalists Push On Toward Jaca and Saragossa.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Spanish government officers said tonight that the rebels were rushing heavy reinforcements to Jaca, near the French border, to meet an unchecked Spanish loyalist drive less than 20 miles away.

Recent threats that the French border may be opened to munitions shipments for loyalist forces gave the railroad center at Jaca strategic importance. Loyalist troops have encircled Sabinanigo, 20 miles to the east, and cut that town off from Jaca.

Farther south on the Aragon front government troops advanced to within eleven miles of Saragossa, city of 190,000 at the confluence of the Ebro and Gallego rivers. Fifty government airplanes launched an offensive in the Zuera sector, a few miles north of Saragossa.

Italian Division Shifted.

The government said that in four days its advance in this area of northeastern Spain had covered about 70 square miles.

"Jaca may soon be severed from Huesca and Saragossa from Huesca," a government communique said. "The rebels already have been forced to withdraw a while Italian division and many air squadrons from the Asturian front."

A dozen rebel war planes today raided government territory in Asturias province, northwestern Spain, setting fire to several towns. The towns of Villaviciosa, Infiesta, Villamayor, and Cangas de Onis, all east of loyalist held Gijon, bore the brunt of the attack.

High on the 5,000 foot peaks of the Europa mountains, south and southeast of Gijon, rebels battered their way to the Nalon river, the valley of which they hope to follow to their seaport objective.

Parliament Meets Today.

VALENCIA, Spain, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The cortes [parliament] will open tomorrow with ex-Premier Francisco Largo Caballero missing as co-leader of the Socialist delegation. He and Rudolfo Llopis, leader of the U. G. T. [General Union of Workers], have been replaced as leaders of the Socialist delegation by Ramon Gonzales Pena and Ramon Lamonada.

Officials said they expected only about 180 of 470 elected delegates would attend, the vacancies representing not only seats held by rightists but by leftists who have been imprisoned or executed by the insurgents.

Equal in interest with the meeting of the cortes was the meeting of the national committee of the U. G. T., also set for tomorrow. Observers anticipate a test of strength in the dispute between Larbo Caballero and his opponents in the labor federation.

FRANCE ORDERS 55,000 REFUGEES BACK TO SPAIN

PARIS, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Max Dormoy, French minister of the interior, announced tonight that the government planned to repatriate immediately 55,000 Spaniards who have sought refuge in France since the outbreak of the Spanish civil war. The expense of feeding and lodging the refugees has averaged recently one million francs [$34,200] a day.

The minister informed authorities at Bayonne, center of the refugee population, that all able bodied men, women, and children must be moved across the Franco-Spanish border. Those excepted were hospital patients and persons with money or friends to maintain them in France.

Dormoy declared those to be repatriated would be permitted to choose between rebel and government Spain. Both sides have agreed to accept the refugees. The prefects of all border departments were ordered to proceed with the repatriation quickly.

USE OF SHELTERS A DISPUTED POINT IN RELIEF PUZZLE

Social Workers Oppose Congregate Housing.

BY WILLIAM O'NEIL.

Social workers strongly oppose any suggestion that single persons now on the rolls of the Chicago Relief administration be taken out of their present rooming house and hotel quarters and returned to shelters. S. N. Geal, superintendent of the mens shelter at 1426 Newberry avenue, is convinced that the majority of the single men, if not the women, could be given better relief in shelters at a great saving.

There are approximately 35,000 single persons on the rolls of the CRA [Chicago Relief administration] who make up over 40 per cent of all of the CRA's 85,000 cases. These cases include approximately 220,000 persons, single or in families. A single person, a family, or a group receiving relief as a unit is known as a case.

Only 30 Per Cent Employable.

On the basis of the last study of the single person case load, made in November, 1936, it is estimated that approximately 18,000 are men and 17,000 women. Only 30 per cent of both men and women were classed as employable in the study. The rest were considered unemployable because of physical or mental deficiencies, old age, or some similar reason.

Women can get along better than the men on the money allowed them each month for home relief, as opposed to shelter relief.

Single men are allowed $11.34 a month for food, $10 a month for furnished room rent, or $6.50 a month for rent in one of the cage hotels such as those on West Madison street. Women get only $8.25 a month for food, but are allowed up to $12 a month for rental of a furnished room.

Most of the Women Cook.

The women, however, are better able than the men to get enough to eat with their food allowance because most of them have the ability and facilities to cook their own food. Most of the men must try to make their food checks cover meals in restaurants.

Although the CRA is not paying rent for any of its cases because of the present shortage of funds, in normal times the single men would receive either $21.34 a month, or $17.84 if they live in a cage hotel, for food and rent, while the women would receive $20.25 in most instances.

A thousand men are now being cared for at the Newberry shelter at $9 a month each.

The social workers, thirty of whom were interviewed during the last month say that cost is not the only major factor to be taken into consideration when debating the question of relief for the single persons.

Arguments Against Shelters.

No one advocated shelter care for the single women. Supt. Geal has been a shelter head for the successive relief administering bodies in Chicago for four years. Before that he was in the United States army and in Y. M. C. A. work. The arguments the social workers advance against the shelter for men are in essence:

1. The single men reliefers say they dont' want to live in shelters.

2. Shelter life is socially wrong because it regiments the men. The workers refer to the fact that the men must eat, get up, and go to bed at regular times and that they are forced, for example, to take regular baths.

3. A man in a shelter has no privacy; no place to which he can retire and be away from the other men. [The present shelter is an old school building, the classrooms of which have been converted into small dormitories.]

4. Shelter life prevents men from hunting jobs because they must either be at the shelter at meal time or go without meals.

5. Since the men are barred from the dormitories during the day, the older men cannot rest during day hours.

6. Putting all the men in shelters forces the young to live with the old and discouraged, the well to live with the diseased, and reduces all the men to a common level.

19,000 Formerly in Shelters.

In the winter of 1934-1935 there were 19,000 men living in eighteen shelters in Chicago and 4,000 more getting their meals at the establishments each day. The types of buildings in use ranged from the old Criminal Courts building on Dearborn street to abandoned warehouses. Geal does not advocate a return to such conditions as these when all single men were arbitrarily sent to shelters.

The social workers and Geal agreed that there are many single men who should not under any circumstances be cared for in shelters. These are the men who have had a good standard of living in the past and for whom the future holds some promise of a return to their former economic level.

Geal contends, however, that 75 per cent of the single men should be supported in shelters of the type now run on Newberry avenue, although the shelters should not all be placed in that neighborhood. In the first place, he claims, 10 per cent of the single men on relief should be put off the relief rolls entirely.

That Many Bums, He Says.

"There are at least that many who are bums who never worked and never will work," he declared. "They always got along before and they could get along today. The better type bums don't apply for relief because they know they can get by and they don't want somebody poking into their history or business."

The social workers admit the present shelter is a better place, from the physical standpoint, to eat and sleep than most of the single men now have. Ten dollars a month doesn't, in Chicago, buy the best in private living accommodations.

The present shelter was laid out to accommodate 800 men, but it is rapidly becoming overcrowded because of evictions due to nonpayment of home relief rents by the CRA. The building is clean, well ventilated, and light. It offers a sharp contrast to lodging houses and cage hotels in the vicinity, where the bulk of the single men are concentrated.

The men get up early, eat breakfast, luncheon, and dinner at regular hours, and must be inside the doors by 10:30 p. m. If a man wants to stay out later than that he must get a pass from Geal.

The kitchen and the cafeteria-style dining room are in the basement, which was found to be much cleaner than some restaurants on Madison street and in other areas of single man concentration. On the day of the visit to the shelter a Federal Theatre project crew was preparing to present a vaudeville show in the auditorium that night. A library and a cardroom occupy one side of the first floor of the building.

Geal answers the regimentation charge of social workers by pointing out that most persons who are not on relief are forced to get up, eat their meals, and go to bed at regular hours. Bathing and delousing rules must be enforced for men who do not otherwise keep themselves clean.

Lunches for Job Hunters.

About 100 lunches a day are put up for men who want to look for work and who won't be near the shelter at mealtime. A restroom is provided on the first floor for men for whom the part-time physician at the shelter prescribes daytime rest.

"The social workers walked in two years ago and decided to clean out all the shelters," Geal said. "The stafs who were running the shelters were not consulted.

"Most of the single men are used to congregate care. When casual laborers are working in construction gangs they live in box car dormitories. When they return to the city they live in cage hotels or crowded rooming houses until a shortage of money forces them to move into the parks.

His Arguments for Shelters.

"A well run shelter program, with men graded and classified before they are placed in shelters for the young, the old, the diseased, and the well, would give us some control over these men for less money than we are paying out today.

"We are placing men in jobs every day. Give us a strong vocational training program in the shelters and the men to work with and I think we can take at least half of them off the relief rolls."

Milwaukee Congressman Freed in Tavern Dispute

Congressman Raymond J. Cannon of Milwaukee was discharged by Judge Eugene L. McGarry in the South State street court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct made by Herman Jasper, owner of a tavern at 406 South Wabash avenue, to whom Representative Cannon was unable to pay a $1.50 bill. Cannon said he came to Chicago to see a former Milwaukee baseball player and had mislaid his wallet. He did not discover the loss until he started to pay the tavern bill, he said.

NOW DR. CARREL SAYS LINDBERGH PLANS NO BRITISH ALLEGIANCE

New York, Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has not the slightest intention of becoming a British subject. So declared Dr. Alexis Carrel, famed scientist with whom the flyer has worked on medical research here and abroad, when he arrived today on the flagship Normandie of the French line.

Dr. Alexis Carrel.

The declaration was emphatic and somewhat heated and was in response to published reports that Col. Lindbergh has decided to sever all his ties with America.

"There was a report, too, that he plans to buy an island off the coast of Brittany and make his home there. That also is untrue, and probably arose from the fact that the colonel has visited me frequently on my little island of St. Gildas," declared Dr. Carrel.

The scientist said, however, that "Col. Lindbergh did not speak about returning to the United States."

State Rests in Second Trial of Two for Gas Tax Fraud

The prosecution rested its case yesterday in the second trial of Max and Albert Johnson, brothers, on charges of conspiracy to defraud the state through incorrect gasoline tax returns. The case is being tried before a jury in the court of Judge Francis B. Allegretti. They are accused of withholding approximately $200,000 in gas taxes between August, 1929, and September, 1930, while officials of the now defunct Consumers' Gas and Oil company, formerly at 3711 South California avenue. A previous conviction was reversed by the Illinois Supreme court on grounds that improper evidence had been admitted by Judge Donald S. McKinlay.

FLAMES DESTROY BALTIMORE'S BIG AMUSEMENT PARK

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Carlin's park, the city's largest public amusement center, was destroyed today by one of the biggest fires in the history of Baltimore. Damage was estimated at $250,000.

Two firemen were burned slightly in the two hour battle against the flames. Hundreds of firemen were called out by ten alarms. They were handicapped by bursting hose, explosions from a gasoline tank, and the several blocks' distance they had to string hose.

A stiff breeze swept flames 100 feet high from one wooden structure to another in the park, which covered several city blocks. Only one building, the dance hall, was saved.

Coast Guard Cutters Will Stand by at Span Ceremony

United States coast guard cutters under command of Capt. A. J. Ahern will participate in the dedication of the new outer drive bridge, which President Roosevelt will christen "Centennial Bridge" next Tuesday, Dave Zimmerman, of the Chicago Charter Jubilee committee, announced yesterday. Owners of private yachts have been asked to decorate their craft and bring them to the ceremony.

365 Naval Reserves Off Today for Eastern Cruise

About 365 United States naval reservists of the 9th district are scheduled to leave the Union station this afternoon on two special Pennsylvania railroad trains bound for League Island Navy yard. The reservists are to cruise on the U. S. S. Arkansas. They are in charge of Lieut. Elmer L. Carlson.

DO AS DOCTORS DO When You Need A Laxative

This is what over 50,000 doctors have used and recommended for gentle, thorough action

WHEN you need a laxative, play SAFE and follow the method thousands of doctors use and recommend. For doctors, of all people, know what is best for constipation. Just listen to what they say about Pluto Water: Dr. F. D. M., of Missouri, writes: "I have used Pluto for about 12 years with wonderful results, and prescribe it regularly." Dr. G. J. H., of Illinois, says: "Pluto is always my favorite physic." Dr. T. C. C., of Texas, writes: "My family and I use Pluto, and I prescribe it regularly to my patients."

Easy To Take This New Way

Simply mix 1/5 of a glass of Pluto Water in 4/5 of a glass of water. You'll find this new mixture pleasant. There's no overnight waiting. No painful griping. You get quick yet gentle, thorough action.

So when you need a laxative, be sure—take Pluto Water. Your own doctor will tell you there is nothing better than this non-habit forming saline mineral water, bottled at famous French Lick Springs, Indiana. Get Pluto Water from your druggist, and you'll feel worlds better quickly.

"I'M A HAPPIER WOMAN AND RICHER, TOO, since I started to use American Family Soap"

—says MRS. JAY FRAZIER

"Every washday used to be a nightmare because I dreaded back-breaking rubbing. I also hated to see how quickly my clothes wore out as a result of the hard scrubbing I had to give them. Now I use American Family Soap and what a difference! My wash comes out snowy white with the least amount of rubbing. And I find that all of my clothes last ever so much longer."

YOU, too, will be amazed and thrilled at the startling difference American Family Soap makes in your wash the first time you try it. For, without using a bleach, and without rubbing the very life out of your clothes, your wash will turn out dazzling white and sweet-smelling. The reason for this astonishing difference is—that American Family Soap has as much as ONE-THIRD more suds-making material than other leading laundry soaps sold in this market. Has greater washing power in its rich, creamy, active "DOUBLE SUDS" than other soaps tested—including soaps with naphtha in them. It's this extra washing power in the extra suds that actually floats out grimiest dirt—without scrubbing, boiling, or ruinous rubbing. Makes white fabrics snowy white. Colored fabrics gay and brilliant. With the use of American Family Soap, and elimination of scrubbing, boiling, and hard rubbing, ALL WASHABLES LAST MUCH LONGER. More women in and around Chicago use American Family than any other brand. Try American Family Soap your next washday and you will quickly learn—THAT IT IS CHEAPER TO BUY GOOD SOAP THAN NEW CLOTHES! Made by Procter & Gamble.

THE PROBLEM OF OUR STREETS. I.

In a recent editorial on the subject of defeatism THE TRIBUNE raised the query, "'I Will'—A Motto or a Memory?" The topic was disagreeable to loyal Chicagoans, but it is useless to blind ourselves to the fact that the city is in the doldrums. While there is no evidence of shrinkage, a great center cannot afford to stand still, and that is just what the city is attempting to do. Beyond this stage there is evidence of disintegration—a tendency to center interests in the several communities that are parts of the metropolitan whole.

Sift Chicago's problems as we will, three topics will insist on coming to the top—the massacre, parking, and traction. Examine these more closely and it will be found that they are parts of a single problem, with traction as the keystone. Because no adequate rapid transit is available, the private automobile has been pressed into service between home and office. Its presence downtown prompts its use for errands. That condition is responsible for careless and long-time parking, and the whole situation is the principal cause of accidents.

What is to be done about it? First, the apathy of the individual must be broken down. Each Chicagoan must regard himself as an integral part of that magnetic force that can bind a city together. There is a present tendency to leave the whole job to a somewhat hazy group called leading citizens. He must express his wants and be prepared to support vocally any plan that will assist him. Next, there are those who are financially interested in industries, properties, and even homesites, not only within the city but also within the suburban area. Do they fully realize that if the city loses its momentum values must fall?

Reconstruction programs are overdue. In the matter of traction we must proceed from where we left off in 1929. Street widening projects have proved that they encourage more automobile trafic through greater speeds, additional parking, and a substantial increase in the accident rate. We must turn about face as other metropolitan areas have done so to improve public transportation that automobile trafic, with its parking and massacre problems, will be reduced. The first thing that is necessary is the wholehearted support of those in control of the surface system and elevated lines with a single objective in view. They are working at cross purposes at the present time, but just how and where will be the subject of further editorials.

THE ARMY MIGHT LEARN FROM THE NAVY.

It is not known to the American public, except to veterans of the European war, that the artillery of the A. E. F. received its training from the French. It is even less widely known, of course, that the French artillery received its most important instruction from the French navy.

The French navy was never tested. If it had been, its gunnery might have proved as good as or perhaps better than the German. This is only an interesting speculation, but it is not mere guesswork to say that naval tactics belong to this century and army tactics have not yet arrived.

The navy understands that the big gun is the decisive weapon. The predominance of big guns assures victory if the guns are protected from the submarine and torpedo boats. Destroyer raids may be checked by destroyers and by the barrage of batteries of the big ships.

The army theory is that the infantry should rush upon the combined infantry and artillery of the enemy. That was tried repeatedly in the late war with almost invariable failure at cruel loss of life. Out of date tactical ideas, which ignored the tremendous increase in the power of the defensive, made no apparent use of artillery, and the infantry battered its bloody head against a defense which only the artillery could break.

The proper function of modern infantry is to defend the big guns from surprise attacks and to locate the targets for the artillery to reduce. We suspect that the tactics of naval landing forces might be better than those of army.

GRAND ISLAND TAKES NO CHANCES.

Quoting from an air line news release, "Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, most famous American ace in the world war, and now general manager of Eastern Air Lines, . . . will tap a telegraph key, and by so doing open a circuit which will fire a cannon 1,271 miles away at Arrasmith Field, Grand Island, Nebraska's new quarter of a million dollar airport . . . Arrasmith Field is one mile square, ideally located on high, level ground, perfectly drained."

In a recent editorial THE TRIBUNE drew public attention to the feverish airport activity at Baltimore, Md., which city is building a superlanding field on the off chance that it will become a good second choice for a trans-Atlantic terminal. Now comes Grand Island, Neb., a city of 18,041 people and a way station on one or two transcontinental flights of the United Air Lines, to make certain that it will not be omitted from the time-tables of the forty-passenger planes. All of this serves to emphasize Chicago's inertia. We are taking no physical action to provide proper accommodation for services that the air lines are trying to thrust upon us.

AND HERE'S OUR OLD FRIEND, TOM HEFLIN.

The pay rolls in Washington, which contain the names of perhaps half a million patriots engaged in leading other people into the more abundant life, are largely hidden in a haze of modesty and mystery. These toilers are not among the work-reliefers trembling on the brink of starvation, nor are they the forgotten third or the submerged tenth, nor yet borderline cases so dear to the uplift.

They are proven partisans of the new era, marked by Farley as true and tried. But no one outside of the sacred precincts knows just who they are so smugly are they sheltered in the burocracy, and inquirers at Washington at times have been informed that the rolls are none of the public's business.

Yet, now and then, the lid of secrecy is raised a trifle and one of these job holders pops into view. Who emerged yesterday but the Hon. Tom Heflin of K. K. K. fame, who a few years ago was warning us all that the pope in Rome was coming over to take charge of the U. S. A.?

Yes, Heflin, it now appears, has been at the public fount all this time—on the pay roll continuously until just the other day when he dropped out to run for Justice Hugo Black's senate seat. His admirers will be relieved to know that he's been drawing down $6,000 a year from the federal treasury all this time—first as a traveling lecturer and propagandist for the federal housing division and latterly as special counsel in Attorney General Cummings' office.

Such news, as disclosed now and then, is comforting. We recall the general glow of satisfaction back in the first Franklin Roosevelt administration when it became known that The Man Bilbo had been well taken care of at a salary of several thousand a year for clipping the newspapers for the perusal of the higher-ups. Then there was the perennial Iowan, Smith Wildman Brookhart, discovered tucked away in a job and likewise drawing a fat stipend from the treasury.

Even the occasional glimpse the public gets, as yesterday in the case of Heflin, conveys a reassurance that vast armies of the faithful are remembered generously with federal pay checks.

MR. WELLS ON EDUCATION AND THE WORLD.

Mr. H. G. Wells' remarks on education before the British association will be discussed, we hope with profit, not only by educators but by the lay public without whose intelligent support no system of public instruction can be substantially bettered. Mr. Wells' faith in human perfectibility through education gives his dissatisfaction with processes a pungency which this discussion often lacks.

"The uninstructed public intelligence of our community," said Mr. Wells, "is feeble and convulsive. It is still a herd intelligence. It tyrannizes here and yields to tyranny there. What is called elementary education throughout the world does not, in fact, educate, because it does not properly inform."

That would seem to fall very far short of explaining the errors of modern man, but Mr. Wells proceeds more plausibly. "We have no time to waste," he urges, "if our schools are not to go on delivering, year by year, fresh hordes of ignorant, unbalanced, uncritical minds, at once suspicious and credulous, weakly gregarious, easily baffled and easily misled into the monstrous responsibilities and dangers of this present world—mere cannon fodder and stuff for massacres and stampedes."

Mere information, Mr. Wells would concede, will not transform that sort of mind, but he is convinced that it is important that the content of popular education be changed. No doubt it might be profitably changed, but we would put a good deal more emphasis on better methods of training the mind to use well whatever material it has, to think critically and self-critically, to protect its reasoning from emotional invasions which unbalance it. No doubt ignorance, lack of information, permits misplaced suspicion and credulity. More knowledge will protect the individual in some measure from these, but more wisdom is what we need.

There has been a vast accumulation of human knowledge, but the state of the world at this moment indicates that we have learned how to accumulate knowledge faster than how to use it and for obvious reasons. The right use of knowledge implies wisdom and wisdom is the fruit of moral qualities as well as intellectual, is, in fact, the product of the whole personality.

CAN'T AFFORD IT.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Another reason why it would be very embarrassing for the United States to become involved in a long and costly war at this time is that the national debt now stands at more than 37 billion dollars.

American participation in the great war jumped the national debt from $2,975,000,000 in 1917 to $25,482,000,000 in 1919, an increase of more than $22,500,000,000 in three years.

Add $22,500,000,000 to the present national debt of more than $37,000,000,000 and you would have a national debt of nearly $60,000,000,000.

When it is remembered that Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, was once quoted as saying that a national debt of 40 billion dollars was as large as the country could carry, without danger to the government's credit, an idea is gained of the extent of the embarrassment which another war at this time might cause the American people.

PREPARE TO FIGHT.

[Illinois State Register.]

Preparedness is the keynote of the hour. It is the keynote of the approach of the winter season, the keynote of moral, commercial, and industrial activities in all the fields of human endeavor. Preparedness is the keynote of education, of religion, of every type of service of which mankind is capable.

Preparedness is the clarion keynote of the hour in world affairs.

Pacifists, honorable in their intentions and beautiful in their philosophy, who seek to discourage America in preparedness for war, encourage war rather than peace.

With the world in turmoil and the flames of war spreading, the greatest safeguard of America today is preparedness.

If we are to preserve our peace, let us prepare to fight.

IF YOU'D LIKE TO KNOW about the Union station: Conductors and engineers on the 280 trains in and out a day are as concerned as the passengers about being late. They have to tell where and why they lost every minute. If they're late too often, they get transferred. Thirty-five thousand passengers come and go in a normal day. There have been as many as 65,000. Gen. Pershing's often in the station between trains. Scarcely any one recognizes him as he paces and paces around the building for exercise. Keeping Anna May Wong's three Pekes from getting separated is sometimes a problem. Afternoon passengers buy western and mystery books, but those who come and go in the evening like best selling fiction. Many suburbanites don't like the electric shoe brush. The shoe shiners say they keep on using it, though, because it impresses out of town visitors.

Pleasing strangers is Walter F. Carlson's job. He's night station master. The train was leaving the other night when relatives telephoned to tell a man en route to Columbus, O., he should cancel his trip. Mr. Carlson had him paged at the Englewood station, but no one on the train responded. The man was well on his way to Columbus when puzzled friends, who came to the station to investigate, remembered something no one had thought to tell Mr. Carlson: The man was deaf and wouldn't know he was being paged.

Few can escape becoming excited in a railroad station. Cripples leave their crutches and never seem to miss them. Passengers who lose their tickets almost invariably drop them between the gate and the train. Mr. Carlson's men find them and everything comes out all right. There are almost 200 hats in the lost and found department, most of them straws. Men lost most of the 47 coats. Mr. Carlson merely scratched his head a moment the night we were there when a lady's nightie was found on the floor. The woman whose grip came open, he recalled, was the one who had got the wrong station. She didn't want the Overland Express, but the Overland Limited, over at the North Western station. He hurried it over there and had it put on her train. That reminded him that passengers who are displeased keep their word about writing the company, but those who are especially touched by extra attention seldom do. There was no identification in the rather expensive bag left in the station one time. On the toothpaste carton, though, Mr. Carlson found the name of a North Dakota druggist. He wrote the druggist to ask all his customers if they had taken a trip, and eventually located the owner.

ATTACK BIRTHMARKS EARLY.

GENERATIONS ago the person whose cheek was adorned with a reddish area resembling a strawberry or with a cute [?] little mole was regarded as possessing supernatural powers. He was more favored than the seventh son of a seventh daughter. At one time in the heyday of Beau Nash, the social arbiter of English society at Bath, every fair lady who attended a rout decorated her chin with a tiny bit of black court-plaster cut in the shape of a diamond, a star, or a crescent. These so-called beauty spots were marks of distinction.

But nowadays a port wine spot or a hairy mole in a prominent location may become the source of much distress. From our present point of view a charming young lady may find herself a wallflower because of a birthmark, and the beginning of many an inferiority complex may be traced to such a cause. Every reason exists for ridding exposed parts of the body at least of all unsightly skin defects.

The port wine mark occurs commonly on the face and neck, the color varying from pale red to a deep maroon or even a purplish shade. Some are very small, while others may extend over the entire side of the face. Rarely will such affairs lead to trouble—they merely annoy.

There are many forms of treatment. A special type of quartz lamp may be used to bring about a mild burn sufficient to blister the skin. This must be expertly applied to avoid leaving a scar. The region is then covered with some antiseptic paste and, when healing takes place, is usually smooth and colorless. Sometimes more than one application will be required.

If the coloration penetrates deeply, carbon dioxide snow may be resorted to. This is solid carbon dioxide gas and destroys the tissues by freezing, as the temperature is very low—110 degrees below zero. But this agent must be used with great caution, as it is much more likely to cause scarring, which may be more distressing perhaps than the original lesion.

Moles, especially the blue-black type, should receive no mercy, inasmuch as they occasionally degenerate and become malignant. Skilled surgical excision is the safest and best plan. At birth some are so minute that they cannot be seen, but as the child grows they may appear. It is important to remove them as soon as they are discovered, particularly if they are raised and dark in shade, as they may enlarge, rendering eradication more difficult. This is quite in contrast with the reddish blood vessel spots, which rarely become cancerous.

Hairs in moles should never be pulled cut. If they are troublesome they may be cut frequently or disposed of by electrolysis. Both carbon dioxide snow and the electric needle have been used successfully. The point is that no blemish of this sort should be irritated by repeated treatments likely to cause the cells to grow. Radium is not recommended as a suitable agent of destruction.

Fortunately, many bright red marks will disappear spontaneously, although now and then one will develop even after middle life. Unless it is a nuisance or becomes too disfiguring, it may well be left alone.

Wise parents will not delay submitting even young children to skilful cosmetic surgery. Early infancy is the best time, as the tissues are much more sensitive and repair with far greater ease. Furthermore, the results are more favorable. But care must be exercised in the choice of the remedy and the services of a trained dermatologist may be required.

Birthmarks do not and cannot arise because of some fright, weird dream, or unsatisfied longing on the mother's part during pregnancy. They are no longer the werewolves of long ago.

MENTAL CONDITION.

J. H. writes: Please advise me if a friend of mine can be cured. He suffers from a strange feeling, not being able to adapt himself to crowds or to seek a job. He has worked for ten years faithfully and has a persistently guilty feeling when he is not doing more than others. He has a rapid heart which may be the cause and I continuously try to impress upon him that he will always feel "punk" thinking about himself.

REPLY.

Your friend's condition is probably mental, not physical. He has developed a feeling of inferiority; of anxiety. A course of mental hygiene is his only chance of cure. A psychiatrist can probably help him; or, he may be able to obtain assistance from reading and studying books on mental hygiene. Such works can be had at your public library.

OZENA.

S. H. M. writes:

1. Is there any cure whatsoever for ozena?
2. Is a sugar solution nasal douche preferable to a salt solution?
3. Can you suggest anything that may prove helpful?

REPLY.

1. The prognosis is unfavorable.
2. Salt is generally considered preferable.
3. The new Wachsberger operation claims to reduce the nasal chamber space, improve the condition of the mucosa, and diminish the foul odor. A chlorine solution [dilute] used as a nasal wash is recommended. Irrigate the passages several times daily.

SEVERED TENDON.

M. G. writes: Is it possible to attain completion motion if a flexor tendon has been cut on the left thumb? If so, how long does it take for complete motion to be restored?

REPLY.

A cut tendon should be sutured—the ends brought together and stitched. This promotes healing and insures full restoration of function. If the injury is partial, the ability to move the finger may return in time.

DISEASED TONSILS.

J. G. writes: Which method of extracting tonsils is the more satisfactory—surgery or burning out with electricity? Is the latter method painful?

REPLY.

Skilled surgery is usually the method of choice. Anesthetics used in either procedure will prevent pain.

MOVING DAY

From Across the Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA.—Austria is having ever greater difficulties in maintaining satisfactory trade relations with Germany, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Rumania, and Jugo-Slavia on the basis of clearing agreements.

That Germany lacks foreign exchange is generally known; payments from Germany are delayed for months, thus freezing in Berlin a considerable balance of payments ["clearing-peak"] in favor of Austria. For her imports from Germany Austria pays promptly. How to persuade Germany to do the same is one of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's biggest problems.

On account of the increased Czechoslovak tourist trafic to Vienna and the Alpine health resorts on international credit arrangements during the summer, Austria's "clearing-peak" in Prague also has risen considerably. Heavier Czechoslovak exports to Austria, mostly coal and textiles, this autumn will, it is hoped, somewhat alleviate this situation.

A provisional agreement with Poland regarding the delivery of coal has been concluded, but the payment modalities of an Austro-Polish clearing have not yet been settled. Austrian exporters are exasperated by the fact that the Polish National bank arbitrarily assigns the order in which sums are paid by Polish debtors to Austrian creditors.

The "clearing-peak" with Hungary in Austria's favor has been lowered somewhat by big purchases of Hungarian wheat; but the Hungarians, soon after this wheat deal was closed, bought large lots of Austrian timber, thus forcing Austria to begin again a bit of head scratching as a creditor.

The maize [corn] and other crops which Austria bought this season in Jugo-Slavia had to be paid in free foreign exchange—that is, in Swiss francs, American dollars or English pounds sterling. Numerous questions regarding the modalities of payment and an increased sale of Austrian industrial products to Jugo-Slavia must still be regulated.

The differences with Rumania on the petroleum question [for her oil Rumania also demands free foreign exchange] have been settled in part by quite an important compensation, namely, iron and steel. The total complex of questions between the two countries also awaits regulation.

Negotiations are still going on with Italy regarding import contingents and credit preferences, Italy meanwhile continuing to be Austria's best foreign customer.

DISTRIBUTION OF ADVERTISING MATTER.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I would like to know if there is a law to prevent circulars and trade papers from being thrown on porches. I have two large porches and have asked some paper delivery boys to put papers in the door so they will not blow all over my lawn which I take great pride in. One paper in which we are not at all interested is thrown on the porch each time and I have telephoned the people several times and they always say they will not have any more delivered, but they keep throwing them in on the porch and the wind blows them out on the lawn. What course can I pursue to get rid of this nuisance? K. D.

Section 4281 of the city code, as amended May 31, 1933, reads as follows: "It shall be unlawful for any person to distribute advertising matter of any kind on any public street of the city otherwise than from hand to hand without tossing or throwing; and it shall be unlawful for any person to distribute, hand out, or scatter on any public street or sidewalk any handbills or dodgers of a size 4½x6 inches or larger, or any other loose sheets of advertising matter which would litter the street or sidewalk if allowed to drop thereon; provided, that such handbills, dodgers, or loose sheets, if enclosed in envelopes or folded or otherwise handed out in such a manner as to avoid the likelihood of falling while being passed out, may be distributed from hand to hand if not tossed or thrown."

ARTILLERY IN THE NEW DIVISION.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—In today's TRIBUNE you state editorially that the organization of the new infantry division now being tested at Fort Sam Houston decreases the amount of artillery in support of the infantry. You then proceed to expound certain principles of military organization which you claim are violated in the new organization. A comparison of the organizations of the old and the new division brings to light certain important facts which you apparently have disregarded.

In the old division two brigades of infantry are supported by one brigade of artillery. This means, essentially, that four regiments of infantry are supported by 48 guns of 75 millimeters and 24 howitzers of 155 millimeters. In the new division three regiments of infantry are supported by thirty-six 75 millimeter howitzers, thirty-six 81 millimeter mortars, and twelve 105 millimeter howitzers. The principle set forth in your editorial is, therefore, being observed. The infantry is reduced, the artillery increased.

It is true that the artillery in the new division is on the whole lighter than that of the old division, in accord with the trend toward highly mobile combat troops necessary in modern warfare. But the addition of the 81 millimeter mortars gives the artillery a weapon of great fire power. The total fire power of the new regiment is probably as great as the fire power of the old brigade, and maybe even greater. The mobility of the new weapons is certainly a step forward. The use of howitzers and mortars instead of guns allows the artillery to give the infantry the close support which is necessary and minimizes the problem of liaison. The mortar platoons will organize positions only a few hundred yards behind the front lines and will advance with the infantry, giving immediate support when and where needed.

The army and its organization should always be constructively criticized when necessary, but such criticism should be withheld until the facts are thoroughly analyzed. If criticism is then warranted, go to it! JAMES L. GOODNOW,
First Lieutenant, F. A.-Res.

HIGH SCHOOL MADE EASY.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—This morning was my first experience with the high school situation in this town since I attended school myself some years ago, and to my surprise I find that children are allowed only three subjects in their first semester. No effort is being made to foster interest in study but everything is being done to discourage it.

Are the children of today so stupid that they can learn only a little bit in seven hours of school? I don't think so.

It's no wonder a person must have a college education nowadays to get a position. He must be through college before he knows as much as an ordinary high school pupil ought to know, if the first year's curriculum is an indication of what follows.

Aren't there any parents in this town who care what their children are taught or not taught? MILDRED PUGH.

THE FORGOTTEN WOMAN.

Blanktown, Ill., Sept. 27.—I have been working for a major telegraph company for the past ten years. I am a widow with a son to support. I have been paid strictly on a commission basis just as though I were in business for myself. I have to pay all the running expense of the office I manage. The company allows me a certain percentage of the receipts. Out of this I pay rent, telephone, light, messenger salary, postage, every cent it costs to run the office. What's left over is mine.

Now the state of Illinois put in the eight hour law for women. Some one informed our company that their commission agents would have to abide by this law. In other words, the state wants to throw hundreds of woman managers of small offices out of work and replace them with men.

I formerly worked ten hours. Now I am told I will have to get an operator to work the extra two hours. This I have to pay out of my own pocket. I was informed I will have to do this or be replaced by a man. I cannot afford to hire an operator as my commission is so small. MRS. X.

ELEVATED HIGHWAYS.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—With the outer link bridge now a reality, it was gratifying to see the amount of space devoted to the elevated highway plan of the Chicago Motor club in the Monday edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Certainly no amount of money expended would show the proportionate benefits in increased trade through accessibility and the saving of human life as an investment of this nature.

The value of the link bridge most certainly merits the ceremonious opening planned for next week; yet its importance when compared to the proposed project is almost infinitesimal. May the day not be far distant when a similar ceremonial can be staged upon the occasion of the turning of the first spadeful of dirt on such a project! KARL EITEL.

ANOTHER CHARLIE ROSS.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Let me be the first to call attention to the following: Over six decades ago occurred the kidnaping of Charlie Ross, the boy. This was a famous case and all through the years we have heard reference to "the lost Charlie Ross." He was never found, though a nation-wide search was made for him.

Now, after a lapse of over sixty years, comes the kidnaping of Charlie Ross, the man. Here's hoping he will share a better fate than his namesake and be found or safely returned. A singular coincidence, at least. H. E. P.

NO COASTING.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Roosevelt refuses to "coast" and save gas, but instead will give 'er the gun on the way going down. Don't call an ambulance; the pieces won't be worth saving. H. E. P.

ALBERTA SEEKS A SOCIAL CREDIT GAG ON PRESS

Bill Would Dictate What Papers May Print.

EDMONTON, Alberta, Sept. 30.—(AP)—A sweeping bill to "insure publication of accurate news and information" in newspapers was introduced in the Alberta legislature today by Solon Low, provincial treasurer.

It would give the chairman of the board constituted by the Alberta social credit act the authority to enforce publication of any statement provided by him on:

1. The objects of any policies of the government of the province.

2. The means being taken or intended to be taken by the government for attaining such objects.

3. The "circumstances, matters, and things which hinder or make difficult the achievement of any such objects."

In addition, every proprietor, editor, publisher, or manager of any newspaper, if called upon by the board chairman in writing, must disclose every source of information contained in any statement in the newspapers, the bill declares.

Penalties Are Provided.

The names, addresses, and occupations of all persons by whom such information is furnished to a newspaper may be demanded, as well as the identity of any writer of any editorial, article, or news item.

Penalties in the bill for contravention of its provisions include empowering of the lieutenant governor in council to prohibit the publication of a newspaper either for a definite time, or until a further order, or to prohibit the publication of any information emanating from any persons or source specified by order.

Persons contravening any provision of the measure would be subject to a $500 fine, and persons contravening any order made against a newspaper for contraventions would be liable to a penalty of $1,000.

Tells Object of Proposal.

The present chairman of the social credit board is Glen L. MacLachlan, social credit member of the legislature.

The object of the proposed legislation, as stated in the preamble of the bill, is that "it is expedient and in the public interest that newspapers published in the province should furnish to the people of the province statements made by the authority of the government of the province as to the true and exact objects of the policy of the government and as to the hindrance to or difficulties in achieving such objects. . . ."

The bill provides that every statement published in compliance with the legislation shall be privileged and not subject to the libel and slander act.

MRS. M'LAUGHLIN SEES GIRL BEFORE START TO SCHOOL

Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin visited the Lake Forest home of her estranged husband, Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, again yesterday and spent several hours with her daughter, Barbara, 12 years old. The girl is expected to leave today or tomorrow to attend school at Eden Hall, Pa.

As on the occasion of her visit Wednesday, Maj. McLaughlin was not there when Mrs. McLaughlin arrived at the residence at 1360 West Old Mill road in Lake Forest. She was accompanied by her secretary, Mrs. Gladys Young.

Mrs. McLaughlin, former dancer, was awarded $750 a month temporary alimony Tuesday in her pending divorce suit in the Superior court against Maj. McLaughlin, sportsman and coffee manufacturer. Judge John Lupe did not rule on the permanent custody of the two McLaughlin children, Barbara, and William, 8 years old, but said Mrs. McLaughlin might visit her daughter at the major's home. The boy is living with his mother at the Ambassador hotel.

She Asks Divorce

[Acme Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chewning.

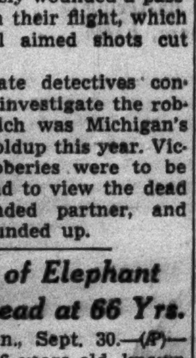
Pontiac, Mich., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Mrs. Margo Couzens Chewning, daughter of the late Senator James Couzens of Michigan, who has started divorce proceedings, caused a sensation in society circles when she eloped in 1930. That was recalled today.

Her wealthy father was said to have been greatly surprised when he learned of her sudden marriage to William Jeffries Chewning, former Washington bank clerk.

The senator soon took a fancy to the young clerk, however, and turned a scheduled debutante party for his daughter into a belated wedding reception. The young couple started out to live on a bank clerk's income, but later moved to a $50,000 home the senator gave them. In September, 1935, they separated. She charges cruelty.

DENTIST, SLAYER OF BANK ROBBER, BECOMES A HERO

Midland, Mich., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Dr. Frank L. Hardy, vigilante and deer hunting dentist, was Midland's man of the hour today. His sharpshooting yesterday killed a bank bandit and wounded his companion, who later was captured.



Dr. Frank L. Hardy.

The dentist fired from his office window across the street from the Chemical State Savings bank in which the gunmen had shot two officials in a futile attempt to rob the bank. They seriously wounded a passing truck driver in their flight, which the dentist's well aimed shots cut short.

Federal and state detectives concentrated here to investigate the robbery attempt, which was Michigan's thirteenth bank holdup this year. Victims of other robberies were to be brought to Midland to view the dead bandit, his wounded partner, and other suspects rounded up.

Retired King of Elephant Trainers Is Dead at 66 Yrs.

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 30.—(AP)—George Denman, 66 years old, known among circus people as "king of American elephant trainers" for a quarter of a century, died of heart failure here today.

Denman, born in Bayonne, N. J., formerly had charge of elephants with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum Bailey circus. He retired in 1932. For the last two years he had conducted a small store.

BRITAIN TIGHTENS LID ON REPORTING OF COURT CASES

Domestic Proceedings Act Fetters Press.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—One more fetter will be riveted on the British press tomorrow when the new "domestic proceedings act" goes into effect.

The act further limits newspaper reports of court proceedings, which already are much more restricted than in the United States. The British press is stringently restricted on all domestic cases.

Despite repeated assurances that the act is not a censorship measure, it is admitted that it has wide scope.

May Print Judges' Comments.

Claud Mullins, London magistrate, said of the act recently: "Any observations made by the court may be freely recorded. It is probable that the restrictions are limited to individual cases before the court and that the act does not restrict reports or comments upon general methods of the court. . . . The act does not expressly permit publication of the names of magistrates and lawyers concerned in domestic cases, but I have difficulty in believing such details are excluded from publication."

The fact remains that the public will not be admitted to the domestic courts under the act, and that the press will not be allowed to report more than the barest outline of the case.

Interviews Are Prohibited.

It is an extension of the divorce reporting law to all domestic cases. Interviews with the principals or witnesses, and even photographs, are barred.

The only domestic cases excepted are charges of assault between a husband and wife.

What all the official explanations do not explain away, however, is the fact that the reports of any domestic case are confined practically to what the judge sees fit to say in summing up.

GIRL, 23, OUTSMARTS KIDNAPER BY HURLING HIM FROM HER AUTO

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Miss Betty Fox, 23 years old, member of a prominent family here and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Allen Fox, outwitted a kidnaper last night when she dumped him off the running board of her automobile while driving 45 miles an hour.

The man stepped on the running board as she was leaving a stop light, threatened her with a revolver and ordered her to drive through a remote part of the city. Complying, she suddenly jammed on her brakes, with the result that her abductor was thrown sprawling from the car. When she returned with police there was no trace of the gunman.

Allman was appointed by the late Mayor Cermak upon recommendation of a citizens' committee.

ACCEPT BID FOR LINER IN PLACE OF LEVIATHAN

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—(AP)—The maritime commission tonight announced that it had accepted the $15,750,000 bid of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock company for construction of a liner to replace the laidup Leviathan.

Joseph P. Kennedy, commission chairman, also announced it had granted the United States Lines company a construction subsidy representing 33⅓ per cent of the cost of the new ship, which must be completed within 852 days. The ship is to be built for the United States Lines.

The adjusted price basis on which the accepted bid was made allows for adjustment of the final cost of the vessel on account of changes in the cost of labor and materials which may occur during the course of construction.

CANTOR ANTICS FUNNIEST WHEN SEEN IN STUDIO

Much of Comedy Fails to Penetrate Mike.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Though Eddie Cantor's little heckler, Saymore Saymore, told him Wednesday evening on his first broadcast of the season that it was his puss that is holding back television, many listeners must have felt that a peep into the studio would have helped to explain what all the whooping and hilarity was about.

A sketch revolving about Jimmy Wallington and his new baby would have lost its funnier if one could have looked in on the studio antics rather than merely hear Eddie talk about three cornered pants. In short, the Cantor show is just what it has always been—great entertainment for the friends of the sponsor who have studio tickets, but is something less satisfactory to the radio audiences. Its form is just about the same as last year except that, now that Deanna Durbin has become famous because of her picture success, Bobby Breen has been dropped.

The new Kostelanetz series, excellent as it was all summer, has been improved by the addition of distinguished guest singers and the wit of Deems Taylor. John Charles Thomas, as the first visiting performer, demonstrated once again that there are no better singers anywhere than he.

Eddy Duchin pushed off Wednesday on a new series, sponsored by a toiletries maker, with a half hour of polished dance music. W-G-N followers are so accustomed to hearing the best in dance music every evening that one more early evening sponsored dance spot is not much to get excited about.

Warned by his physicians that a nervous breakdown is threatening, Little Jackie Heller is giving up his radio and night club work, going to visit his mother in Pittsburgh, and then taking a month's rest in Bermuda. . . . Marion Jordan, Molly of Fibber McGee and Molly, did her turn at the microphone Monday from a wheel chair. She has not been well all summer and her physician has ordered personal appearances canceled for some time to come.

Latest report of the leading listener survey shows the Bergen-Fields-Eddy-Lamour show as easy favorite over all others, Maj. Bowes in second place, and Rudy Vallee third. Then come Burns and Allen and Fibber McGee and Molly.

Smiling Ed McConnell expects to be back on his program at 4:30 o'clock next Sunday. He's pretty well recovered from his injuries and illness. Joe Dumond, who is pinch-hitting for him, is laid up with laryngitis.

It's reported that George Halas is looking around for a new broadcaster for the Chicago Bears football airings. W-G-N this year will not serve as an outlet for these broadcasts because of several sponsored programs coming in over Mutual during the Sunday afternoon hours. These include a new Irene Wicker Singing Lady series, another featuring George Jessel and Constance Talmadge, and one or two yet to be settled.

DELEGATES OF 37 STATES DISCUSS TRAFIC REFORMS

Seek Steps to Alleviate Interstate Conflicts.

BY HAL FOUST.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Representatives of 37 states assembled here today to discuss ways of alleviating the hazards and barriers encountered by interstate motor transportation due to taxation and regulatory conflicts among the states. It is the fifth annual meeting of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators and will continue through Saturday.

These delegates did not enact the various state laws which hamstring passenger car as well as truck and bus operation on the nation's highways. However, as administrative officers they are in a position to make recommendations to legislatures, and as a result of this three day conference these recommendations will have the force of indorsement from an authoritative organization.

Most of this opening session was devoted to the creation of committees with titles that portend their significance. Their reports will be made Saturday.

Universal Drivers' Law Urged.

An enforcement committee, headed by John P. Arnoldy of the Minnesota highway patrol, heard John Q. Rhodes Jr. of Virginia this afternoon urge universal adoption of a standard drivers' license law uniformly applied. The Illinois legislature failed to enact a drivers' law this year due to a Democratic factional fight for patronage. Attending the meeting from Illinois are Lawrence Taylor, assistant chief of the state police, and Lee Friend, chief investigator for the secretary of state.

A reciprocity and taxation committee, with Maj. Murdock A. Campbell of Vermont as chairman, must arbitrate peace terms for neighboring states with periodic truck wars. In these wars, police near the boundaries fire arrest slips at visiting trucks that cross the border. Rivalry in taxing commercial users of the highways is the usual cause of these border fights.

Passenger Cars Also Suffer.

Truck and bus operators, and all the public they serve, are not the only victims. California, Arizona, and several other states require the purchase of their plates for passenger car visitors on commercial errands.

Lew Wallace of Iowa is chairman of a committee on legislation that may be able to bring about some uniformity in vehicle equipment requirements. Today, a truck crossing the Mississippi river bridge from East St. Louis, Ill., to St. Louis, Mo., is required to have one set of lights at one end of the span and a different set on the other end. This is not an uncommon situation on state borders.

There are a half dozen other committees, each assisted in its particular assignment by competent advisors. The conference is being attended by technical experts of the Automobile Manufacturers' association, the American Automobile association, and the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Italian Seaplane Crash Kills Eight at Naval Base

SPEZIA, Italy, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Eight persons were killed and one was injured today when an Italian seaplane crashed at the naval base here after flying over the cruiser Emanuele Filiberto. It landed on a group of naval recruits drilling near the quay, killing seven. The plane's observer was killed and the pilot injured.

Train Kills Indiana Girl on Her Way from School

La Porte, Ind., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Eleanor Thode, 11 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thode of this city, was riding her bicycle home from school today. At the 2d street crossing she waited until a freight train passed. Then she rode in front of another train and was killed.

CHAUFFEUR FOR TIRE SLASHER SENTENCED TO 8 MONTH TERM

Herman Debits.

Herman E. Debits, 5315 Flournoy street, was sentenced to eight months in the Bridewell by Judge Francis Borrelli in the Auto court yesterday on a charge of malicious mischief. Debits admitted he drove an automobile for Fred Callahan, a former policeman, when the latter punctured tires on 125 cars on the west side. Debits said the tour followed a round of drinking at the taverns. He owns a garage at 5511 Harrison street. Callahan was sentenced Monday to serve a year in the House of Correction.

10 GUILTY OF VOTE FRAUDS STILL AT LIBERTY; ASK WHY

The Citizens' Association of Chicago yesterday asked Alexander J. McKay, chairman of the board of election commissioners, for an investigation by the board of the reason why ten persons convicted of vote fraud last spring have never been sent to jail. The association says that, although these defendants lost their appeals to the Illinois Supreme court, they are still at large and their bonds have not been forfeited. "We submit that it is necessary that such sentences be vigorously and promptly enforced if the officials in charge of Chicago's election machinery are to merit public confidence," says the letter addressed to McKay and signed by Shelby M. Singleton, secretary of the association.

COOK COUNTY CAR MASSACRE TOLL 794 IN 9 MONTHS

101 Killed by Autos in September.

The death of 101 persons in automobile accidents in Cook county during September brought the trafic massacre toll for the first nine months of this year to 794, according to Coroner Frank J. Walsh. In the corresponding period last year 721 persons were killed in Cook county, 86 during September.

Mrs. A. A. Lockhart of Summerside, Prince Edward Island, Canada, was killed, and her companion, Mrs. Helen G. Muttart, also of Summerside, was critically injured yesterday when their car collided with a truck at 159th street and Western avenue, Harvey.

Ray Jackson of Springfield, Ill., driver of the truck, was slightly injured. Mrs. Muttart was taken to the Ingalls Memorial hospital in Harvey. She told Homewood county highway police she was driving east on 159th street and failed to see a stop sign at Western avenue. The women had been visiting in Kirksville, Mo.

Three men were severely injured late last night when their automobile rammed an "L" pillar in front of 2626 Lake street. They were Wesley Davis, 25 years old, 1321 North 32d street; Frank Kyger, 20, of 1605 North 35th street, and William Cornell, 18, of 3119 West 19th street, all of Melrose Park. They were taken to the County hospital suffering from leg and ankle fractures.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 794 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 606 were killed in Chicago, where 16,943 were injured in the same period.

FLORIDA CLAMPS ON NEW SLOT MACHINE LID; LEGAL 2 YEARS

Tallahassee, Fla., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Florida clamped the lid on slot machines tonight, two years after they were legalized and taxed.

A new law prohibiting operation became effective at midnight, but the state Supreme court overruled, for a time at least, a section authorizing seizure of machines in storage or in transit.

The net result is that owners cannot operate machines, but they can store them in warehouses and move them out of the state if they act within the "reasonable time" allowed in the court's decree.

BRAZILIAN CHIEF URGED TO CLAMP ON MARTIAL LAW

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 1 [Friday].—(AP)—President Getulio Vargas was faced with a request today to proclaim a "state of war" throughout Brazil to cope with "renascent communism."

Gen. Eurico Gaspar Dutra, minister of war, and Admiral Aristides Guilhen, minister of navy, said in joint statements they had sent the request to the president.

Full constitutional guarantees were restored to Brazil's 47,000,000 persons only last June 17 after a nineteen month "state of war." Constitutional rights were suspended in many areas Nov. 25, 1935, after an abortive communist revolt and extended from time to time until June 17.

Prehistoric Animal Life Subject of Museum Tour

"Prehistoric Animal Life" is the subject of the first of next week's guide lecture tours at the Field museum. The tour will start at 3 p. m. Monday. Tuesday at the same hour the tour subject will be "The Cave Men of Europe." Other subjects will be: Wednesday, "Plant Life"; Thursday, a general tour, and Friday, "Crystals and Gems."

PEDESTRIAN HAS RIGHT OF WAY AT SIGNLESS CORNER

Drivers Must Watch for Them, Says Judge.

Pedestrians always have the right of way on intersections unmarked with trafic signals, and motorists are obligated by law to watch out for them. Judge J. M. Braude made this ruling yesterday in the Safety court when he fined Robert Golden, 117 North Long avenue, $10 for reckless driving. Golden's driving privileges also were suspended for 30 days.

A car driven by Golden injured John P. Love, 2856 Washington boulevard, at Washington boulevard and California avenue on Jan. 6. A model of street intersections, with small model motor cars, was used in court to illustrate the case.

Judge Braude fined four others and suspended their driving privileges, as follows:

MIKE ORRICO, 719 South Claremont avenue, reckless driving, $10 and 60 days.

JOHN GARRITY, 3506 North Paulina street, leaving the scene of an accident, $1 and 6 months.

GEORGE GIESIELSKI, 4331 North Kilbourn avenue, reckless driving, $10 and four months.

NORMAN MASCALONAS, 1825 45th street, reckless driving, $50 and one year.

Judge Gibson E. Gorman, in the Boys' court, deprived Stanley Urzedowski, 2330 South Albany avenue, of his driving rights for two years on charges of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. Judge John Gutknecht in the Trafic court ordered 125 young men and women to visit the fracture ward in the county hospital as a penalty for trafic violations.

SUITCASE THIEF GETS YEAR.

Steve Kukauca, 41 years old, of Barberton, O., was sentenced yesterday in Felony court to serve a year in the Bridewell for stealing suitcases in the La Salle street station. Police said Kukauca has a long record.

KLOCK ESTATE TAX TOO HIGH, HEIR CHARGES

Chicagoan Asks Cut in $245,166 Levy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—The story of the romance that led the late Frank B. Klock, Chicago millionaire, to marry the nurse who ministered to his ailing wife for years before her death was told in the prosaic language of a legal document filed today with the United States board of tax appeals.

Klock's son, Harold F. Klock, 2608 Arthington street, Chicago, petitioned the board to redetermine an alleged estate tax deficiency of $245,166. He contended the internal revenue commissioner erred in assuming that transfers of assets made by his father were in contemplation of death.

Interwoven in the details of the transfers was the story of the elder Klock's marriage to Glena Wooton, the one time nurse.

Wife Aided in Business.

The petition revealed the elder Klock was married to his first wife, Elsie, for 40 years. She died March 1, 1929. It told of their happy life together and how she aided him in business matters. Glena Wooton, the document said, was a faithful nurse throughout Mrs. Klock's illness.

After his wife died Klock went to Pasadena, Cal., where he became ill. According to the petition, he summoned Miss Wooton to attend him. She nursed him back to health and then they began to talk of marriage. Under a prenuptial agreement he settled $67,108 on Miss Wooton and they were married Nov. 26, 1930.

Errors Are Specified.

The petition contended the internal revenue commissioner erred in assuming that transfers totaling $1,198,517 made between Nov. 7, 1930, and May, 1932, were testamentary in character and made in contemplation of death; in failing to find that transfers made in May, 1932, were made by reason of Klock's inability to give proper care and attention to the handling of the securities involved, and in determining a value of $32,500 for a residence in Pasadena which was owned jointly with his second wife.

The elder Klock was president of Murray & Nickell Manfacturing company, drug millers. He died in Pasadena on Aug. 22, 1934.

J. EDGAR HOOVER RAPS LAXITY IN STATE PAROLES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—(AP)—In a sharply worded attack on state parole systems, J. Edgar Hoover today charged "moo cow sentimentalists" with obstructing the administration of justice by perpetration of "tremendous outrages in the name of parole."

The director of the federal bureau of investigation told delegates to the International Association for Identification convention that only within recent years "have we been able to learn what wholesale opening of cell doors has transpired."

"There must be some reason," Hoover said, "that the parole boards of backward states do not profit by the lesson of the federal parole system which has proved conclusively that it is possible to make a success of parole."

YOUTH WOUNDED IN HOLDUP WINS $18,000 VERDICT

A Circuit court jury yesterday returned an $18,000 verdict in favor of Mitchell Metzler, 20 years old, 2174 North Melvina avenue, for injuries incurred Feb. 2, 1935, when he was shot by mistake in a holdup of the La Salle Finance company, 160 North La Salle street. The verdict is against the company and the manager, Louis Layton, who did the shooting, with a malice count against the latter. Judge George Bristow of Paris presided at the trial. Young Metzler, employed by another firm as an errand boy, chanced to be in the offices of the finance corporation and was shot when the place was invaded by two robbers. The youth was too ill to be in court during the three day trial, but his mother, Mrs. Mary Mielcarek, was present every day.

HELD TO JURY IN SLAYING.

Christ Staphos, 54 years old, 1248 North Paulina street, was ordered held to the grand jury on a manslaughter charge yesterday by a coroner's jury at an inquest of the fatal shooting of his former roommate, Frank Wienecki, 54, on Sept. 19.

SUNDAY EVENING CLUB WILL HEAR BISHOP STEWART

Address to Open Group's 31st Season.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Clifford W. Barnes next Sunday night will begin the 31st year of his Christian ministry as founder and president of the Sunday Evening club, Orchestra hall. The club has attracted to its rostrum hundreds of the world's notable English preachers, and now is known as the nation's pulpit.

Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago will be the Sunday night preacher who opens the club's current season.

Speaks on Conferences.

Bishop Stewart, who many Episcopal leaders believe will be made the first archbishop of the Anglican communion in America during triennial sessions of that church's American convention in Cincinanti beginning next Wednesday, will speak on the two interfaith conferences last summer in Oxford, England, and Edinburg, Scotland.

Freed from all denominational shackles, the club, long known as the church of the unchurched, has found that 75 per cent of all persons attending its sessions are men. Its speakers, selected with great care, are given freedom to say what they please, the only injunction being that each address shall be some application of the life and teaching of Christ.

Barnes Shuns Ecclesiasticism.

Ecclesiasticism in the organization of the club has been shunned by Mr. Barnes. The club has neither deacons nor elders, stewards nor vestrymen, but trustees! Preachers deliver addresses, not sermons. Mr. Barnes makes Bible talks from time to time, but he does not preach. No salaries are paid. Offerings are taken at each meeting to defray operating expenses and to pay traveling costs of guest speakers.

Music by a choir of 120 voices, with Stanley Martin at the organ, supports each program.

Officials of Lincolnwood Accused in Accounting Suit

A charge that officials of the village of Lincolnwood and other individuals formed a syndicate to defraud holders of village assessment bonds was made yesterday in a suit for an accounting filed in the Circuit court by the Evens & Howard Sewer Pipe company of St. Louis. The bill also asks that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the funds. The village officials, it is charged, have paid certain favored bondholders, while others have gotten nothing.

INVITE WINNETKA TO DISCUSS SEX STUDY IN SCHOOL

Winnetka parents were invited yesterday to voice their views on the sex hygiene course which has been taught the suburb's elementary school children for seventeen years, and which was revised last year to include fifth grade students. Carleton Washburne, superintendent, in letters to parents, said fifth grade pupils were now receiving sex hygiene instruction because a child's curiosity about sex tends to manifest itself at about that age.

The mysteries of reproduction are simply and briefly explained to boys and girls in separate classes, Mr. Washburne explained, as a part of the courses in biology. The children's questions are answered frankly in informal conversational classes. "We want to meet children's interest in sex when it first appears so they get correct information in a decent way," he said.

Russell B. Babcock, who teaches the boys' biology division, explained that a study of animal life precedes the study of humans. By May of the school year the pupils are ready to begin the study of anatomy, when the processes of growth and birth are described.

The parents' discussion of the course will be held Monday in Greeley school, Tuesday in Horace Mann school, and Wednesday in Hubbard Woods school.

ROCHELLE SLOT MACHINE LICENSE CALLED ILLEGAL

Rochelle, Ill., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—State's Attorney S. Donald Crowell of Ogle county expressed the opinion today that the ordinance licensing slot machines and pin ball games passed by the Rochelle council Monday night is illegal. He questioned the city's right to license any gambling device.

The ordinance, passed by a 3 to 2 vote, goes into effect Oct. 11. It requires operators of slot and pin ball machines in Rochelle to pay a license fee of $1,000 annually, which permits the operation of not more than 20 machines.

The penalty for operating a machine without a license was set at not less than $50 nor more than $100 a day for each machine. Any owner violating any provision of the ordinance, including the order that minors may not play, is subject to a penalty of not less than $10 nor more than $50 a day.

"don't reach twice for soap flakes—reach once for Climalene"

"Ever have that experience? Ever find even two or three sprinklings of soap flakes failed to produce that rich, creamy suds every woman knows is essential to white clothes and sparkling dishes?

There's a reason for that... the old story of hard water and grease that won't come off!

Grease, science says, is the basis of all dirt! Grease is the stubborn foe that water and even repeated use of soap can't budge. My grocer told me about that. He also told me about CLIMALENE, the wonderfully quick, safe, grease-cutting cleanser.

I tried CLIMALENE ... sprinkled a tablespoon or so in my cleaning water!

It did cut the grease. It removed the last trace of 'soap scum' from my dishwashing!

No reaching twice for soap flakes now. I just sprinkle them in once ... after CLIMALENE ... and use only ½ as much!"

INEXPENSIVE MEATS RATING FAVOR TODAY

Here Are Seven Menus Employing Them.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Not many among us are true enough vegetarians to whiff the odor of roasting meat without a salivary reaction. Certainly, it's possible to live without meat by filling in with plenty of eggs and cheese and other protein rich foods, but how many of us really prefer to live without it?

Meat prices might continue to zoom until the butcher asks us for six dollars in exchange for a pound of beef, but chances are he'd still find plenty of people who'd pay that amount for it.

On the other hand, most of us can't afford to pay as much as 40 cents a pound for beef, however fine. That doesn't mean that we need to go entirely vegetarian, only that we must select our meats carefully, and stretch them a long way. These menus may help to do that.

SHRIMP WIGGLES MERELY CREAMED SHRIMP AND PEAS

If any one can explain why the addition of peas to creamed shrimp makes the dish a shrimp wiggle, let him come forward. Or why the addition of spicy seasonings should make creamed shrimp into deviled shrimp.

The foundation of almost any shrimp dish is a cream sauce made in the usual proportion of 2 tablespoons of butter, 2 tablespoons of flour, and ¼ teaspoon of salt to a cup of milk. Canned shrimp probably are easier to use than the fresh shrimp in these dishes.

Shrimp wiggle, as has been noted, is simply a combination of peas and shrimp in cream sauce.

Shrimp newburg calls for sherry flavoring. Instead of using flour for thickening the sauce, egg yolks are used, and about two tablespoons of sherry are added.

Deviled shrimp requires three seasonings, dry mustard, Worcestershire sauce, and tobasco sauce, which are added to the cream sauce. These seasonings must be blended carefully.

Curried shrimp contains a sparing amount of curry powder in addition to the usual cream sauce.

COTTAGE CHEESE VERSATILE BASE FOR SALAD DISH

Salads are a good source of variety in meal planning. One of the best foundations for these varied salads is cottage cheese. A cottage cheese salad often will serve as a main dish because of its splendid nutritive qualities. It makes a substantial but light lunch when served with hot rolls and butter, a fruit or a vegetable, and a glass of milk.

Cottage cheese and peach salad provides an excellent way in which to vary meals. Fresh peaches may be used when they are in season, and the canned fruit may be served during the winter months. The protein and mineral content of this salad is especially high.

Cottage Cheese and Peach Salad.

[Serves eight.]

1 No. 2½ tin large peach halves or eight fresh peaches
1 teaspoon gelatin
2 tablespoons cream
3 tablespoons peach juice
1 pint cottage cheese
¼ teaspoon salt
Cinnamon

Drain peaches if canned peaches are used and chill in covered bowl. Soak gelatin in cream; heat peach juice to boiling point and dissolve gelatin in it. Mix into cottage cheese, with the salt. Chill twenty minutes or until slightly congealed. Place peach halves or lettuce arranged on individual salad plates; fill centers with a generous amount of cheese mixture. Sprinkle lightly with cinnamon and garnish with Maraschino cherries. Serve with mayonnaise dressing.

Another delicious combination for cottage cheese is ground raw carrots. Grind or grate the carrots and serve them sprinkled over the cottage cheese or heaped in a mound beside it. This salad is appetizing and lends color to the ordinary meal when served on a bed of crisp green water-cress or leaf lettuce.

Cottage cheese has many advantages as a salad base. It is available in all seasons; it is nutritious, economical, and it has a delicious flavor.

THESE TWO DESSERTS ARE OLD FAVORITES ON MIDWESTERN TABLES

These two desserts appear on many a table in this part of the country during the course of a year. They might well be called sectional favorites.

UPSIDE DOWN CAKE.

1¼ cups cake flour
1¼ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 beaten egg
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
Fruit [pineapple, peaches, or apricots.]

Sift dry ingredients together. Cream shortening and sugar well and add egg, then alternate dry ingredients with milk, beating until smooth after each addition. Add vanilla. Melt butter in iron skillet or cake pan, add brown sugar and stir until melted. Arrange drained fruit in the butter and sugar and pour in cake batter. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven about 45 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

BUTTERSCOTCH PIE.

1 cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
1½ cups scalded milk
2 eggs
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
Baked pastry shell

Mix sugar, cornstarch, and salt and add enough cold water to make a paste. Combine with scalded milk. Stir constantly over burner until thickened, then cook 15 minutes over boiling water, stirring occasionally. Stir into well beaten egg yolks and reheat. Add vanilla and butter and cool. Fill baked pastry crust and top with meringue made with the stiffly beaten egg whites and 4 tablespoons sugar. Brown meringue in 350 degree F. oven for about 12 minutes.

SHOPPERS WAIT IN VAIN FOR PRICE DROP IN GREENS

Groceries Fail to Follow Wholesale Cuts.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Green grocers have not reduced their retail prices for today and tomorrow as much as had been expected, although wholesale fruit and vegetable prices continue their downward swing started last week. The grocers have shaved their prices on relatively few products, and have marked up a few more items.

Green peas are up, and in many cases they are poor in quality. Green onions are a penny a bunch higher in many places. Fresh tomatoes are higher in price and lower in quality. Local supplies have dwindled so rapidly lately that more and more ripe tomatoes are being brought in from western trucking areas. Spinach, already high, has climbed still higher in some stores. Even white turnips are marked up in several places, but they are of excellent quality this season. Cucumbers are up and fresh beets are 1 cent a bunch higher.

Few Changes Among Staples.

There are few price changes in the staple departments. Retailers gradually are pushing sugar prices higher. In some stores prices were marked up 2 to 4 cents a ten pound sack during the week. Other retailers had marked up their prices last week. Several stores that held sugar sales last week have marked their prices back up to the level that prevailed two weeks ago. Lower grades of coffee have been taken off the bargain counters.

Bacon jumped 3 cents a pound in a few shops, but most butchers have not changed their prices since last week. Rib and loin lamb chops are 4 to 6 cents a pound higher in several shops. The same butchers are holding ham sales, with prices off 6 cents a pound. They are also featuring round, sirloin, and porterhouse steaks at 4 and 5 cents a pound less.

There were a few items on the green grocers' counters marked lower, following the wholesale drop last week and again this week. Idaho baking potatoes head the list with prices off 10 to 16 cents a peck. In some places the red and white potatoes are 2 cents a peck less, while in other stores 2 to 6 cents a peck has been added to the price for today and tomorrow.

Green Beans Are Less.

Green beans are 1 to 2 cents a quart lower generally. Head lettuce is lower.

In several stores eggs will be found 2 cents a dozen less than a week ago. Flour of the higher grades is off 4 to 6 cents for a 24½ pound sack in most shopping centers, while several stores marked their prices up 4 cents a sack. There are slight reductions on canned corn, pineapple, and pineapple juice.

Cantaloupes will be found cheaper in several stores that are closing out their stock for the season. Prices have been cut slightly on bananas, cabbage, and grapefruit.

Housewives who are needing Concord grapes for making jelly, butter, and juice at home will find them cheaper than they have been at any time this season in most shopping districts. Concord grapes packed in 1? quart jumbo baskets are offered in stores generally this week-end.

Beef Cattle Prices Set Record.

Beef cattle prices set an all time record for September at Union stockyards this week, reaching a top of $19.90 a hundred pounds. Prices on the better grades of beef cattle have gone up steadily for ten consecutive weeks, setting new records for the season in each of the last eight weeks, according to government figures.

Live hogs and lambs are lower than last week, butcher hogs dropping 10 to 25 cents a hundred pounds and spring lambs 25 cents a hundred.

Most wholesale meat prices are lower. Some grades of beef carcasses went up 50 cents a hundred, but most other kinds dropped an equal amount. Veal and lamb sold $2 a hundred lower. Wholesale cuts of pork went down 50 cents to $1.50 a hundred.

The following fruits and vegetables sold lower this week than last on the central market: Green beans, cantaloupes, grapes, head lettuce, dry onions, peas, rutabagas, spinach, fresh tomatoes, sweet potatoes, and grapefruit.

GRAPEFRUIT MAKES A DELECTABLE DISH WHEN COOKED IN PIE

Almost every one enjoys a dish of cool grapefruit segments or a glassful of frosty juice, but many persons also like their grapefruit hot. Grapefruit may be cooked in many ways to make appetizing pies, cakes, and puddings.

Florida's new crop soon will be ready to fill the markets. In the meantime canned fruits may be used. They are inexpensive, and easy to use in several tasty dishes.

BROILED GRAPEFRUIT SEGMENTS.

Drain the juice from a No. 2 can of grapefruit segments. Lay them carefully in a shallow baking pan. Sprinkle brown sugar generously over segments. Place under broiler until segments are heated through, slightly browned, and sugar is melted. Serve with the meat course, or use as a platter garnish.

GRAPEFRUIT CUSTARD PIE.

- 2 eggs separated
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon butter, melted
- Grated rind of 1 orange
- 1 No. 1 can grapefruit segments
- 1 cup milk
- ½ standard recipe plain pastry

Beat egg yolks until light yellow and combine with sugar, flour, and salt. Add melted butter and orange rind. Drain grapefruit segments, chop to a pulp and add. Beat mixture until creamy. Stir in milk. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold in last. Pour into a pastry lined pan and bake 10 minutes in a hot oven [425 degrees F.]. Then reduce temperature to 350 degrees F. and continue baking 20-25 minutes, or until custard is set. Makes one 9 inch pie.

GRAPEFRUIT UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE.

- ⅓ cup shortening
- 1 No. 2 can grapefruit [segments and juice]
- ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1¼ cups sifted cake flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder

Butter thickly an 8x8x2 inch cake pan and cover bottom with brown sugar and grapefruit segments which have been drained of juice. Cream shortening with salt. Add sugar gradually, then unbeaten egg, beating till light and fluffy. Sift together flour and baking powder. Add alternately with juice from can of grapefruit a little at a time, beating after each addition till smooth. Pour over mixture in pan and bake in moderate oven [350 degrees F.] about one hour. Serve with whipped cream. Serves eight to ten.

GRAPEFRUIT-CIDER JELLY.

- No. 1 can grapefruit juice
- ½ cup cider
- 2 cups sugar
- ¼ cup liquid pectin

Measure juices and sugar into large saucepan. Bring to a boil, then add pectin, stirring constantly. Bring to a full boil and boil hard for one-half minute. Remove from fire, skim, and pour into sterilized glasses. Cover with paraffin, seal.

LIKE MERINGUE? THEN MAKE ONE TO MATCH PIE!

Announcing something new in pie making—a meringue to match the pie! Top your lemon pies with a billowy meringue of matching flavor or swirl a chocolate meringue over the next chocolate cream pie.

These meringues with marshmallow base boast not only that they may be made in every flavor but also that they will stand high indefinitly and will not weep.

LEMON MERINGUE.

- 16 marshmallows
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 2 egg whites
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice

Heat marshmallows and milk over low heat, folding over and over until marshmallows are about half melted. Remove from heat and continue folding until marshmallows have formed a smooth, fluffy mass. Beat egg whites until they hold a peak. Add sugar slowly and continue beating until meringue is stiff and smooth. Add salt and vanilla. Then fold meringue into softened marshmallow mixture and blend. Spread in swirls over cooled pie. Place beneath very hot broiler element and brown lightly about 30 seconds.

CHOCOLATE MERINGUE.

- 16 marshmallows
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 2 egg whites
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- 1 tablespoon cocoa
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon vanilla extract

Heat marshmallows and milk over low heat, folding over and over until marshmallows are about half melted. Remove from heat and continue folding until marshmallows have formed a smooth, fluffy mass. Beat egg whites until they hold a peak. Then slowly add 3 tablespoons of sugar and continue beating until meringue is stiff and smooth. Add vanilla extract. Blend remaining tablespoon of sugar with the cocoa and salt. Then carefully fold the cocoa mixture into the meringue, folding just enough to blend. Spread in swirls over cooled pie. Place beneath very hot broiler and brown lightly, about 30 seconds. Remove from heat and serve whenever ready.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

THE FIVE NO TRUMP BID.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

The five no trump bid may contain only eight and one-half honor tricks, as does the four no trump bid, but only two top honors may be missing from the hand. For example:

♠A K Q ♥A K Q ♦A K J 10 ♣A K 7

Opposite this hand, one queen in partner's hand means a small slam, and two queens a grand slam. Any five card suit will make six-odd, and if the five card suit be headed by the queen a grand slam may depend only upon a 3-2 trump break.

The Six No Trump Bid.

Logically, the opening bid of six no trump is the next step above the five no trump bid. It misses only one ace, king, or queen:

♠A K Q ♥A K Q ♦A K Q ♣K Q J 10

The above hand has only eight-plus honor tricks, but because only one top honor is lacking it is a good opening bid of six no trump. It may be raised to seven with the club ace. Any six no trump bid may be raised to seven if partner holds the one missing queen.

TODAY'S HAND.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 diamond	2 clubs
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

Perhaps it is superfluous to point out that East's diamond bid was more psychic than honest. But South's overcall, vulnerable, had no alibi whatsoever. It was just a poor bid. As to East's leave-in of the penalty double, either his courage or his optimism suffered from elephantiasis. Of course it must be admitted that he would have had to look hard for a safe takeout.

After West had opened the diamond ace, and seen dummy, a diamond continuation seemed unattractive, particularly since East had played the deuce. West correctly shifted to his top heart. Dummy ducked and East went up with the ace and returned a heart. Declarer won, and laid down the club ace; then, when the jack fell, led a low club to dummy's ten. The heart king was cashed and then, with no convenient egress from the dummy, declarer played the diamond queen. East won and returned another diamond.

West ruffed with the club six and, without perceptible hesitation, underplayed the spade ace. Declarer, who had carefully noted that East to date had shown only the diamond king and heart ace, hardly could fail to guess wrong at this point. He let the lead ride to his own jack. East put up the queen and returned the thirteenth heart. Declarer, seeing what was coming, threw his losing spade, but this did not avail, because East then played his last diamond, thus assuring West of a trump trick.

At the point where West underplayed his spade ace, declarer's distribution had been established as five clubs, three diamonds, and at least three hearts. If he had a singleton spade and the thirteenth heart, all was lost. Defenders, having won four tricks, never could take more than the spade ace. If he had two spades, for West to lay down the ace of spades was tantamount to surrendering. A spade continuation would be won with the king and declarer then would ruff a spade and pull West's trumps. Thus, the underplay of the ace as the only conceivable defense was reached by the old reliable process of elimination.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Open American Show Nov. 18 at Art Institute

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Two announcements of interest have just been issued by the Art institute. The most spectacular exhibition of the year is invariably the American Painting and Sculpture show which starts the formal season each November. This year the 48th annual American exhibit will open on Thursday, Nov. 18, and continue through Sunday, Jan. 16.

Only original works in painting and sculpture that have not been previously shown in the Art institute will be exhibited. Fully two-thirds of the work will come by personal invitation of the museum.

In spite of the large proportion of invited works, there will be a jury of selection. The jury to pass on the oil paintings will meet in New York on Oct. 22; the corresponding jury in Chicago will meet Nov. 2 and 3. There also will be two sculpture juries, one for the east and one for the west. The New York jury for sculpture is announced as Gladys Edgerly Bates, José de Creeft, and Harry Rosin. The Chicago sculpture jury consists of Leonard Crunelle, Sylvia Shaw Judson, and Carl Milles. The painting jury is made up of Gifford Beal, Louis Bouché, and B. J. O. Nordfeldt.

Six money prizes are to be awarded, aggregating $1,850. There will be one gold medal prize and four honorable mentions. Works of art may be entered up to Wednesday, Oct. 13.

The sixth international exhibition of lithography and wood engraving will open at the Art institute on Nov. 5 and continue through Jan. 10. Only prints produced during the last two years are eligible. Foreign entries are coming in unusually well. At the close of the exhibit a selection of 100 prints will be sent on a year's circuit of other American museums.

Mischakoff Weds Hortense Moritz, Once Violin Pupil

Michigan City, Ind., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Mischa Mischakoff, concert master of the Toscanini Symphony orchestra and former concert master of the Chicago Symphony orchestra under Frederick Stock, was married here at 4 p. m. today to Miss Hortense Moritz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Moritz.

The ceremony took place at the Moritz home, 602 Spring street. Rabbi Arthur Gonnheim, Chicago, performed the ceremony before an improvised altar in the living room. Only relatives and few close friends were present.

Miss Moritz, a former violin pupil of Mischakoff, wore a deep rose shade of velvet wedding gown, with a corsage of orchids. Her only attendant was Mrs. W. H. Swartz Baltimore.

At the wedding party were the bride's mother, wearing black velvet; Henrietta, a younger sister; brothers, Jerome and Bernard, Chicago university students; Dr. and Mrs. Harry Jackson of Winnetka; George Jackson, Chicago; Mrs. Louis Kurtzman, Chicago, and Mrs. Rose Rosenfeld, Chicago, all aunts and uncles.

A bridal dinner at the Spaulding hotel followed the ceremony. Later the couple entrained for New York.

A Touchdown for Quints!

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

At a "beauty matinée" given at a smart Chicago salon the other day, we heard, from a beauty specialist who is most certainly in a position to know, that this is the hey-day of the woman over forty.

Consider the outstanding women of the world. Aren't they all fortyish? The list of best dressed would include mature women. Even the list of beauties would include women who've said good-by to their girlhood.

It all develops out of the new interpretation of beauty. Dewiness isn't important. The modern beauty has to have much more than the glowing complexion and the firm contours that are the natural heritage of youth. She must have poise, chic, intelligence, and a flair for doing well whatever duties her sphere in life impose upon her. If she has all these [and these are the blessings that come with maturity], age doesn't matter.

The woman of forty is in no danger of losing her looks if she knows her beauty ABC's. Not nowadays. The beauty and fashion specialists point all their efforts at her. It's for her, for instance, that "body sculpture" was developed. And it's a tribute to the growing awareness of women that forty isn't old that body departments are so well patronized nowadays. Women are exercising, eating intelligently, taking care of themselves. And what happens? Being forty is fun!

Of course it's best to start in the thirties to prepare for the forties. But there's plenty of hope held out for the woman who's close to fifty, no matter how dowdy, how dumpy of figure or how pallid of complexion.

Selfishness Is Trait to Cure in Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

We were talking about—you can't imagine!—children.

All the young people had departed on a scavenger hunt—that anathema of all mothers whose boys and girls are old enough to drive a car! Quiet had descended and after we'd caught our breath:

"What do you think—can one train a child to be unselfish?" asked the mother of three. "My children are all so different in that respect that I often wonder whether it is possible to train a child to be unselfish."

There is no question but that some people are born with the quality of selfishness in a high degree. Native endowment has a lot to do with it. Any one who is an observer of human nature knows that. You see people—mothers and brothers and sisters who have all had the same upbringing and lived in the same home atmosphere—who are very different in that respect.

I can think of one family at the moment of which this is very true. There are three children, all now grown up. No special aim was made of unselfishness in their childhood, though one of the parents possessed that quality in the extreme. Of these three men and women one is very selfish, one is unselfish enough to be a really nice person, and the third gives lavishly of herself to those she loves and all those who need her [though not stupidly nor indiscriminately].

I believe we can, in large measure, train our children to fine relationships with their fellows. Included in this must certainly be a concern for the rights of others; and in the case of those near and dear to us, a desire, expressed in action, for their happiness and well-being.

Example and the whole home atmosphere are the most potent influences of all in this direction. A child who lives where considerateness is the order of the day, where giving is warm and enjoyed, must absorb some of it. And by giving I mean all kinds of giving—the giving of one's self in labor, in time, and the giving of material things like birthday or other gifts which have been bought with savings that represent real self-denial.

But besides example in unselfishness, which is an unspoken thing, I think children need some suggestion, some guidance—as for one example, in regard to giving Christmas and birthday gifts and saving for them, instead of always just receiving.

This Is a Versatile Pattern

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

A versatile pattern, if ever there was one! It provides for a lovely afternoon dress, a dinner frock, a hostess gown or house coat. Take your choice, or all of them! The sketch at the left shows what distinction may be achieved with rich crêpes to create an informal dinner dress or hostess garment. Notice that the neckline is plain, embellished only with a clip. The short puffed sleeves are pretty and the "corset" waistline, above which shirring gives a soft line to the bodice, is swathed in a contrasting sash which falls in graceful ends. The garment reaches to the instep, and allows your prettiest evening slippers the advantage of discreet publicity.

The street dress shown at the right may be made of any silk crêpe, sheer woolen, velvet or satin. It has a nice little shallow collar in a contrasting shade. The sleeves are long and the skirt is short, otherwise the perfectly grand lines are preserved intact. Instead of a sash there is a tailored belt.

Style No. 2999 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

This old and frequently made pieced block suddenly has been given a modern title. Years ago it was known simply as "Fish Block," but some enterprising quilt maker decided that it should be given a more specific appellation, hence "Trout and Bass" block. It is a neasy design to set together, composed as it is of diamonds and triangles. Measuring 16 inches square when completed, 15 pieced blocks are set together with 15 plain blocks in an alternate arrangement and surrounded by a five inch border. A combination of printed and plain materials creates the most effective coverlet.

PERHAPS, as M. F. K. Fisher says in her book on food, twenty million men rush out every noon for their ham on white and cherry coke, but, had she seen the table d'hôte dinner served at a Rush street night club on a recent evening she would have been hopeful that America is improving, gastronomically speaking. The first course was chilled watermelon balls, served from the half of the melon itself, as several of the most distinguished Chicago hostesses serve them in their homes. Next came green turtle soup. There was boned squab, delicately savory, served with guava jelly; little potatoes persillade, fresh green peas, a salad, pistachio ice cream and coffee. It was just such a dinner as a discriminating hostess might serve in her own home. No traditional restaurant shrimp cocktail, no side dishes, no hard section of head lettuce covered with thousand island dressing.

WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Ballard of 1026 Michigan avenue, Evanston, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Lucile, to Douglas Seator, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Seator of Evanston.

The Rev. Paul Austin Wolfe, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Evanston, will perform the ceremony at 4:30 o'clock the afternoon of Oct. 16 at the Ballards' home in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends, and there will be a small reception afterward.

Mrs. Edwin Ballard will be matron of honor for her sister-in-law, and Altha Montague, Mr. Seator's four year old niece, will be a flower girl. Norman Wigdale of Milwaukee, Wis., will be best man.

After a wedding trip through the south Mr. Seator and his bride will be at home in Evanston the middle of November.

Plan Parties for Visit of Italian Envoy

BY JUDITH CASS.

HOSPITABLE Chicagoans are never happier than when they are entertaining a foreigner, so those who will assist the Italian consul general, Dr. Franco Fontana, in making the Italian ambassador's visit here late this month a pleasant one are busy with plans for the entertainment of him and his attractive young wife. The ambassador, Fulvio Suvich, and his wife, Donna Matilde di Suvich, will be here the week-end of Oct. 23.

The Italy America society, which for years has helped to make all visiting Italians carry away delightful memories of Chicago, will give something for the Suvichs, something very especial, but it is not decided yet what the affair will be. Robert Hall McCormick is the new president of the society and Chauncey McCormick has become chairman of the board of directors. Orville J. Taylor, John F. Cuneo, and Alfred E. Hamill are the vice presidents. Miss Clara Lake is executive secretary.

On the board of the society are Guilio Bolognesi, former Italian consul general in Chicago, Dr. Carl B. Davis, Mrs. Wentworth G. Field, Hayden B. Harris, Mrs. Hambleton Kirk, Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, Walter Lichtenstein, Harold F. McCormick, Ira Nelson Morris, Mrs. Potter Palmer, Silas H. Strawn, George Woodruff, Nathan W. MacChesney, Harold C. Bodman, Fortunato Jerace, John M. Handley, and J. Bradford Pengally.

Named Ambassador by Il Duce in 1936.

Sig. Suvich is one of Premier Mussolini's outstanding diplomatic representatives, so Chicagoans are looking forward with pleasure to meeting him. He and his wife paid a visit to Chicago in June, but it was just a fleeting one, for they spent only a few hours here on their way to California. Sig. Suvich replaced Augusto Rosso as their country's representative in Washington in the summer of 1936.

Sig. Rosso's wife, formerly Mrs. Frances Wilkinson Bunker of Washington and Evanston, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Wilkinson, in Evanston for several weeks, is leaving this evening with her mother for Nashville, Tenn. They are going south to visit Mrs. Wilkinson's mother, Mrs. Benjamin Enloe, who has just celebrated her 90th birthday. Signora Rosso, who was married in Paris last January, is sailing from New York on Oct. 30 to rejoin her husband in Moscow, but she will be back in Evanston for a short visit before going to New York.

Signora Rosso is leaving her two children in school in this country, Adele as a freshman at Duke university in North Carolina, and George at the Pomfret school in Connecticut. The children spent the summer with the Rossos in Italy and Russia, and for the last fortnight before coming back to this country the four enjoyed a Baltic cruise with our Russian ambassador, Joseph E. Davies, and Mrs. Davies, aboard their yacht, Sea Cloud.

One of the most delightful of the many parties that have been given for Signora Rosso in Chicago was a tea and cocktail party given Wednesday by the Daniel Taylors at their south side home.

Mrs. Nancy McCormack to Visit in Nashville.

Also taking the train tonight for Nashville will be Mrs. Nancy Cox McCormack, who was born and lived until she was an adult in the Tennessee city and is going there now to visit relatives. Mrs. McCormack has been in Chicago several months executing some sculpture commissions and starting a book dealing with her experiences in making busts of such internationally known personages as Mussolini, Gandhi, and Primo de Rivera. Mrs. McCormack formerly lived here, but she calls New York home now.

Friday night the Italian vice consul at Chicago, Baron Paolo Tallerigo, will discuss "Crises of Civilization" before members of the Italy America society and their friends, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Miller, 1500 Lake Shore drive. Baron Tallerigo, who just came to Chicago about two months ago, is a bachelor and so is his chief, Dr. Fontana.

Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick to Give Luncheon.

Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick will give a luncheon Dec. 30 for Miss Nancy Blaine, the debutante daughter of Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence, who will be at home then for her Christmas vacation from Vassar. Miss Blaine is the great-niece of the late Cyrus H. McCormick.

In Chicago and London today, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore Jeffries of Highland Park are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Helen to Allan Crawfurd-Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harrington Crawfurd-Price of London, England.

The news that Miss Jeffries is to wed an Englishman will not come as a surprise to her close friends, for she has spent several seasons in London. Miss Jeffries was educated at the University School for Girls, and at Ferry Hall. She spent a year in New York, and then went abroad to study at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London, of which she is a graduate.

Mrs. Jeffries spent a winter in London with her daughter, at which time she met her future son-in-law. Miss Virginia Jeffries accompanied her sister to England for the coronation festivities last spring, so she,

Singing Is a Short Cut to Good Health

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Singing is a short cut to health, says Jane Pickens, prima donna of the Ziegfeld Follies and a radio star.

Years ago the discriminating public was not too particular where opera was concerned. They came not so much to see as to listen. If Violetta in "La Traviata" happened to weigh about 180, well what of it? They knew the girl was supposed to be slight and frail, but you can't have everything. Not then, you couldn't.

The motion pictures have been instrumental to a very great extent in flouting that erroneous idea. Mr. and Mrs. Theatergoer began to discover they could have, well, more than they had been getting. And they liked it. After seeing the brilliant Garbo act the lady of the camellias, fans are not going to be contented to see a well rounded and buxom "Violetta" in the operatic version of the story. And the singers realize this fact, which accounts for the outstanding success of Lily Pons, Gladys Swarthout, Grace Moore and, recently, Marion Talley.

"And," says Miss Pickens, "notice that not only have these stars a slim pulchritude, but they have grace, poise, and health, which attributes are a direct result of their vocation, and are not developed ['temperament' gossip to the contrary] in spite of it."

Miss Pickens, who is studying opera at the famed Juilliard institute, and who has won three scholarships for her vocal ability, is qualified to talk on this subject. "When you've walked miles and miles across a room with three books on your head, and have practiced deep breathing exercises from a horizontal position on the floor with a half dozen or so hard cover books on your chest, why, then you've done manual labor!"

But then, too, such training develops the fundamentals of poise and grace. Grace, because one learns to walk easily, with a free lithe motion, and not from the knees down. One learns to stand gracefully, and not slouch on the one foot. One sits down with a graceful gesture instead of sliding awkwardly into a chair. Poise comes with assurance when you know that your bearing is graceful and that you are creating a good impression. Poise enters right into your demeanor.

Varied breathing exercises are the forerunners of glowing health; fresh oxygen inhaled deeply, through habit, and the circulation is affected immediately. And from the excellent circulation, the skin takes on a transparent clearness, and the eyes a glowing lucidity.

And so one might easily say: "Sing your way to beauty." It would be very nearly correct. For while you may not change the actual physiognomy, the exercises and gyrations involved in the study of opera will enhance the basic features to an unlimited degree.

Of necessity, the diet is watched carefully. One cannot sing clearly after a heavy meal, therefore fruits and vegetables comprise the greater part of the diet.

So we have: fruits, vegetables, fresh air, exercises, out of which come health, vitality, lithe bodies, and, incidentally, golden voices.

Beautify your hands while you sleep! How to do it properly is told in Antoinette Donnelly's booklet. "Handmade Hand Beauty." Get a copy today. On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices. 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price. 5 cents. Postpaid. 7 cents.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Columnist's Clock.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 30.—9 a. m.—The operator's ring starts a new day. Birds are chirping, the sun is shining. The bellboy arrives with a raft of wires and mail, birthday congrats. A letter from Rupert Hughes reminding me that I am guest of honor at the authors' luncheon tomorrow, and I'm scared to death at the prospect. Mrs. Paul Muni phones, and I apologize for breaking a dinner engagement, because Bella and Paul are two of the sweller people in this profession. Hal Roach calls about the party to Il Duce's son. A letter from Lee Shippey, asking me to meet the California publishers and editors at the dinner which the alumni chapter of Sigma Delta Chi is tendering the easterner, Oct. 12, at the Los Angeles Stock exchange.

Loretta Young.

Jeanette MacDonald on the phone: "How did you remember our conversation—names and dates and shows—without using a pad and pencil, Ed?" She wants to know . . . you tell her that people being interviewed tighten up when a pad and pencil is flashed; that, anyway, the test of an interview is what you do remember. . . . Lou Maxon on the phone from Detroit. . . . The phone punctuates breakfast—Ben Piazza, Mae West, A. C. Blumenthal, Dave Selznick, Vic Orsatti, the man about tires for the car, George Raft, and Charles Boyer's stand-in with a plea for the stand-ins of the industry.

10 a. m.—Fred Stone welcomes you to his home. Carol and Mrs. Stone are waiting. Paula Stone dashes home, in costume, to say hello. The bigger they are, the nicer they are—and as we sit there talking Will Rogers regards us quizzically from the canvas over the fireplace. I drop Mr. Stone off at the R. K. O. studios an hour later, and at 11:30 I'm in the office of Eddie Mannix, at M. G. M., in Culver City. The studio boss is upset over my column-panning of the William Powell-Myrna Loy picture, "Double Wedding." He shakes his head: "You saw it in a projection room; you missed the audience reaction." I tell him that I've seen hundreds of pictures in projection rooms, and made allowance for that. "You and I are going to see it in a theater," he says, and we make the date.

Noon—The tennis matches. Clark Gable and Myrna Loy in a clubhouse box. Kay Francis and Delmar Daves. Loretta Young and Joe Mankiewicz. Charlie Chaplin, his hair almost pure white, with Paulette Goddard, No. 1 candidate for the Scarlett O'Hara rôle. The announcer plugs a motor oil company which supplies the loudspeakers, an incongruous note in amateur tennis, huh?

1 p. m.—You are alone in projection room A, at Twentieth Century-Fox, watching the Ritz Brothers picture, "Life Begins in College," their first starring effort. This will make a barrel of money, but it is weakly cast. Nat Pendleton, playing the Jim Thorpe rôle, is the surprise of the flicker, and it required all of the Ritzes to prevent him from stealing it away from them. On screen a bit too much, because of the weakness of their support, the Ritzes turn in their best movie.

3 p. m.—Luncheon at the Jack Bennys, and on the rug, copying picture, is their little daughter, Joan. Abe Lyman and Phil Harris are there, Lyman just recovering from a long siege of illness. Hal Wallis' sister, Minna, arrives. Jack Benny, preparing to take an X-ray examination the next day, can't eat anything but one boiled egg and toast, and he has a head cold. "It's funny," says Lyman, "when I was getting $50 a week I felt marvelous. The minute you get your hands on money you get sick." Benny nods agreement. Harris nods agreement.

5 p. m.—Prince Mike Romanoff in the lobby of the hotel. Gus Kahn entering the Brown Derby. Frances Langford rushes over to thank me for getting her break in pictures. Sid Skolsky says: "Now you understand why I didn't want to go back to New York, huh?" I tell him that Broadway, in my book, is still tops.

7 p. m.—Dinner with Doc Martin at the Vine street Brown Derby. "Try the swordfish, Ed," says Doc, and it melts in the mouth. British Producer Charles Cochran tells us that Jessie Matthews will come here to make a picture. Walter C. Kelly, Edgar Allan Woolf, Dinty Doyle, George McCall, George Burns, Tom Gallery, Abe Lastvogel, and Johnny Hyde join in the conversation. Ernst Lubitsch is chatting with Mervyn and Doris Le Roy, and I introduce Mr. and Mrs. Hal Le Roy to Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy. . . . We kid Bob Cobb about his cowboy "find," who has pink cheeks and blushes.

10 p. m.—The Walter Connolly party, with 200 guests, at their home. Rosalind Russell, Fred Keating, the Brewsters, Bill Harrigan, the Al Trahans, naval officers in civilian clothes, and spaghetti that was beautiful.

4 a. m.—For six hours I've sat with Darryl Zanuck as he supervised the cutting of "In Old Chicago." Director Henry King, Bill Goetz, Harry Joe Brown, Fidel La Barba, Bill Dover, and others are in the projection room. Zanuck completely dominates. He bites out 600 feet of film in one drastic cut, trims here, transposes there, but always accelerates the pace of the story that Tyrone Power, Alice Faye, Don Ameche, Alice Brady, and Brian Donlevy are enacting. At 4 a. m. they are still at it. "Darryl," says I, "I'm going home to bed." He nods his head: "Just a New York sissy," and my exit is a chorus of derisive raspberries.

Fashion Shows Pay Dividends in Excitement

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Clothes hungry women certainly take plenty of punishment attending the official fashion shows. It takes stamina of an unusual sort to view each one with the proper appreciation and enthusiasm. But we do it every season—the appetite never wanes. It's fun to watch the reactions of the huddled crowd filling the rooms to suffocation. The expressions of the ladies off guard show envy, approval and excitement.

The loot on parade this fall will do more toward glamorizing feminine lure than ever before . . . gowns, costumes, street suits, coats, and the all important creations of headgear are deadly and devastating. And how the men will like 1937 fashions, for the ladies will be romantic, picturesque, and clinging once again. Dance and party clothes swish because of yards of rustling taffetas, and have bows, flounces, lengths of cobweb lace, ribbon sashes, slithering trains, and jewel-tone colors. These combine to make clothes lovely for the coming fall and winter.

The important news . . . streamlines, that are smooth, curved, and fitted, something that means perfect underlayers designed by experts, fitted individually, and worn with all models. Everything is to be plastered on the figure, from snug fitting little suit jackets to form revealing dinner and dress parade gowns, with even the evening wraps fitting closely around the waistline.

Skirts are shorter and snappier for general wear, dinner dresses matched to short jackets are tremendously important, and velvet is going stronger than ever. The "glitters" such as sequins, paillettes and that sort of thing are a matter of individual preference. Slinky afternoon dresses are of jersey, wool or silk, thin wool, or mixtures of wool, silk, and velvet.

Every shop and store is now ready for the annual fall rush to assemble a high fashion wardrobe. See them while all the collections are complete and excitingly new!

O, Mister Gallagher? No, It's Mister Shean, in Comeback at 69

New York, Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Al Shean, now 69 years old, started a new career as a serious actor on the legitimate stage today and celebrated the event by asking everybody to forget that he ever was a member of the vaudeville team that sang "Mister Gallagher and Mister Shean."

"I'm sick of people asking me to recite those jingles we used to do," said Shean, who has been selected to play a Benedictine monk in "Father Mulcahy's Miracle," which opens in Buffalo in a few weeks. He got 64 cents as royalties last month from the Gallagher and Shean song, which was famous in the early '20s, he said.

Ed Gallagher, Shean's old partner, died on May 28, 1929.

"Find This Girl"

BY ROY VICKERS [Copyright: 1937: By Roy Vickers.]

SYNOPSIS.

Bessie Mersand, a nurse, is acquitted of the charge of administering a fatal dose of medinal to an elderly patient. After the trial, as Bessie Mathews, she is given a job by Gwynneth Bentley, caring for Gwynneth's invalid husband. Gwynneth plans to kill her husband and plant the blame on Bessie, so that she can marry her lover, Roy Gleason. Medinal tablets are placed in Bessie's charge. Gwynneth hides a valuable jeweled dagger, then puts the ground medinal tablets in her husband's food. She then gives Bessie the day off. In London Bessie meets her friend, Jim Watkin, who has learned of the crime. He hides Bessie. Jim visits Gwynneth for clews. A trowel in her hands gives him a hunch the dagger is buried in the garden. He warns her the garden will be dug up, then sets a private detective to watch. Gwynneth sees through his plan. She trails him to Bessie and forces her to go with her, and stay with a deaf woman at Rose cottage. She tricks Bessie into digging up the dagger. Bessie is caught, but escapes and hides in the Bentley loft. Sneaking down for food Bessie overhears Jim denouncing her to Gwynneth. Bessie flees in Jim's car to Rose cottage, where Gwynneth finds her. Bessie threatens to give herself up and implicate Gwynneth for hiding her. Frightened, Gwynneth forces Roy into a hasty marriage and plans to flee the country. Jim tricks Gwynneth into returning to Rose cottage, where she and Bessie are arrested. Bessie is brought to trial.

INSTALMENT XLVII.

A POOR WITNESS.

Bessie's own case stood in her mind no longer clear, but like a blurred photograph. Gwynneth's evidence had been unshaken by Gorlay—and it seemed now that Gwynneth's personality was overshadowing her.

Led by Gorlay, she formally denied the charge, agreed that she had fled for the reasons he had given in his "opening." He led her to the point where Gwynneth appeared at Brighton and then asked her to continue.

"I did not consider Mrs. Bentley my friend—though I thought she was a friend before—before it all happened. Mrs. Ben—Gleason appeared as I was cleaning the caravan, and told me I must leave it at once and come with her or she would send for the police.

"She took me to Rose cottage exactly as she said. But it was she who first mentioned the letter. She said she had read it and had suppressed it in order that I might be suspected of murder. She said that at the time she hated me, but she saw now that she had had no cause to do so. She wanted me to recover the letter in order that I might clear myself. She drove me to the lane and I went to the summer house."

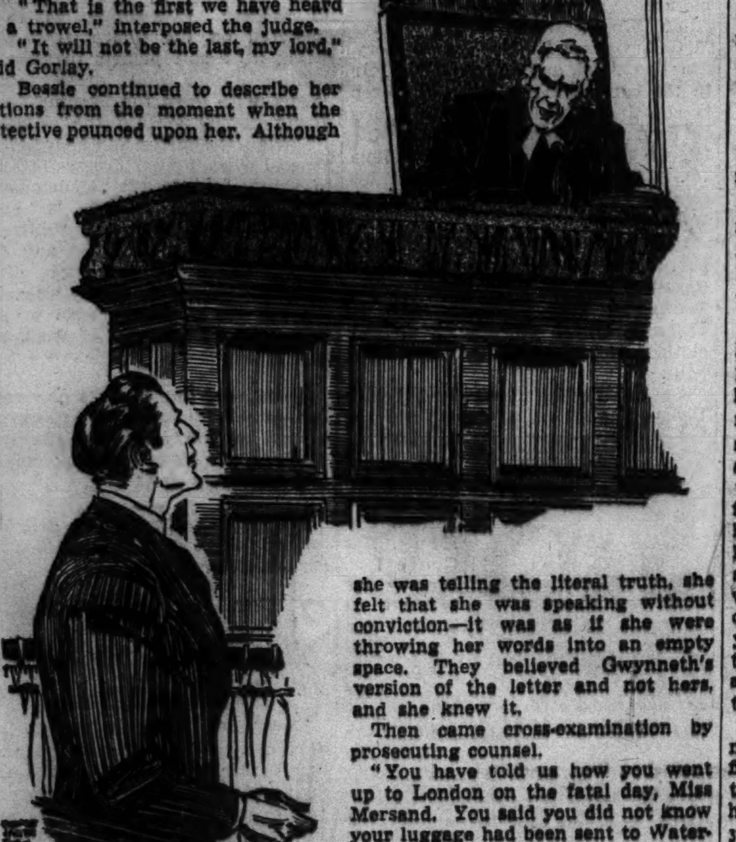
"Would you give exact details, please, Miss Mersand—from the moment you left the car?"

"I mounted the stile and crossed the meadow into the kitchen garden. I went straight to the potting shed. By the side of the potting shed is a bush and under the bush, as Mrs. Bentley had told me, was a trowel with which I was to remove the loose brick and dig up the earth underneath."

"That is the first we have heard of a trowel," interposed the judge.

"It will not be the last, my lord," said Gorlay.

Bessie continued to describe her actions from the moment when the detective pounced upon her. Although she was telling the literal truth, she felt that she was speaking without conviction—it was as if she were throwing her words into an empty space. They believed Gwynneth's version of the letter and not hers, and she knew it.



"That is the first we have heard of a trowel," interposed the judge.

Then came cross-examination by prosecuting counsel.

"You have told us how you went up to London on the fatal day, Miss Mersand. You said you did not know your luggage had been sent to Waterloo and you intended to return on the eleven-thirty. Why did you not return on that train?"

"I meant to," answered Bessie, "But at the last moment a friend persuaded me not to, as he had heard of Mr. Bentley's death."

"How had he heard it?"

Bessie hesitated.

"He read it on the news ticker at his club," she faltered. It was true, but it sounded like an invention.

Point by point counsel went over her story. In no case did he try to show that she had been telling a direct lie. Adroitly he placed Bessie's story, cheek by jowl, with Gwynneth's story—and there could be no doubt that Gwynneth had told hers a great deal better. Now and again Bessie would stammer and falter with the half-formed purpose of concealing Jim Watkin.

"You say that Mrs. Bentley, as she then was, told you this story about the letter written by her husband and that it was hidden under the floor of the summer house. If Mrs. Bentley wanted you to have it, why did she not go to her own summer house and get it herself? Why all this elaborate business of getting you away from Brighton, and letting you sneak into the garden at midnight?"

"I don't know."

"Nor do I," said counsel, with a wealth of contempt in his voice. "I don't think I need trouble you any further, Miss Mersand."

Like many an innocent person, Bessie had made a thoroughly bad witness. She had faltered when she ought to have been firm. Where a liar would have been confident, she had tripped here and there over small details. She left the witness box with a sense of defeat. As yet there was nothing approaching dread of the fate that might await her. She just felt that she had spoilt the work of her friends and lawyers, and a profound depression settled upon her.

"Mr. James Watkin."

Jim still looked as if he were enjoying it. While he answered the formal questions, he had the air of a dog straining at a leash. The questions brought him to the point where he was having tea with Bessie on the fatal day.

"After tea I went to my club and I read about the death of Bentley and the disappearance of the nurse—who was actually in my company."

"But you knew she was innocent, Mr. Watkin?"

"I did not—I was dead sure she was guilty," answered Watkin with a glance at the jury. "She had told me several lies which had been put into her mouth. There was the lie that she was going to meet Mr. Bentley's uncle at Euston. Mrs. Bentley has no uncle. And there was the previous lie that the key she bought for Denting was the key to a jewel case, when any one could see that it was the key of a safe except Miss Mersand herself. That's the guileless lie of an innocent person.

"I spent the evening with her. I kept talking about the Bentleys—and observing her face and voice. She was steady as a rock. When she got into the train which would have taken her to certain arrest—when the train actually started—I knew she had not the least idea that Bentley was dead. So I pulled her out and decided to give the police what help I could while staving off the premature arrest."

"Did you actually give the police any help?"

"Quite a lot! To begin with, I proved that Mrs. Bentley's criminal brother had had dealings with Denting, the ironmonger."

Prosecuting counsel rose to object. There was a mild hub-bub before Watkin was allowed to continue.

"During the time you were helping her, Miss Mersand's actions were those of an innocent person?"

"Certainly. She kept wanting to give herself up, thinking a trial would be bound to clear her. But I told her to give me a little time and I'd find the real murderer."

Jim Watkin spoke very rapidly, throwing out his insinuations before any one could stop him. Gorlay was almost glad to hand him over to prosecuting counsel.

"You are aware, Mr. Watkin," said the latter, "that your evidence will render you liable to prosecution as an accessory——"

"Not until you've proved her guilty—and you won't."

"That remains to be seen. In the meantime, I suggest that you are strongly biased in the prisoner's favor?"

"I admit that. It's inevitable. We're going to be married as soon as this trial is over."

That went well with the jury. It proved nothing, except that this noisy, fearless young man believed wholeheartedly in the prisoner's innocence. And there was the important point that he had voluntarily risked his career by shielding her.

"You have seen her conduct through rose colored spectacles."

GASOLINE ALLEY—PROMOTED

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER—One Down—None to Go

This Domestic Situation Has Strange Angles

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"I have been married for 21 years. I am 41. My family left me last summer, the principal reason being that my eldest son liked to be the boss. After the year's separation, they now want me to come back home. If I can find steady employment, that is. As you must know, this is difficult to get at the present time. I am friendly with my wife and she has requested me to write a letter to my oldest boy getting his permission to return home.

"I do not think any father should be compelled to ask such a favor from his own son. He disliked me having a drink, although I always kept my home well provided for. My wife likes dances, etc., while I don't. She likes good times. What do you advise me to do? Unhappy."

It's a terrible reflection on a dad's part as a parent to be found in the position of having to ask his son if he might return home. It is, furthermore, a reflection on the man himself. What vices were chalked up against him by that son to permit the latter the whiphand over his father? The hint that son didn't like his father taking a drink may be the key to one vice, at least. In this day and age, taking a drink is viewed with tolerance by the great majority of young persons, for good or ill, as you choose. So that we read, between the lines, a good many drinks are at bottom of the domestic situation.

Even so, a young son [and this one must be 20, at most] is in no position financially or otherwise to dictate terms to his parent. That would be his mother's rôle, if any one's. The youth obviously has his mother eating out of hs hand, too, when she must petition him for his dad's return. It all sounds most unusual and a state of affairs that, perhaps, were better submitted to some legal aid society should the boy prove fractious.

It may be the result of mother setting the boy against his dad, as is sometimes perpetrated in homes. But until the son is in a position financially to assume the full burden of a father, his is not the rôle to dictate that father be kept outside of the home.

When you say "Bab-O" to your grocer you're saving money. Because Bab-O goes twice as far as ordinary coarse-grit cleansers—which only scour and scrape. That's why you use less Bab-O—and get faster results besides.

Coarse grit roughens, reddens hands. It scratches enamel surfaces of expensive stoves, bathtubs, sinks, refrigerators, etc. And that's where Bab-O saves again. Because Bab-O cleans with its grease-dissolving action that's easier on hands—completely safe to the finest porcelain enamel of expensive stoves and refrigerators.

If you use old-time scrubbing and scouring methods, switch to Bab-O. Get it at your grocer's today.

too, has met her sister's fiancé. The sisters are granddaughters of the late Rev. John W. Gaddis of Cincinnati, O., and the late George H. Jeffries of Charleston, Ill.

Mr. Crawfurd-Price is a graduate of Harrow, one of England's famous public schools, and is engaged in the advertising business in London. His father is the author of several books on the Balkans and was war correspondent for the London Times, and later foreign editor of the Sunday Times.

The wedding will take place shortly before the Christmas holidays, in Highland Park. The bridegroom will arrive about the middle of December, just a few days before the ceremony.

Marion Calkins Bride of Mr. Burgweger Today

Miss Marion Calkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Calkins of Hubbard Woods, will be married to Leonard Burgweger in a quiet home ceremony at 4:30 o'clock today. The Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard of Christ church, Winnetka, will read the service in the presence of the immediate families, and there will be a small reception at 5 o'clock.

The Calkins' children will be reunited on this occasion. Mrs. J. Fred Schoelkopf IV. [Patricia Calkins] and her husband have come from Buffalo; Miss Evelyn Calkins is here from New York, and Burnham Calkins is home from a European tour. Edward Isom of New York, formerly of Winnetka, is here for his niece's wedding. Mrs. Stuart Wilder Wells Jr. [Mary Cushman], a bride of the month, has come from Minneapolis to take part in the wedding festivities as well as to attend the wedding of her good friend. Another friend, Miss Jane Dahlman, has come from Milwaukee, and is staying with her sister, Mrs. Wilmarth Ickes.

Miss Calkins will be unattended at the ceremony. Francis Burgweger will be his brother's best man. After a wedding trip Mr. Burgweger and his bride will be at home in Winnetka. For something old this afternoon the bride is wearing some lace that is an heirloom in the bridegroom's family.

Comes Oct. 1 each year and away go the Virginia Hot Springs devotees who would let nothing short of illness keep them at home while the annual fall tennis and golf tournaments are being played at the Virginia spa. The tennis tournament begins next Monday and the golf tournament opens a week later.

Leaving today to enter the tennis play are Mrs. John T. Pirie Jr. and her brothers, Hoyt and Durand Smith; Mrs. Wyndham Hasler, and Scott Bromwell. Also going are Mrs. Pirie's and the Messrs. Smith's father, Franklin P. Smith; Mrs. Hasler's parents and sister, the George A. Ranneys and Mrs. Gaylord Donnelley; Mrs. Bromwell, Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney, and the Conway H. Olmsteds. The last named couple is not going by train, as are the others, for Mr. Olmsted flies his own plane and he and his wife will travel in it.

Mrs. Horace W. Armstrong and her daughter, Miss Jean, will go to Hot Springs in a few days.

Rufus C. Dawes Sail on Normandie Today.

When Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes return in six weeks from a trip abroad they will have crossed the Atlantic on two of the world's largest ships, the Normandie, in which they are sailing for France today, and the Queen Mary, in which they will sail home from England. Mr. Dawes' brother and sister-in-law, Gen. and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, sailed earlier this week on the Europa to be present at the dedication of the war memorial at Château Thierry next week. Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Dawes will join them for a similar ceremony at Versailles.

After visiting the Paris exposition and spending ten days in England the foursome will sail home together. Accompanying Gen. and Mrs. Dawes on the Europa is Gen. James G. Harbord, who is to speak at the Château Thierry ceremonies. The exposition will be of particular interest to Rufus Dawes, for it will be remembered that he was president of Chicago's A Century of Progress. The visit to England will have particular sentiment for Gen. and Mrs. Dawes, for he was United States ambassador at the Court of St. James's.

FRANCE BOOSTS '38 ARMS BUDGET TO 736 MILLIONS

Warns Europe of General Financial Catastrophe.

PARIS, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Finance Minister Georges Bonnet today presented a 1938 budget bill calling for a $101,900,000 increase in expenditures for armament but suggesting a move for armament reduction. The military budget, as outlined, totals $736,233,333.

The bill's preamble carried a warning that "under pain of general financial catastrophe" Europe may be forced to seek an agreement on armament limitation. Thus, it was stated, France may be able to "slacken the effort which she accepts at present to assure her security."

736 Million for Defense.

The budget draft, submitted to the chamber of deputies finance committee, proposed the $736,233,333 as the total national defense expenditures for 1938 in both ordinary and extraordinary budgets. Expenses in the ordinary budget are to be met by government receipts, and those in the extraordinary budget by borrowing.

The $736,233,333 compares with 1937 military expenditures totaling $634,333,333.

After consideration by the finance committee the budget will go to the chamber for debate when parliament reconvenes in the middle of November.

Cabinet Crisis Rumored.

Seriousness of the weight of armaments costs, through years of the depression from which France is still suffering, was reflected in rumors of a cabinet crisis. The low state of the franc aggravated the situation.

Premier Camille Chautemps held a long conference with Vincent Auriol, present minister of justice who was former Premier Leon Blum's minister of finance. President Albert LeBrun returned to Paris to talk with Chautemps. Blum, now vice premier, was due back from Prague tomorrow.

Conferences were arranged for members of the government before the council of ministers meets tomorrow with LeBrun.

May Close the Bourse.

There was a general but unconfirmed report that Chautemps and Bonnet had agreed to precede revaluation of the Bank of France's gold stock by setting a new parity for the franc in terms of dollars and pounds. It was reported that to give time for such revaluation, the government may order the bourse closed.

The 1938 ordinary budget [for normal expenditures in government and normal defense] anticipates a surplus of $53,400,000. Receipts were estimated at $1,792,700,000 and expenses at $1,739,300,000.

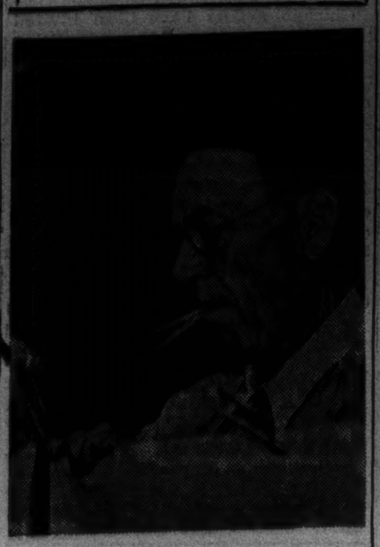
Fixed by Cabinet Decree.

This compared with the 1937 ordinary budget expenses of $1,604,866,666 and receipts of $1,333,333,333.

The 1938 extraordinary budget [for special expense and defense] was fixed in a cabinet decree at $566,666,666.

The budget bill said the ordinary surplus would be used to increase pay and pensions of government employés, leaving a total 1938 deficit from both ordinary and extraordinary budgets at about $566,666,666.

He Wins Alimony



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]
Elwin E. Pope hanging up the family washing yesterday.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Elwin E. Pope, who has kept house for his school teacher wife for six years, today put out the family wash, made the beds, and washed the dishes for the last time as he prepared to surrender the cottage to his mate under a court order awarding him $35 a month alimony.

His wife Ethel, employed in the Los Angeles elementary schools, has on file a suit for divorce. She charged he carried a bottle of whisky to bed with him nearly every night and then had nightmares. She also asserted he had not supported himself.

Pope, who is 69 years old, filed a cross complaint asking for temporary alimony, which was granted. He cited a "housekeeping pact" he entered into with the teacher before he married her in 1931, providing that he would do the "woman's work." He said his wife never cooked a meal and never complained about his housework.

Keeps Bedrooms Locked; She Loses Bar Permit

Belvidere, Ill., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—The license of the Glenview club, Boone county's brightest night spot, operated by Mrs. Betty Youngberg, was revoked today. Mrs. Youngberg, only woman tavern keeper in the county, was charged with refusing to allow members of the board to inspect locked bedrooms on a surprise visit recently in response to complaints.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Pheasants on Parade.

Sept. 30, 1937.

THE annual pheasant parade is now under way at the farm. The line of march for the smart ringnecks is from the heavy cover of the woods and thickets to the sunflowers and back. With the tall sunflower plants now losing their seeds it is evident the pheasants are not parading merely to let the sun shine on their richly tinted plumage. They know that when the sunflower heads begin to drop their seeds many a meal is available, so the ringnecks come out of hiding to enjoy extra desserts on their menu.

One of the men in the experimental plot remarked that practically every afternoon around 5 o'clock the pheasants sail over the road into the sunflower patch. After they have fed there the birds move on to another free cafeteria by visiting the rye field where there is grain for them.

Asters Tint the Landscape.

The mellow autumn sun has given the many asters on the farm a splendid opportunity to display their colors. The other day we saw hundreds of these flowers in blossom, all lending their rich purple and blue tints to the landscape.

Along one hedgerow the large New England aster, considered the most beautiful of all the species in Chicagoland, had teamed up with goldenrod, some white asters, and a few sumac plants to make a real autumn splash of color. The New England asters, with blossoms from one to two inches across, are mostly in the open. In the oak woods we found hundreds of the small violet and blue heart leaved asters which also are abundant on the farm.

The wild crabs are falling from the trees. Not all of them are reaching the ground, however. Some of them have fallen right into the cooking pots because the farm families have been busy making jelly and other delicacies from the wild fruit. But the season for these activities is just about over.

A Well Stocked Cellar.

An inspection tour through one of the fruit cellars to see what one family had stored away for the winter revealed a supply that was not only tempting but rather surprising in the number of wild fruits and berries that had been used. For example, there were jars of freshly made crab apple jelly, wild blackberries picked several weeks ago, peach conserve, apple sauce, and a dark, inviting combination of wild crabs and wild grapes—something new that one of the girls had tried for the first time. [Official tasters who know their way around a fruit cellar report this combination especially appetizing!]. Then there were jars of another new combination to make use of the big crop of wild crabs. These were filled with peaches in a wild crab apple base.

New Uses for Wild Fruits.

Two more experiments in using wild fruits are scheduled. Bright red haw berries [or thornapples] have been picked and will be converted into jelly. Then comes the innovation of a deep dish wild crab apple pie. Both sugar and honey will be used to sweeten it. One of the farm women made a pie this week with the wild crabs, but the family didn't vote it much of a success because not enough sugar was used. So the deep dish pie is going to get both honey and sugar for sweetening.

CUBS WIN, 4 TO 1; GIANTS CLINCH PENNANT

DEAL REDS 10TH DEFEAT IN ROW, SWEEP SERIES

Three Runs in Ninth Break Tie.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 30.—The Cubs tasted of victory again today, but it wasn't exactly sweet. They knocked off the Reds, 4 to 1, for a sweep of the four game series, but before the final out was made they knew that their pennant hopes had been definitly blasted. The scoreboard told them that New York's Giants had won to clinch their second successive National league championship.

The Cubs gained today's decision merely because the Reds appeared determined to carry their losing streak into ten straight. Joe Cascarella, the American league castoff, carried them along in a 1 to 1 tie for eight innings, but his mates finally fooled him. One of them, George Davis the ex-Giant, let a fly ball drop for a double in the ninth and three Cubs on bases at the time scooted home.

French's Sixteenth Victory.

Larry French pitched what probably will be his last battle of the year for the Cubs, and he was both good and fortunate. There were Red hits in every inning except two. But he might not have gone into the ninth with a 1 to 1 tie if the local performers had exercised a little caution on the bases. On two occasions they blasted promising rallies by trying to take in too much yardage on the base lines. It was French's sixteenth victory of the campaign.

Cascarella, who was pitching for his job and not to amuse 630 spectators, allowed the Cubs only nine hits, one of them an infield scratch and two of them because first base wasn't covered. And the hit that broke the tie in the ninth was the fourth fluke, Frank Demaree being the beneficiary. It gave him his second two bagger of the afternoon, leaving him four hits shy of his contemplated 200 hits for the season.

If It Only Had Ended in July!

The Cubs ran their race to the best of their ability, although last spring many picked them as pennant certainties. In face of a series of injuries they kept their noses above water, finally going into first place June 15.

The Chicago lead wasn't disturbed until July 14 when the Giants won and the Cubs lost, the former going to the top. The Cubs were back in the lead July 15 and for a month thereafter the big question wasn't whether Grimm's warriors would win the pennant, but whether they might pile up such a lead that spectator interest in the race would be ruined.

By this time the Cardinals, the tough team of the league, had shown that without Paul Dean to assist Dizzy Dean and Lon Warneke, they were hopeles. The Giants, having met with serious injuries such as the removal of Dick Bartell from shortstop, were apparently too weak to worry anybody. It was while the Giants were in this pitiful condition that the Cubs won five of six from them.

Once Seven Games Ahead.

Between July 23 when the Cubs started to take two of three from the Giants at New York and Aug. 1 when they finished a three game sweep against the same enemy in Chicago, the Cubs jumped from a two to a six game lead. On Aug. 3 they whipped the Phillies and increased their first place margin to seven games, which proved the high mark.

When the Cubs finished their home stand Aug. 15 they still had four games of their lead remaining. Then they went to Pittsburgh and Cincinnati before going into the east. The decline started at Pittsburgh,

State Is No Longer a Joke to Michigan

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

East Lansing, Mich., Sept. 30.—A score of years ago, when Michigan State college was known by the more descriptive but earthy name, Michigan Aggies, its football teams served only as preliminary practice foes for the perennial conqueror of the west, the University of Michigan. In those days the margin of defeat by the haughty Wolverines was all important, for thought of victory was presumptuous.

The Michigan Aggies had defeated Michigan in 1913 by one touchdown, and again in 1915, but these triumphs were all but forgotten during the list of 14 consecutive Michigan victories which began in 1916. In that list there were such humiliating scores as the 63 to 0 licking in 1922 and the 55 to 3 defeat four years later.

Man, What a Rout!

When Michigan wished to be particularly brutal in reference to its rival's impotence, the story of the 1902 game, when Michigan's men ran until exhausted as they piled up 119 points, was recalled.

As State became more powerful, acquiring financial aid from the legislature, and expanded its curriculum and enrollment, which now has reached a record of 5,200 students, its football teams aspired to an incredible goal, victory over Michigan. In 1930 and 1931, championship years for Michigan, Michigan State played scoreless ties with the Wolverines.

Persistent effort was rewarded three years ago when the Spartans crashed through Michigan's men for a 16 to 0 victory. This triumph was bulwarked by a 25 to 6 victory in 1935 and a 21 to 7 victory last fall.

Get Big Chance Saturday.

Saturday at Ann Arbor, Michigan State has the opportunity to become the first team in gridiron history to whip the University of Michigan four consecutive times.

This is the lure which will send nearly all of Michigan State's students to Ann Arbor. Backing these will be 15,000 alumni and partisan supporters who have established a record ticket sale here in the last few days.

Last year, 45,000 saw Michigan State win. This year it is predicted that a near capacity throng of 72,000 will see this battle for state supremacy.

State's graduation into the select group of the nation's major elevens may be dated from 1929 when Jimmy Crowley became head football coach. This position has been solidified in the four year régime of the present coach, Charley Bachman. In these years Michigan State has won 24 games, tied four and lost six. This season Michigan State will travel 9,000 miles and from New York to San Francisco to fulfill its nine game schedule.

The football successes of these coaches have been made possible to a large degree by the active supervi-

CONGRATULATIONS to the Giants! . . . They had it under pressure. . . . In the first game of a double-header at the Polo Grounds Monday a question came up as to whether Johnny Lanning had trapped or caught an intended bunt. . . . The umpire at the plate said he couldn't tell from where he was standing and referred it to the umpire at first, who passed the buck to the umpire at second. . . . Fortunately four umpires were working the game, so the umpire at second passed it on to the one at third, who was Bill Klem. . . . Bill's eyes may be watery, but he wouldn't admit he hadn't seen the play. . . . Without hesitation he said Lanning had caught the ball one-sixteenth of an inch off the top of the tallest blade of grass. . . . Indiana university, engaging in a press agent battle with Purdue, points to its football roster, on which only 12 of 41 players are from outside Indiana, and Purdue's roster of 72, of which 39 are from out of the state. . . . The service charge on free tickets for Mike Jacobs' recent Carnival of Champions in New York is said to have netted the impresario $6,500, although he usually gives the impression he has just swallowed a dram of vinegar every time he lets loose a pair of Annie Oakleys. . . . Nick Cutlich and Frank Young, sophomore rivals for the left tackle position on Northwestern's football team, were finalists in the intramural heavyweight wrestling tournament last winter. . . . Cutlich, who hails from East Chicago, defeated Young, a former Oklahoma high school champion. . . . Gabby Hartnett is a genius at cleaning up smutty stories so they will get by in any parlor. . . .

Willard Cramer, one of the leading contenders for tackle at Illinois, is a graduate of Austin High school, Chicago, but never played on the football team there. . . . Prof. Herbert Blumer, University of Chicago line coach and a member of the sociology faculty at the Midway, is the author of volumes on the emotional effect of movies on children. . . . He also has done research work in Paris on the sociology of fashions. . . . Sam Chapman, California leading back, was coached in high school by Roy Riegels, the man who ran the wrong way in the 1929 Rose Bowl game. . . . The American league staf of officials will head for the world series today. . . . Miss Dorothy P. Hummel, secretary, and Edward Lehman, auditor, will leave this afternoon. . . . President William Harridge, Henry Edwards, director of the service bureau, and L. C. McEvoy, radio supervisor, will go tomorrow. . . . The Cleveland Rams are asking waivers on Carl Brumbaugh, quarter back recently acquired from the Bears. . . . Bill McKechnie of the Bees has the inside track on the Cincinnati management job. . . .

Yankees Proud of Cold Figures on Outfielders

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 30.—The Yanks today must have been studying the percentage tables of their outfielders as contrasted with the outfielders of the Giants. At least, they were in a rather gloaty frame of mind as they went about their business of playing the innocent A's today; so smug, in fact, that they looked like bushers in the first game, which they dropped, 8 to 3. The New Yorkers also lost the second game, 6 to 3, called after seven innings because of darkness. It was the first double-header lost by the Yankees in 21 they have played this year.

Bump Hadley, who won the third game of the world series last year, 2 to 1, though he yielded 10 hits in the eight innings he worked, was the loser in the first game today. It was Bump's third straight defeat and probably cost him the privilege of starting the No. 3 engagement, the first at the Polo Grounds, in the 1937 world series. Monte Pearson, who won the fourth game of the world series last fall, 5 to 2, moved up on the dopesters' lists as Hadley faded. Pearson has been out the greater part of the season with a sore arm, but recently has been in form.

Outfields Are Contrasted.

But we were saying—the Yanks' careless manners might have been traceable to perusal of the big edge the season figures give them in the outfield, according to official figures released today.

Here is the old overconfidence inspirer:

Of course, the standout of the whole set of outfielders is Joe Di Maggio, who is completing his second year in the majors and will be playing in his second world series. Joe batted .346 in the world series last year, which is within two points of his present total for the waning championship season.

Di Maggio will be one of the major points of fan interest in the series, no matter what he does, but some of the more ardent Yank fans are expressing alarm at Joe's, as well as all the Yanks' recent showings against left-handed pitching. Though Joe is a right-handed batter, such lefties as Joe Krakauskas and Edgar Smith have given him as well as his mates much misery. Krakauskas held the Yanks to one run Tuesday in Wash-

Allen Celebrates 32d Birthday with 15th in Row.

John Thomas Allen of the Lenoir, N. C., Allens, yesterday celebrated his 32d birthday in fine style by pitching his 15th consecutive victory of the 1937 season in subduing the White Sox at Comiskey park. The triumph was not only a birthday gift, but also served to settle a score dating back to Sept. 6, 1936, when he lost his last game to Monte Stratton and the Sox on the south side premises.

John Allen.

Following that defeat, Johnny won two more games before the conclusion of the season. Thus, his chain of victories properly is seventeen in a row.

Whether or not Allen will tie the American league record of 16 consecutive victories in a row rests with himself, Manager Steve O'Neil of the Indians, and, of course, the Detroit Tigers, with whom the Indians will wind up their season with single games at Detroit tomorrow and Sunday. If Allen pitches the Sabbath game, he will have had only 48 hours rest.

The American league record is shared jointly by Smoky Joe Wood of Boston, Walter Johnson of Washington, Lefty Grove of Philadelphia, and Schoolboy Rowe of Detroit. Wood and Johnson completed their spans in 1912, while Grove turned the trick for the A's in 1931 and Rowe for the Tigers in 1934.

Allen's early season career this year was interrupted by an appendectomy.

SOX MEET ALLEN, AND FELLER; LOSE TWICE, 6-4, 4-1

Young Cleveland Star Strikes Out 11.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The 5,000 clients who journeyed out to Comiskey park yesterday to watch the White Sox make their last 1937 exit left the premises in a melancholy state as the result of the afternoon's double-header with the Cleveland Indians, both ends of which the Sox surrendered, to reduce their third place advantage over the Indians to a game and a half.

The first game saw Johnny Allen pitch his fifteenth consecutive victory of the year for the Indians as he restricted the Sox to seven hits in winning, 6 to 4. Ted Lyons yielded all of the Cleveland runs on eight hits in the five innings he worked. It was the veteran's seventh defeat of the season.

Feller Fans Eleven.

The Sox yielded the second game, an eight inning duel terminated by darkness, to young Robert Feller, who thus accounted for his ninth 1937 triumph. In putting together a 4 to 1 decision, Robert struck out eleven batters while allowing only seven hits. The Cleveland attack centered on Vern Kennedy in the first inning, where in three hits, including Moose Solters' 20th home run with two on, and a walk resulted in Cleveland's entire total.

The Sox will conclude the season with a single game at St. Louis tomorrow and a double-header Sunday. If Cleveland should take its two remaining games with Detroit the Sox must win at least one from the Browns to gain a tie for third place. John Whitehead is expected to pitch the opener tomorrow.

FIRST GAME

The Indians went to work on Lyons early, scoring two runs in the first inning of the first game. Lary walked and went to second on Kroner's single. Averill attempted to bunt, but fouled to Sewell. Trosky then doubled along the left field line, scoring Lary and Kroner.

The Sox counted in the second inning. Radcliff tripled to the left field corner and went home while Kroner was tossing out Appling.

The score became 5 to 1 in the Indians' third. Lary touched it off with a double, going to third on Kroner's sacrifice. Averill walked and Trosky doubled to left, Lary scoring and Averill going to third. The latter and Trosky crossed the plate on Solters' single.

Another Cleveland Run.

A walk and a hit yielded another Cleveland run in the fifth. Kroner drew the pass and was forced by Averill, Bonura to Appling. Trosky struck out, but Solters pounded a triple to the center field boards, scoring Averill. Campbell then fouled to Bonura.

Rigney relieved Lyons at the start of the Cleveland sixth, and Haas went to first, Bonura having been injured in forcing Kroner out in the fifth.

Kreevich touched off the Sox sixth with a triple to left center, scoring on Walker's long fly. The Sox made two runs in the seventh. Conners was safe on Lary's fumble, and Sewell advanced him to second with a single. Rosenthal batting for Rigney, struck out. Conners went to third on Hayes' fly to Campbell and Kreevich walked to fill the bases. Walker drove a single into right, scoring Conners and Sewell. Campbell's throw-in sailed over Pytlak's head, but Allen retrieved the ball and tossed to Pytlak to get Kreevich at the plate. Mike's howls over the decision by Umpire Ormsby were so heated that he was ejected.

C. Brown was the Sox pitcher in the eighth, Rosenthal taking Kreevich's post in center.

Great Stretch Drive Is Rewarded.

Their Record

THE New York Giants have won fifteen National league championships. Previous years in which they won pennants and their record in world series follow:

1888—No world series.
1889—No world series.
1904—No world series.
1905—Beat Athletics, 4 games to 1.
1911—Lost to Athletics, 4 games to 2.
1912—Lost to Red Sox, 4 games to 3 [one game tie].
1913—Lost to Athletics, 4 games to 1.
1917—Lost to White Sox, 4 games to 2.
1921—Beat Yankees, 5 games to 3.
1922—Beat Yankees, 4 games to none [one game tie].
1923—Lost to Yankees, 4 games to 2.
1924—Lost to Senators, 4 games to 3.
1933—Beat Senators, 4 games to 1.
1936—Lost to Yankees, 4 games to 2.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 30.—(AP)—The New York Giants clinched the National league pennant today. They won their fifteenth league championship, their second in a row, and their third in five years under Manager Bill Terry, by taking the opening game of a double-header from the Phillies, 2 to 1.

Carl Hubbell.

To Carl Hubbell, their southpaw star, went the honor of winning the deciding game. Hubbell yielded only five hits and had a shutout until Dolph Camilli knocked a homer with two out in the ninth inning. It was Hubbell's twenty-second victory of the year against eight defeats. In the second game, fielding a makeshift team, the Giants were beaten, 6 to 2.

By taking their fifteenth pennant the Giants broke a tie with the Chicago Cubs in number of championships won. They qualified for their twelfth world series, three more than the New York Yankees, their rivals in the 1937 classic which gets under way next Wednesday at Yankee stadium. By winning the forthcoming series they can tie the Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics at five each for the most world championships.

They Know How to Carry On.

A fighting club in August, just as last year, and a sturdy campaigning outfit in September, particularly on their last western swing, the Giants came through in the pinch.

They started up the road back from third place on July 26. Since then they have won 60 games and lost only 30. On Aug. 10, when the Cubs' pennant hopes virtually were killed through a fractured ankle suffered by their first baseman, Rip Collins, the Giants were six games behind.

They kept on coming, however, and finally took over first place for keeps Sept. 1. Holding the lead by the slim margin of a game and a half, they headed west for their final swing in mid-September. Out of eleven games they won eight. Most important development of this trip was the two out of three they took from the Chicago Cubs.

A Victory for Terry.

The pennant comes as a personal victory for Manager Bill Terry. He wasn't on hand for today's proceedings—influenza keeping him in his room in New York—but his guidance, even to selecting Hubbell to pitch the pennant winner, has played the most important part in the New Yorkers' conquest.

When Lou Chiozza failed to fill in at third base Terry reached into his hat and pulled out Mel Ott, an all

Cubs to Decide Today if They Will Meet Sox

Whether the Cubs will play the Sox in the city series will be decided definitly today by P. K. Wrigley, owner of the National league club, it was announced yesterday following the New York Giants' victory over the Philadelphia Phillies which clinched the pennant. Cub officials said decision was being withheld pending Manager Charley Grimm's arrival in the city today. Previously Wrigley announced there would be no city series, but indications yesterday were that he is changing his mind.

Harry Grabiner, vice president of the Sox, expressed willingness to meet the Cubs. The Sox, who will close their American league schedule with three games against the St. Louis Browns this week-end, defeated the Cubs in the spring series, six games to five.

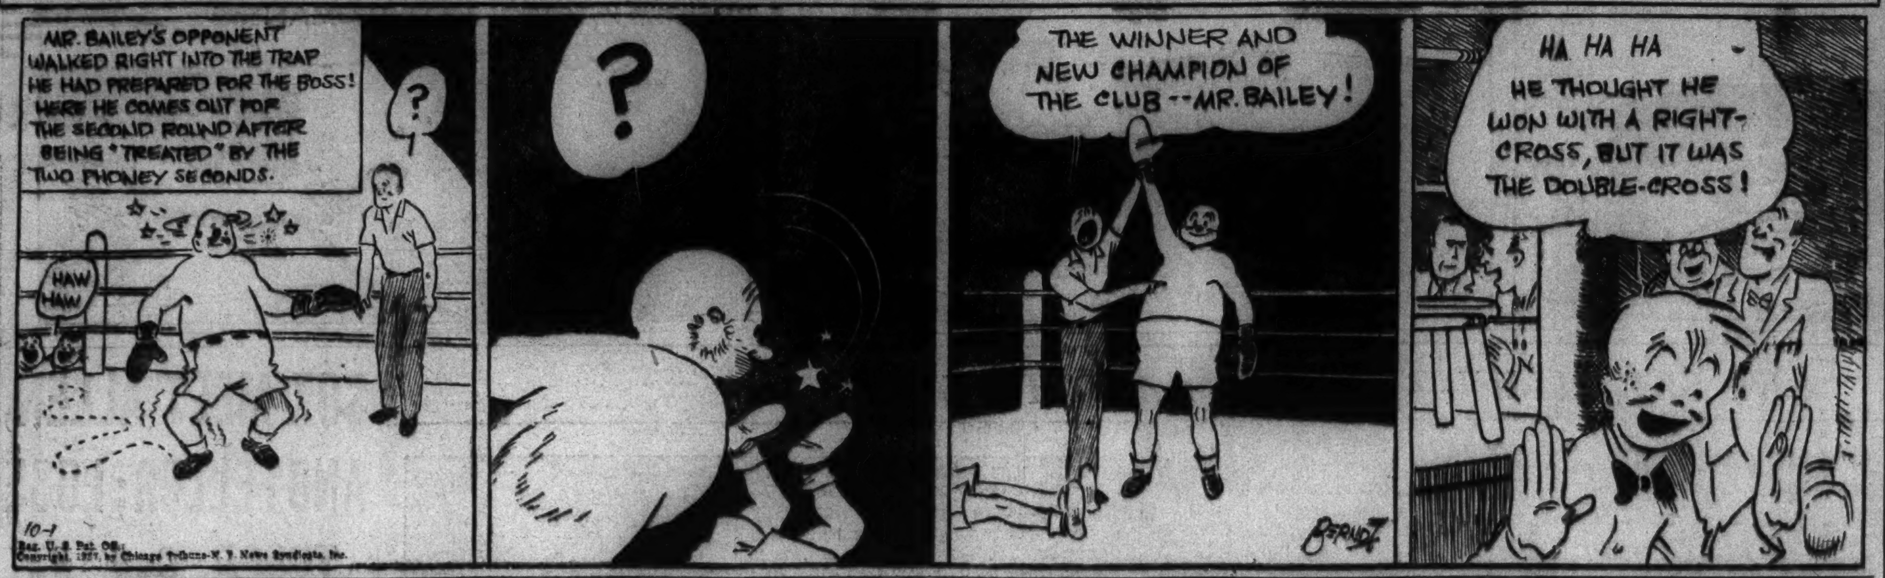
SMILIN' JACK—TWO LOVES

SMITTY—THE NEW CHAMP



Cubs Sweep Reds' Series; French Wins

was fought off in Cincinnati, but it was encountered again in New York. The Giants, rehabilitated by the return of Bartell, and the placing of Mel Ott on third were on their way by now. They took the Cubs for a double-header, leaving the latter two games ahead. In the first of these two battles the Cubs' infield collapsed in the ninth inning, the Giants scoring five runs. Grimm's boys weren't the same thereafter.

Giants Cling to Lead.

The hold on first place was maintained until Aug. 30 when the Cubs were idle and the Giants won. On Aug. 31 they returned to the top and on Sept. 1 went into second place by two points as the result of a defeat at Brooklyn. Thereafter the Giants held on to the lead.

The Cubs fixed up a one run lead for themselves on two hits in the first inning of today's game. After two were out Demaree jarred the left field fence with a two base drive, missing a homer only by inches. Demaree dashed to the plate on O'Dea's single into center. The third out was attained on Cavarretta's fly to Goodman.

Reds Tie Score.

Two were out in the fourth when the Reds tied the score. Kampouris tripled into right center field and crossed the plate as Myers beat out a grounder to Frey.

The ninth in which Cascarella had to take an undeserved knockout began with a pass to Galan, who was forced by Frey. French bunted in front of the plate, but when Lombardi started to throw to first he noticed the base wasn't covered. The oversight gave French his second hit. Hack flied out and Herman walked, filling the bases. Demaree then lofted to left for what should have been the third out. Just as G. Davis was about to make the catch he pulled away because Cuyler was in the vicinity. The result was a two base hit on which Frey, French, and Herman hiked home.

Cubs to Return Today for Last Games of Season

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 30.—The Cubs went home tonight for their season's final series, starting tomorrow with the Cardinals at Wrigley field. Bill Lee will pitch the opener, Manager Grimm's desire to start Rookie Higbe being impossible because the Cards are in a fight for third place.

During the pre-game batting prictice today, Bill Jurges plunked Tuck Stainback on the foot with a pitched ball and rendered him unfit for action. This forced Peg Leg Rip Collins to return to first base, Cavaretta moving to Stainback's center field berth.

Tex Carleton, who won his sixteenth game yesterday, was permitted to start for Chicago this noon in the company of Charles Root. Carleton has a severe cold.

LOUIS SAYS HE'LL QUIT RING AFTER SCHMELING FIGHT

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Joe Louis, world's heavyweight champion, today said he will retire from the ring after his title bout with Max Schmeling next June. The former Golden Gloves champion, who stopped here with his softball team, said he had enough money to retire.

"What's the use of fighting after a fellow's won the championship?" he asked. "Whether I win or lose, I'm going to quit after the Schmeling fight."

Sox Encounter Allen, Feller and Lose Two

lined to Rosenthal, Averill singled off Appling's glove. Lary scored on Trosky's hit to center and Solters then drove Averill and Trosky in with his 20th home run, a smash to the left field lower deck.

In the Sox second, Feller fanned Radcliff, Appling, and Haas. Conners got the first Sox hit in the third, a double along the third base line. Feller then fanned Rensa and Kennedy and Hayes lined to Campbell. Feller gave the customers quite a show in the Sox fifth. Appling walked, Haas singled, and then Conners drew a walk, filling the bases. Feller then struck out Rensa and Pinch Batter Bonura and the excitement ended when Hale threw out Hayes.

Stratton came in for the Sox in the eighth, making his second appearance since Aug. 5. Trosky greeted him with a single, but Solters and Campbell flied out, and Hale struck out after Trosky had stolen second.

The Sox put on a one run uprising in the eighth. Hayes singled through Kroner, but was forced by Rosenthal. Walker bunted safely and Rosenthal scored on Radcliff's single to right. Radcliff was forced by Appling, and Haas flied to Solters.

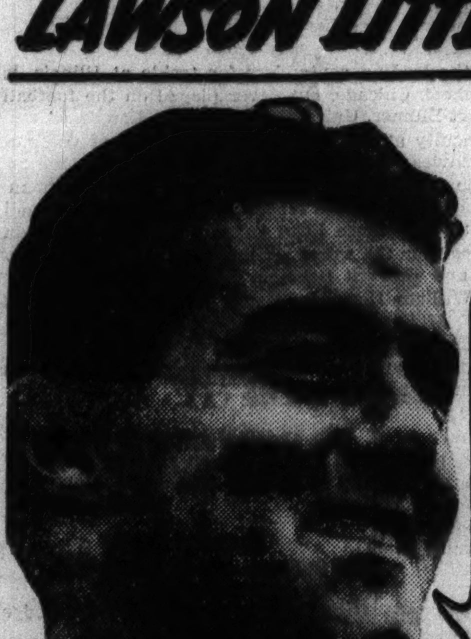
LAWSON LITTLE SAYS:



I NEVER COULD SEEM TO GET A REALLY CLEAN SHAVE UNTIL I STARTED USING WILLIAMS "TWIN-ACTION" SHAVING CREAM

WINNER of British and U.S. Amateur Golf titles, Lawson Little gets better shaves with Williams. He and thousands of other tough-bearded men know how this famous cream knocks the "starch" out of stiff, wiry whiskers.

If you have razor trouble . . . if your beard is heavy . . . if shaving irritates the tender skin on your face—try Williams for quick relief. Williams thick, wet lather soaks and softens the outer skin. Allows your blade to skim swiftly over your face. Each hair is sheared off close to the base without scraping. In the last Chicago series Terry realized another left handed batter would help the attack considerably and that the outfield could stand lots more speed. So he shifted Chiozza to the outfield and it now looks as though the former Phillies player will get lots of work in the world series.

YANKEES PROUD OF COLD FIGURES ON OUTFIELDERS

They're Smug as They Lose 2 Games to A's.

ington and Smith shut them out on one hit yesterday.

And with that Hubbell and Melton menace coming up the Yanks aren't so happy about the lefthanded business.

George Selkirk's return to right field last week after seven weeks of idleness because of an injured shoulder, has lifted the Yankee potentialities immeasurably. A great player of exceptional power, is Selkirk. His throwing may be hampered a little, but not seriously.

Myril Hoag will play left field and it's about time he's earning some of that split. Myril has cut a full share in three Yankee world series and the only thing he ever did was run once for Babe Ruth in the 1932 world series with the Cubs. Hoag is about the only Yank who hasn't been pestered by lefties. His mark against all pitching is .303 but he has socked the ball at .340 against the lefties.

Bats .455 in Last Series.

Jake Powell batted .455 in the world series last year to lead both teams in hitting. But Jake is not expected to play any but emergency rôles this year.

Tommy Henrich is not in the best physical shape but will be ready to take a hand if any of the starters fall down.

Joe Moore is a headlong player who likes to play when the going is tough. He is perhaps the Giants' best outfielder, now that they've made a third baseman out of Mel Ott. He batted .214 in the series last fall. He, like all the Giants, has been very hot lately. Bill Turner stopped a 20 game hitting streak for Joe in the Giants last game at the Polo Grounds.

Lieber, Berger Long Range Hitters.

Leiber, Berger, and Chiozza all are well under the .300 mark, but Leiber and Berger are long range shooters, dangerous along the short foul lines which prevail at both world series parks. Chiozza has been one of the Giants' red hot players since his transfer to center field from third base.

In Di Maggio and Moore the world series will display two of the best throwers in the majors. They should produce many a thrill in the spacious outfields when the hitting is away from the ridiculous foul line territory.

Tomorrow's game is to be a world series pitching preview with Gomez taking his last shot before the big show next Wednesday. Early this afternoon Gomez underwent an experience new to his major league career. He was chased off the bench by Umpire Bill Summers. El Goofy said after his banishment that he had sought only to engage in a little pleasant chit-chat with Summers when Bill up and ordered him off the grounds, the first time Lefty ever had been bounced.

3 Networks to Broadcast World Series

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The world series is to be thrown open this year for broadcasting by all networks and all stations. Representatives of the three major networks met with Commissioner K. M. Landis yesterday to discuss plans for airing the baseball classic next week. While no announcement was forthcoming from the commissioner's office it was learned that the general plan of the years preceding Henry Ford's sponsorship of the series will be adhered to.

Under this arrangement the series broadcasts were made available to the major networks with the proviso that the broadcasts be given to any station which requested them, subject, of course, to assuming the cost of special facilities involved.

While all network representatives attending the session declined to discuss what happened at the session, it was learned that the baseball commissioner requested the submission of prospective announcers and commentators. Following a scrutiny of these an announcement of details on the series broacasts is expected from baseball headquarters.

The decision to throw the series open to one and all was reached, it is reported, when no advertiser came forward with the $100,000 sought for exclusive broadcasting privileges. The Ford company had sponsored the games for three years.

Bears Crush Austin, 47-0, Before 5,000

The busy Chicago Bears went to work again last night, routing the Austin Bears, 47 to 0, at Mills stadium before 5,000. One more game remains on the professional club's exhibition schedule before it opens its home National Professional league campaign against the Cardinals at Wrigley field on Oct. 17.

The National leaguers wasted little time producing touchdowns last night. Shortly after the game started Beattie Feathers passed 35 yards to John Bettridge, formerly of Ohio State, who ran eight yards for the score. Sam Francis plunged two yards for the second touchdown.

In the third period the pro Bears began to click again. They drove 75 yards to Austin's 3 yard line, whence Feathers carried it over. Later in the quarter the Bears' long passer, John [Bull] Doehring, tossed the ball 15 yards to Lester McDonald, for another touchdown.

Early in the fourth quarter Ray Nolting plunged three yards for one score, passed 18 yards to Richard Plasman for another, and then intercepted an Austin pass and ran 35 yards for the third touchdown of the period.

Pug Rentner, former Northwestern half back, who came to the Bears yesterday in the trade for Vern Oech with the Cleveland Rams, appeared in the starting lineup. The lineups:

Plasman	L. E.	Selatta

When it comes to creating sports wear, West-Coast collegians are in a class alone. Perhaps the wide open spaces are responsible for the swing and dash they get into their clothes. But whatever the reason, you'll agree that these new sweaters have what it takes. Because they have rugged, broad-shouldered lines . . . because their sports-backs give them a hefty look . . . because the two-tone effect of sleeves and chest is entirely new . . . because they are fleecy and warm . . . because they're the swellest sweaters you've seen in many a day, Bond is playing them in a big way. Blue and grey, green and grey, brown and camel—$1.95, that's all! Now's the time to really enjoy one of these huskies, and Bond's is the place to get it, for less money!

"Charge it" the Bond way and pay weekly or twice a month. It costs nothing extra, here!

WILLIAMS BOUT TOPS TONIGHT'S BOXING PROGRAM

Meets Remo Fernandez at White City.

Holman Williams, Detroit welterweight who stopped Gillito Ramirez a week ago, will have stronger opposition in Remo Fernandez of Los Angeles in a ten round bout tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. In his Chicago debut on Aug. 2 Remo fought eight rounds to a draw with Frankie Sagillio. Lem Franklin, Golden Gloves product from Cleveland, will make his second professional appearance in a six round secondary feature against Lou Campbell. The match will be Campbell's second pro start. Last October Campbell was stopped by Joe Louis in three rounds at South Bend, Ind. Other matches:

Harold Ullmer, Milwaukee, vs. Jack Fargo, Winnetka [6], heavyweights.

Tony Musto, Blue Island, vs. Perk Daniels [5], heavyweights.

Georgie White, Franklin Park, vs. Don White, Argo [4], welterweights.

Amateur contests will be held tonight at Northwest stadium's indoor club, 3968 Milwaukee avenue; Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street, and Columbia hall, 48th street and Damen avenue.

Harry Thomas yesterday was given a rest from training for his ten round fight with Max Marek at Chicago Stadium next Wednesday on advice of his physician. Thomas received a cut on his eyelid during a workout Wednesday. He will resume sparring drills this afternoon at Trafton's gymnasium.

Nate Lewis, manager of Thomas, showed that he is not worrying about Thomas' eye cut by signing to have him meet Otis Thomas at St. Louis Oct. 22.

Steve Karas, South Bend middleweight, managed by Ross Mullen, is matched to meet Tony Zale of Gary in a four round preliminary to the ten round topliner between Milt Aron and Chuck Woods at Marigold Gardens Monday. . . . Bill Weidner, Glendale, Cal., heavyweight wrestler, yesterday agreed to oppose Al Williams in one of two encounters featuring the program at White City Monday. Zack Malkov and Charley [Gorilla] Grubmyer are paired in the other. . . . Glen Oak Wins Team Title in District Golf

Glen Oak won the team championship of the Chicago District Golf association yesterday over the Edgewood Valley course with 36 points. The North Shore team finished second with 30. Olympia Fields was third with 22½ and Brier Hill fourth with 19½.

These four teams were the champions of their respective districts for the summer's schedule.

Oscar Miller was the leader in points won for Glen Oak, scoring 8 out of a possible 9. George Dawson got 7½ and also the low medal score of 74. Johnny Morrell and Lee Robley added 6 each, Dr. H. K. Nicol 5, and Walter Corbly 3½. Two others, Ben Langill of North Shore and Fred Schulsz of Olympia Fields, scored 8 points.

None of the players, with the exception of Dawson, came near par. Jack Horner had a 77 for second low, while Johnny Morrell took 44 going out and cut 10 strokes off this on the back nine to get his 78.

ROSALIND TIES A RECORD SET BY GREYHOUND

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Rosalind bettered and equaled several trotting records in capturing the 48th running of the $2,000 Transylvania at today's Grand Circuit.

Her three heats in 2:02, 2 minutes, and 1:59¼ tied Greyhound's time for a three heat race made last year at Goshen. The second heat equaled the world's record for a 4 year old filly, held jointly by Miss Bertha Hanover, Tara and Calumet Evelyn. Rosalind's time for the final heat then gave the four year old a clear title.

Driven by Ben White, Rosalind also became the second trotter in history to win both the Kentucky Futurity and Transylvania. She is owned by Gibson B. White of Lexington.

BASQUE AND GIRL TRAINER WIN FOR GALS AT $23.20

Filly Scores by Head Over Dolly Val.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The women did all the celebrating again at the Hawthorne race course yesterday afternoon.

Miss Hambla Bauer, the trainer from San Francisco, started her 2 year old colt Basque, son of Whichone-Basquaiso, in the Peep-O-Day purse, the day's feature race. Miss Bauer, Basque, or the ideal weather was responsible for the largest week's crowd of the Hawthorne season. And a large percentage of the spectators were women. They didn't do much speculating until the feature race came up.

Then the bombardment started in the pari-mutuel betting department. The gals all wanted tickets on Basque. Their boy friends wagered on Woodsaw, Lillian Roth, and two or three others.

Lillian Isn't in Running Mood.

They paid off on Basque after the women folks had given the California 2 year old a noisy greeting when he got the decision by a head in a camera eye finish. Dolly Val finished second and Woodsaw was third. The red hot tip Lillian Roth, regarded as possible champion last spring wasn't in a running mood at all. She wasn't able to get any part of the money.

Basque's horde of woman backers didn't find anything to grow wildly excited about during the early stages of the 5½ furlongs dash. Basque was running sixth in the eight horse field. He was nearly eight lengths behind Woodsaw and Puddin, which were fighting it out gallantly for the right to make the pace.

Their eagerness to get out in front and stay there killed them both off. Their strides began to shorten soon after the stretch run started. Miss Pitty Pat was the first to pick them up. Basque began to move forward at about the same time. Jocky Phillips had him out in the middle of the track.

He gained ground at every stride during the last furlong then got up just in time to get the decision. Dolly Val moved forward to take down second money. Woodsaw hung on long enough to be third.

Finally the mutuel betting prices went up. Basque rewarded all the women who backed him at the rate of $23.20 for a $2 ticket.

27th Victory for Ryan.

The Porter purse at a mile and three-sixteenths served as the secondary feature. The winner was the stoutly backed six year old Mindreader.

Confidently ridden by Jocky Paul Ryan, who was hanging up his 27th triumph of the Hawthorne season, he closed lots of ground on a game run in the stretch. He got to the line of finish in time to beat Two Sons by a length and a quarter. Chatterfol finished third.

Mindreader paid off at $4.40.

The mutuel play at Hawthorne yesterday which was right around the $300,000 mark, made it the best week-day of the meeting. The previous top was $290,000 set the afternoon before. Thus the fourth week of the meeting, exceeding the others, makes it certain the betting for the twenty-four days will approximate 7½ million dollars, an average of $312,500 per day.

The Hawthorne handicap, one of the two closing day features tomorrow, may bring out one of the largest stake fields of the meeting. A dozen route runners are preparing for the mile and a sixteenth engagement. They include Cascabelito, the Argentine colt; Our Count and Rushaway, both stake winners this year; Prince Torch, Visigoth, Flint Shot, Grey Streak, Watersplash, Conrad Mann, Miss Saxon, Desgai, and Sir Midas.

The shorter John S. Schank Memorial handicap at six furlongs figures to attract nine of the better sprinters, three of which, Bien Fait, Silverette, and Reaping, already have won six furlong stakes recently. The other likely starters are Sargazo, Cascabelito's stablemate, and Transmutable, Miss Dolphin, Isaiah, Boston Sound and Black River.

JULIA GRANT, never a great distance back and taken through several openings to reach the outside on the stretch turn, closed with determination under strong riding and, wearing down BEDIGHT, was beginning to draw out. Latter, raced wide from the start and in hand for a half mile, held on well after taking command but failed to hold the winner. OTTERROP met repeated interference when racing between horses in the early stages, came out in the stretch and, while slow to respond, came with a rush in the last eighth and bore over near the end.

Time, :23 1-5, :46 4-5, 1:12 2-5, 1:19 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Zorana, $7.80 straight, $5.00 place, $3.40 show; Dark Seeker, $6.20 place, $4.00 show; Red Flyer, $3.00 show. Winner trained by P. Hinphy. Went to post at 2:26. At post 3 minutes. Start bad from gate. Won driving, place same.

ZORANA, lucky and well in hand for a half mile, came through on the inside in the stretch and, making a determined finish, outgamed DARK SEEKER in the closing strides. Latter, raced wide and probably best, was under a snug hold until reaching the final quarter, took command without need of strong urging and, inclined to loaf in the last sixteenth, failed to withstand the winner. RED FLYER received a hustling ride and weakened in the last eighth.

THIRD RACE—Three-quarters of a mile. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

BE BLUE, on the outside throughout, forced the pace under restraint, suffered light interference from PELTER as the latter came out soon after reaching the stretch, took a short lead when urged and weakened in the late stages, but lasted. PELTER made the early pace easily, swerved out entering the stretch and failed to hold the winner, yet held on with good courage and was gaining at the end. SHE'S RIGHT could not get to the leaders, yet held on well, showing a good effort.

ORTHODOX drew into command early after three-eighths, saved ground on the stretch turn, was shaken up in the final eighth and held his advantage but won with little left. ME O MY, a factor from the start, was under strong pressure the final quarter and held on gamely. CHIPETA, not hurried in the early stages, swung to the outside in the stretch and closed fastest of all.

FIFTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $900. Net value to winner, $650; second, $150; third, $75; fourth, $25.

Time, :23 2-5, :47, 1:00 2-5, 1:06 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Basque, $23.20 straight, $9.20 place, $5.60 show; Dolly Val, $6.40 place, $4.20 show; Woodsaw, $4.20 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 3:50. At post ½ minute. Start good from gate. Won driving, place same.

BASQUE began slowly, was taken out after reaching the turn, came with fine belated speed when straightened in the stretch and outfinished DOLLY VAL. Latter raced wide early, but saving some ground on the turn, improved her position with a rush when racing wide in the stretch and held on well but was not good enough. WOODSAW took command gradually, opened up a commanding lead in the stretch, but weakened badly in the last eighth.

SIXTH RACE—Mile and three-sixteenths. Claiming. Three year olds and up. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $75; fourth, $25.

MINDREADER stumbled when he struck KNEE ACTION'S heels near the first turn, was allowed to remain far out of it for almost three-quarters, saved ground on the stretch turn and, closing strongly after coming out in the final quarter, got up in the last fifty yards, winning in hand. TWO SONS, rated under strong reserve for seven-eighths, got to the front in the drive and held on well but was not good enough. CHATTERFOL, well rated in the pacemaking, began to weaken after a mile.

CAPTAIN JINKS, away fast, was taken under restraint after a quarter while making the pace, was mildly shaken up entering the stretch and to a sharp drive the final eighth and won with little left. RADIO HOUR, a factor from the start and in hand for about three-quarters, was placed to strong pressure the final quarter and, finishing gamely, was gradually getting to the winner. HILSINGER followed the pace under light restraint and held on well.

PRINCE HEATHER, a factor from the start, was taken in hand while racing close up, was placed to strong pressure the final three-eighths, and weakened in the final furlong.

STARTING LINEUP IS PICKED BY N. U. FOR IOWA STATE

Purple Ends Hard Drill for Opener Tomorrow.

Northwestern's football team concluded three weeks of intensive practice yesterday in preparation for the season opener against Iowa State at Dyche stadium tomorrow.

Coach Lynn Waldorf would not hazard a guess on the outcome of tomorrow's game other than to say that he thought the Wildcats' offense was in "pretty good shape," but that he couldn't say as much for the defense.

The Wildcat coaches have maintained a consistently pessimistic attitude over the defensive qualities of the squad. This view has been strengthened this week since a better organized freshman team has galloped through the varsity in an embarrassing fashion.

Coach Waldorf has nominated a starting lineup that includes six regulars and three reserves of the 1936 team and two sophomores. While not as heavy as last year's champions, this first string combination appears to possess more speed and versatility.

The back field veterans are Capt. Don Heap and Bernie Jefferson, half backs, and Fred Vanzo quarter back. Jack Ryan, a sophomore, has won the call at full back. The line has been built around three 1936 regulars, John Kovatch and Cleo Diehl, ends, and Bob Voigts, tackle. Erwin Wegner, center, and Dick Wells and Mike Calvano, reserves last season, and Nick Cutlich, a sophomore, make up the rest of the line.

27 CYCLONES TO MAKE TRIP.

Ames, Ia., Sept. 30.—(AP)—The Iowa State football squad will take off tomorrow night for Evanston, Ill., scene of its clash Saturday afternoon with the Northwestern university Wildcats. Coach Jim Yeager named 27 men to make the trip. The Cyclones confined their drill today to light exercises, with more of the same listed for tomorrow.

BURRIS REJOINS ILLINI.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Merlyn Burris, junior half back, returned to take part in the last hard workout of the Illini today in preparation for the De Paul game. Burris, who showed constant improvement as a B team player last season, has been disabled, but is expected to be a contender for a regular position.

There is no hope that Jay Wardley will be able to appear Saturday, and it is doubtful whether he will be ready for Notre Dame. All indications point to Jack Berner as the varsity pilot for some time at least.

Since De Paul plays the Notre Dame system, Zuppke has been, incidentally, preparing for the Irish also, but De Paul is held in such high regard that the coach has had to concentrate on this week's game.

DE PAUL IS READY.

Every member of the De Paul university football squad, except Clem Naughton, who is out with a broken nose, came through practice for the Illinois game tomorrow in good shape. This situation has relieved Coach Ben Connor, who is making his start as the De Paul coach.

Ben was reticent as to what type of a game his team would play. It is believed De Paul will resort to line plays because of Illinois' sophomore line. De Paul has some excellent ball carriers in Pat Howlett, Harry Postaer and Capt. Paul Mattei.

De Paul also is using inexperienced men in the line for the most part. Eight of last year's regulars received their diplomas last spring.

COLUMBUS BEATS NEWARK, 5 TO 4, IN 11 INNING BATTLE

Newark, N. J., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Columbus' Red Birds, champions of the American association, took a two game lead in the little world series tonight by beating the Newark Bears, wonder team of the International league, 5 to 4, in an eleven inning battle. The score duplicated that of the opening game yesterday. The crowd totaled 17,347, bringing attendance for the two games to 23,717.

Tonight's game was marked by shabby fielding. The Bears made five errors to help along Columbus' ten hits, while the Red Birds were charged with three.

Three pitchers worked out for each team, credit for the victory finally going to Bill McGee, 215 pound right hander, who went in with the bases loaded in the eighth and finished the game. Score:

High School Football Player Drops Dead on Field

Riceville, Ia., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Charles Suitor, member of Riceville High school football team, died tonight as he was going on the field for practice. He had just donned his uniform, jumped over the fence, and ran length of field when he dropped dead.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—HOLY MACKEREL!

PURDUE SENDS 35 PLAYERS TO GAME AT OHIO STATE

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—A squad of 35 Purdue players left tonight for Columbus, O., to meet Ohio State Saturday in the first Big Ten football game of the season.

The Boilermakers have not scored a touchdown in five starts against the Buckeyes. It will be the first meeting between the two elevens since 1924.

The passing of Cecil Isbell, combined with the pass catching of Bill Vergane, Jim Zachary, and Don Powell, veteran ends, is expected to provide Purdue's main offensive threat.

Capt. Martin Schreyer and Clem Woltman probably will be more than able to hold their own with the Buckeyes at tackle, but the big question mark comes at guard and center.

The squad follows:

Ends—Wendell Britt, Jack Krause, Don Powell, Stanley Thursby, Bill Vergane, Jim Zachary.

Tackles—Robert Faris, Joseph Fitzgerald, Harry Krause, Joe Mihal, Martin Schreyer, Clem Woltman.

Guards—Henry Bremer, Frank Bykowski, Andy Grant, Woodrow Knorr, James Maloney, Carl Verplank.

Centers—Paul Humphrey, August Morningstar, Basil Petry.

Quarter backs—Ted Hennis, Cody Isbell, Allen Shackleton.

Half backs—Lou Brock, Jack Brown, Cecil Isbell, Felix Mackiewicz, James Nesbitt, Robert Selby, Robert Vyverberg.

Full backs—Leon Dewitte, Tony Ippolito, Tony Juska, Frank Winchell.

OHIO TACKLE MAY QUIT.

Columbus, O., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Pete Gales, counted on to be a starting tackle for Ohio State, may quit the team, Trainer Tucker P. Smith revealed today. Gales suffered a knee injury early in the practice season and has not been in uniform for more than a week.

Jim McDonald, quarter back, was in uniform for the first time this week, but took part only in a forward passing drill.

Vic Dorris, a good defensive player, may start at full back. Coach Schmidt had him at this post most of the day in place of Rabb.

State Used to Be a Michigan Joke, but It's Different Now

State Loses 14 Veterans.

Michigan State opened its season last Saturday with a 19 to 0 victory over Wayne university, although 14 varsity letter men, nine of them members of the first team, were graduated last June.

Michigan State's current enthusiasm is founded on the fact that State is an offensive team. State's men believe they can outscore Michigan. This attack will center around John Pingel, a 170 pound left half back from Mount Clemens, who alternated with Al Agett last season. Pingel can kick, pass, and run. Gene Ciolek of Michigan City, Ind., is substitute for this position.

The full back, Usif Haney, of Kingsport, Tenn., also is highly regarded. His ball handling, as well as his line smashes, is excellent. In support at this position is George Kovacich of Whiting, Ind.

State's right half back is John Coolidge of Traverse City. Allen Diebold is the quarter back. Alternates for these men, respectively, are Edward Pearce of Flint and Charles Halbert of Grand Rapids.

Here's the Lineup.

Tonight Michigan State spent the major portion of its two hour practice period reviewing tactics for Michigan's offense.

MICHIGAN DRILLS ON PUNTS.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Rough work over for the week, Michigan's football team worked on its kicking game today. Four backs, Wallie Hook, Stark Ritchie, Red Trosko, and Norm Purucker, and an end, Elmer Gedeon, worked under pressure with tackles and ends running at them in a dummy scrimmage formation.

Although an unsatisfactory session yesterday led Coach Kipke to say changes in the varsity back field were possible, his line appeared definite with the exception of right tackle where one of two sophomores, Joe Savilla or Bill Smith will appear. John Nicholson and Art Valpey at end, Don Siegel at left tackle, Ralph Heikkinen and Fred Olds at guard and Capt. Rinaldi at center are definite starters although Archie Kodros of Alton, Ill., may see service at center.

MARQUETTE IS READY.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Having completed heavy scrimmaging for the week in a long workout yesterday the Marquette university football team today tapered off for Saturday's battle with Wisconsin at Madison.

Coach Paddy Driscoll sent the freshmen through a slow motion review of Badger plays and handed out individual defensive assignments to the varsity. Forward pass defense was stressed.

The Hilltoppers' hopes took a slight spurt today following the strong showing of Sophomore Half Backs Reggie Coldagelli and Harry Lesenaar in yesterdays' session with the freshmen.

BADGERS' COACH DISPLEASED.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Openly displeased with the offensive showing of the first two teams in scrimmage sessions with the freshmen earlier this week, Coach Harry Stuhldreher ordered a long drill on blocking this afternoon as the Badgers began tapering off for their first severe test of the season, the Marquette game here Saturday.

NOTRE DAME TAPERS OFF.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Notre Dame today went into the final stages of preparations for the opening of its 50th football season against Drake here Saturday.

It was indicated that the starting combination will be Len Skoglund and Capt. Joe Zwers, ends; Ed Beinor and Al Shellogg, tackles; Joe Ruetz and Joe Kuharich, guards; Pat McCarty, center; Andy Puplis, quarter back; Jack McCarthy and Nevin McCormick, half backs, and Mario Tonelli, full back.

A second back field composed of Chuck O'Reilly or Bill Hover, quarter back; Louis Zontini and Joe Gleason, half backs; and Ed Simonich, full back, may get a chance to operate behind the No. 1 line. Zontini is the only sophomore listed on the first two teams.

Coach Elmer Layden will address the student body in the gymnasium tomorrow night and will introduce members of the team.

Drake will send a 60 piece band to the game.

MAROONS LEAVE FOR NASHVILLE AND VANDERBILT

Thirty-three Maroon football players left last night for Nashville, where they open their season against Vanderbilt tomorrow. The Maroons hope to give Vanderbilt a lively afternoon, if nothing more. Their departure followed the final six hour practice day, since the team will go on a two hour rehersal schedule with the opening of classes at the Midway Monday.

The squad will arrive at Nashville this morning at 7:45 o'clock, put up at the Hermitage hotel, and work out during the day. The group is at full strength, although two sturdy sophomore linemen, Earl Peirce and George Kelley, may be handicapped by minor leg ailments.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy indicated yesterday that his opening lineup will consist of the eleven men who were picked for the first team on Sept. 10. This team includes Capt. Bob Fitzgerald and Remy Meyer at ends; Kendall Petersen and Bob Johnson, tackles; Ten Fink and George Kelley at guards; George Antonic at center; Morton Goodstein or Ed Valorz, quarter back; Sollie Sherman and Lew Hamity, halves, and Fred Lehnhardt, full back. Kelley is the only sophomore in the lot.

NEBRASKA ENDS DRILLS.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Bill Andreson, second string full back, pulled up lame today as Nebraska's football squad held its last active drill before the season opener Saturday against Minnesota. Trainers said Andreson pulled some ligaments. He was in a sweat suit tonight but trainers said he might be able to play Saturday.

Coach Biff Jones sent his men through a pass defense drill and a siege of dummy signal scrimmage. He said the squad would go through only light limbering up exercises tomorrow.

GOPHERS LEAVE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Thirty-eight players were in the University of Minnesota football party when it left tonight for Lincoln and the Nebraska game Saturday.

So intent is Coach Bernie Bierman on getting the quarter back situation settled that he has four signal callers on the roster. In contrast, only two full backs were in the party. The Gophers ran through their final workout on Northrop field today. Forward passing defense again was stressed, as well as a full review of Minnesota's plays.

The squad will stay in Omaha tomorrow night, working out on the Creighton university field. The traveling player party follows:

ENDS—Reed, King, Maricel, Ohlgren, Nash, Warner, Wile, and Erickson.

TACKLES—Kilbourne, Johnson, Midler, Hoel, and Pedersen.

GUARDS—Weld, Twedell, Schultz, Bell, Bork, Filbert, Kafka, and Pukema.

CENTERS—Kulbitski, Elmer, and Wilke.

RIGHT HALF BACKS—Gmitro, Moore, Wrightson, and Gilchrist.

FULL BACKS—Buhler and Christiansen.

MR. KNIGHT EXPLAINS CORRECT GRIP

Rod should be held by the fingers alone, not in palm of hand. As shown at left, the thumb is at the side of the grip instead of at the top, insuring freedom of wrist movement. While all five of the fingers hold the rod, the thumb and forefinger are in control. Therefore, they should not be encumbered with the line which may be held more comfortably as shown.

"After fighting icy streams for hours, the high spot of the day is a pre-dinner drink of good whiskey. I don't know of anything better than a highball or an Old-Fashioned made of John Jameson," adds Mr. Knight.

We're prejudiced, but neither do we know of anything better than John Jameson. It ought to be good: it's made from barley, wheat, oats and nothing else whatever but water and time. Made by the traditional pot still method which we've used for 150 years. Aged 7 years in wood and never "hurried" by so much as a day. Then older John Jameson whiskies are added to perfect the flavor. Hearty, robust, mellow—a man's drink. Try it tonight in an Old Fashioned.

CONSOL. EDISON FILES 80 MILLION DEBENTURE ISSUE

Several Other Companies Delay Financing.

The Consolidated Edison company of New York yesterday filed a registration statement covering $80,000,000 of new securities to be sold to redeem a 4½ per cent debenture issue and to reimburse the company treasury in part for capital expenditures previously made. The company said the new issues would be $40,000,000 of 15 year debentures and $40,000,000 of 25 year debentures. The $60,000,000 of debentures due in 1951 will be redeemed at 105 and accrued interest Dec. 1.

Morgan Stanley & Co. was named as the principal underwriter. Names of other underwriters, the coupon rate on the debentures, offering price, and redemption price will be filed later.

Delay Security Offerings.

Continental Can company and several other concerns announced plans to delay or cancel security offerings because of the unsettled condition of the markets. Continental filed an amendment indefinitly postponing its proposed offering of 200,000 shares of preferred. Proceeds were to have been used to pay bank indebtedness.

The Dayton Rubber Manufacturing company asked for permission to withdraw its registration statement covering sale of additional stock to provide funds for purchase of equipment, to repay bank loans, and for working capital.

Abandons New Financing.

The Hackensack [N. J.] Water company announced it had abandoned a proposed refinancing program planned for this fall because of the condition of the bond market.

In Washington it was disclosed that unstable market conditions in the last month have cut the September month end rush of new security registrations to about one-third the usual volume. Only 20 issues were filed in the three days ended Wednesday, final date for using June 30 financial statements in registrations.

The St. Joseph Railway, Light, Heat and Power company of St. Joseph, Mo., a subsidiary of Cities Service company, filed $6,000,000 of 4 per cent first mortgage bonds due in 1947, and $2,000,000 of 3 and 4 per cent serial notes maturing Oct. 15, 1938, to Oct. 15, 1947.

The Anaconda Copper company will redeem $2,720,000 of 4½ per cent bonds of 1950 today. In addition the company has reacquired $1,242,000 of the same bonds for sinking fund purposes, reducing the total listed on the New York Stock exchange to $47,909,000.

West Penn Electric.

Investors' Guide: Will stocks of West Penn Electric company be impaired if American Water Works and Electric company dissolves West Penn Electric company?—L. A. B.

Answer: There is no question of impairment of West Penn securities involved in the proposition. What American Water Works proposes to do, if the Securities and Exchange commission and stockholders approve, is to retire at their stated redemption prices all securities of West Penn and its subsidiaries that are held by the public.

American Water Works proposes to sell $51,000,000 of bonds and stocks to finance acquisition of these securities. It then will own all outstanding securities of the West Penn system, which then will be dissolved and its properties operated directly by American Water Works. West Penn now is an intermediate holding company controlled by American Water Works through ownership of all class B and common stocks. The elimination of West Penn Electric is designed to simplify corporate structure of American Water Works so that it will be able to comply with provisions of the public utility holding company act of 1935.

Ohio Central Telephone 6s.

Investors' Guide: What information can you give me as to Ohio Central Telephone company 6 per cent bonds. Do you consider them a good safe investment?—A. T. M.

Answer: This company owns and operates 35 exchanges with 12,000 phones, serving a population of about 130,000 in central and southern Ohio. Its lines interconnect with those of the Bell system to provide long distance service. The bonds are considered semispeculative.

UNLISTED TRADE GOES UNDER SEC CONTROL TODAY

Slight Disturbance to Business Expected.

Regulations of the Securities and Exchange commission controling the business of over the counter brokers and dealers will become effective today. Chicago brokers and dealers were agreed yesterday that the activities of legitimate firms need not be greatly altered by the effectiveness of the rules. The over the counter business is largely in securities that are not listed on exchanges such as the New York and Chicago organizations.

The new regulations define obligations of the broker or dealer to his customer, require the keeping of certain records, require the furnishing of particular information on all transactions, and forbid certain "unfair practices" in handling orders.

Adjustments Already Made.

Officials of leading firms reported they have individually and in groups studied the regulations and have already made necessary adjustments. Hence, the putting of the regulations into effect is a routine matter. While some houses believed changes may be necessary later in some of the regulations, few wanted to criticize openly until the rules have been given a tryout. Some privately were dubious as to their value.

An official of one firm mildly objected to the general language of the regulations, particularly in regard to use of the terms "primary" and "secondary" distribution. He believed that all terms should have been defined beyond misunderstanding to prevent trouble later as a result of misinterpretation.

Fear Arbitrary Action.

The same dealer also pointed out that the general language might result in rather "arbitrary" action by the commission in enforcing the rules. The value of the regulations or the hardships they may work on legitimate houses depend entirely on the commission, he said.

Other dealers believed that the language of the regulations was sufficiently clear to be understood, at least by persons engaged in the securities business.

COURT APPROVES REORGANIZATION OF GREENEBAUM

Reorganization of the Greenebaum Sons Investment company, Chicago's oldest mortgage banking house, was approved yesterday by Federal Judge William H. Holly. The company will issue 15,000 shares of first preferred stock convertible into common on a share for share basis to provide working capital.

Holders of the present 300,000 shares of no par common stock will receive one share of new common for each 25 shares now held and rights to subscribe to one share of new first preferred for each 20 old shares. A minority of creditors will receive second preferred stock on the basis of one share for each $100 of allowed claims.

"The new company," Edgar N. Greenebaum, president, said, "will maintain a market for all real estate securities. It will carry on a business in individual mortgages and plans to qualify as an approved mortgagee for Federal Housing administration loans. It will act as transfer agent for corporations and has a fully organized insurance department."

DEPOSITORS OF 2 CLOSED BANKS WILL GET $117,838

Payment of $117,838 to 8,900 depositors in two Chicago closed banks was authorized yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. Checks were placed in the mails last night.

The 5,700 depositors of the Union State Bank of South Chicago will receive $85,004. Including the current payment, which amounts to 5 per cent, depositors have received 37½ per cent of the money due them. Of the current distribution, ordinary liquidation of assets provided funds for 4½ per cent and receipts from the stockholders' liability suit produced the other ½ per cent.

A 5 per cent payment of $32,834 by the Italian Trust and Savings bank is the other disbursement. The 3,200 depositors of this bank will have received 35 per cent of their funds. Money for the payment was obtained through ordinary liquidation.

FOOD LOWER: DUN; FOOD HIGHER: U. S. PICK YOUR INDEX

Is the cost of living going up or down? The answer seems to depend on which index you happen to be reading at the moment.

Dun & Bradstreet announced in New York yesterday that its food index had declined to $2.88 Sept. 28 from $2.92 a week earlier, a fall of 1.4 per cent. In Washington, the department of labor announced that its price index had climbed to 87.5 on Sept. 25 from 87.4 a week earlier due largely to advancing prices of farm products.

Both indices agreed on one point: The cost of living is now above a year ago.

EDISON REPORTS GAIN IN PROFIT DURING AUGUST

Industry Purchases More Power.

The Commonwealth Edison company yesterday reported an increase in August net income to $765,427 from $478,621 in August, 1936. Operating revenues expanded to $7,020,938 from $6,608,667 in the 1936 month.

Per share earnings for August this year were equivalent to 12 cents a share on the 6,450,520 shares of new $25 par stock, against 7 cents a share on 6,446,396 shares which were the equivalent of 1,611,599 $100 par shares outstanding a year ago. The $100 par shares were split four for one this year.

Net income for the eight months ended Aug. 31 was $9,443,066, equal to $1.46 a share, against net income of $6,264,351, or 97 cents a share, in the like period last year. Operating revenues for the 1937 period were $57,-377,962, against $54,463,909 a year ago.

Greater Industrial Use.

The increase in gross earnings in the first eight months of this year over the like period a year ago was due principally to greater use of electricity by industrial consumers, the company said.

Net earnings from utility operations for the period increased approximately $2,699,000, or 42 cents a share, over the corresponding period of 1936. Of this increase, 24 cents a share was the result of capitalizing certain indirect construction expenditures, the report said. Income from investments increased $389,900, or 6 cents a share.

The report pointed out that the amount accrued for federal surtax on undistributed profits for 1937 was calculated on the basis of the present rate of dividend disbursements. It was said that "if an extra dividend is declared toward the year end as was done last year," the federal surtax on undistributed profits for 1937 will be decreased and the earnings per share correspondingly increased.

Public Service Has Gain.

Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, controled by Commonwealth Edison, reported August net income of $238,509, equivalent to 23 cents a share on 666,460 shares, against net income of $158,379, or 11 cents a share on 651,185 shares, in August, 1936. Operating revenues increased to $3,366,917 from $3,061,584 in August, 1936.

Net income for the eight months ended Aug. 31 was $3,129,931, or $3.65 a share, against net income of $2,210,-411, or $2.35 a share, in the like 1936 period. Revenues increased to $27,-849,311 from $25,898,882 a year ago.

The report of the Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc., parent company only of the Consolidated Edison system, showed net income for 12 months ended July 31 of $41,-837,619. No comparison was made with the preceding year.

Consolidated Gas Higher.

Consolidated Gas, Electric Light, and Power company of Baltimore reported net income of $4,476,228, or $3.20 a common share, for eight months ended Aug. 31, against net income of $4,300,886, or $3.05 a share, in the like 1936 period. In the 12 months ended Aug. 31 the company earned $6,570,030, or $4.67 a common share, against $6,499,443, or $4.61 a share, in the preceding year.

The Pittsburgh Steel company and subsidiaries in the fiscal year ended June 30 had profit of $1,391,664, or $1.85 a common share, against loss of $265,359 in the preceding year.

The A. O. Smith corporation and subsidiaries, manufacturers of fabricated steel products and since last year also engaged in gold mining in Nevada, reported net income of $16,-555, or 3 cents a common share, in the year ended July 31, against net income of $862,659, or $1.72 a share, in the preceding year.

Waukesha Motor Gains.

The Waukesha Motor company reported consolidated net income of $1,026,824, equal to $2.56 a year, in the year ended July 31, against net income of $731,553, or $1.83 a share, in the preceding year.

Steel Industry Employes in August Total 603,000

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The American Iron and Steel institute said today that more than 603,000 employés were on the pay rolls of the steel industry during August, against 594,000 employed in July. The increase, the institute said, reflects the fact that steel operations averaged 83.6 per cent of capacity in August, compared with an average of 78.5 per cent in July. In August, 1936, the total number of employés was 522,000.

Idle Funds of Banks Rise $40,000,000

Unused reserve funds of the country's banks increased another 40 million dollars in the week ended Wednesday, bringing the total expansion since the treasury release of sterilized gold three weeks ago to 310 million dollars.

The federal reserve system's weekly statement issued last night showed that the central banks of the system are now carrying member bank balances that are 1 billion 60 million dollars more than the legal reserve quotas call for. This excess of idle money is the basis for an expansion of bank credit amounting to several times the amount of the reserve.

Commercial Loans Expand.

The statement of condition of member banks in New York, issued yesterday, disclosed a continued growth in commercial loans in that city. Commercial borrowers were advanced another 18 million dollars, extending the steady expansion that has been underway. Loans of the New York banks to brokers and dealers, however, fell 40 millions from the preceding week, reflecting the slack in new financing operations and the decline in the stock market.

The New York banks reported slight change in their aggregate investments in government bonds, but a gain of 22 millions in investments other than government securities. The reserves of the New York banks gained 102 million dollars.

Little change in credit conditions was disclosed by the statement of the Chicago banks. Commerical loans held at the level of the preceding week and only minor shifts were shown in investment portfolios.

Treasury Cuts Deposits.

Fedaral treasury operations had no important bearing on the changes in the money market conditions during the week. Expenditures by the treasury reduced its deposits with the central reserve banks by 53 million dollars. Release of this money was believed the primary factor in swelling the reserve funds of the member banks of the reserve system.

Monetary gold stocks were listed in the reserve system statement at 12 billion 734 million dollars, a gain of 40 millions compared with the preceding week.

MORGENTHAU REFUSES TO TALK ABOUT BUDGET

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Secretary Morgenthau at his press conference today refused to say whether he had any hope of balancing the federal budget in the present fiscal year. He also refused to discuss methods for effecting economy which are either under way or proposed. He denied reports that he favored increasing taxes to balance the budget, although he admitted having favored this procedure last year when plans were being made for the present fiscal year.

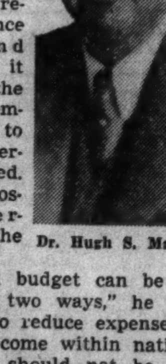
Morgenthau said there will be no "major financing" by the treasury before the next quarterly date, Dec. 15. The customary nine-month bill offerings will continue weekly.

Pure Oil Modifies Pension Plan Due to Security Act

Henry M. Dawes, president of the Pure Oil company, yesterday notified the company's 6,500 employës that the employée pension retirement plan has been modified as a result of the social security act pension provisions. Under the modified plan, payments by employës earning less than $3,000 a year and the benefits to which they will be entitled will be cut in half. The company will continue to pay more than half the total cost of the retirement program, Dawes said.

ONLY BUDGET BALANCE WILL AVERT DISASTER, SAYS HUGH S. MAGILL

The only remedy for the "dangerous" fiscal situation of the federal government is a balanced national budget, Hugh S. Magill, president of the American Federation of Investors, said yesterday. This alone can avert disaster and restore confidence to business and industry, and it is essential to the relief of unemployment and to general prosperity, he asserted. Magill's son, Roswell, is undersecretary of the treasury.



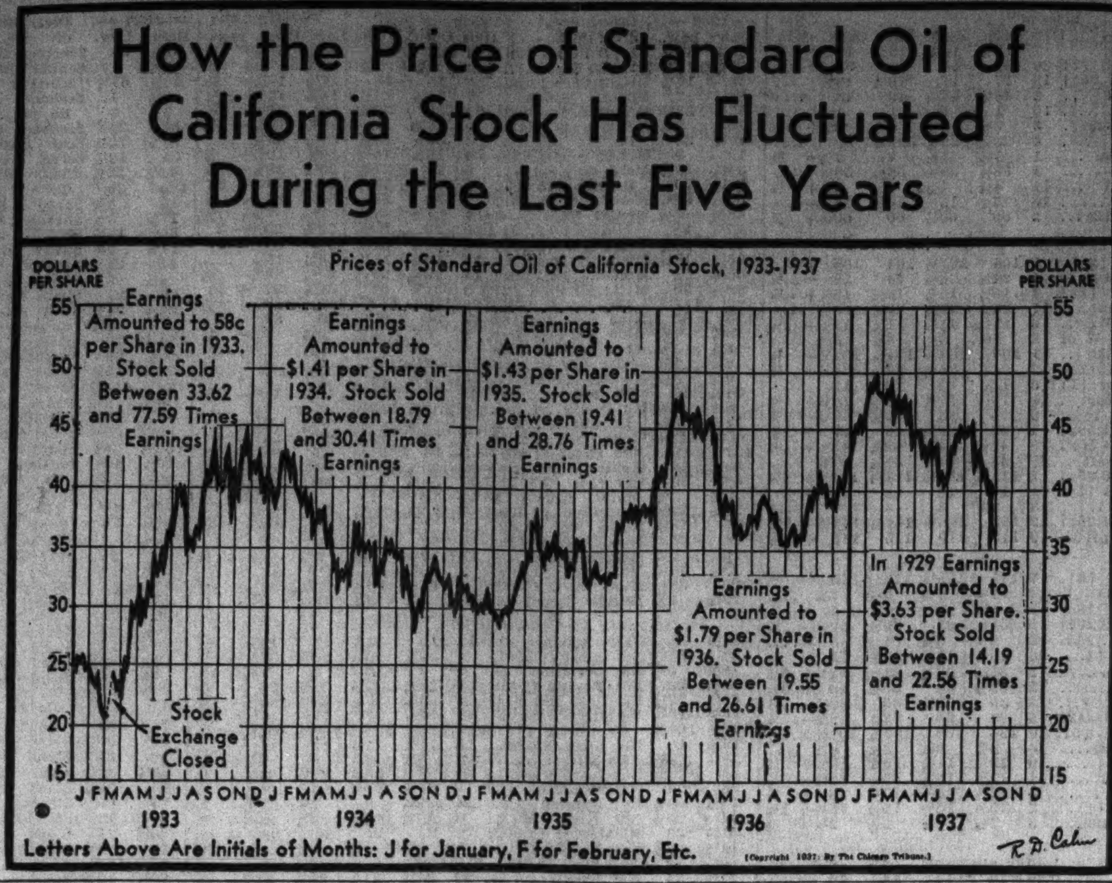
Dr. Hugh S. Magill.

"The federal budget can be balanced in only two ways," he said. "One way is to reduce expenses so that they will come within national income, which should not be difficult in this time of peace and plenty. The other way is increased taxation.

"Damaging as excessive taxation is to national prosperity, it is far better than for our country to continue borrowing money and piling up the national debt until the inevitable financial crash comes."

"Congress alone can correct the present threatening situation. The national administration cannot spend money until it is first appropriated by congress. Therefore, the responsibility for our present situation and its cure rests on our senators and congressmen.

"The situation is producing a feeling of uncertainty in business, and of insecurity, if not worse, in the stock and commodity markets. It affects every one, the investor, the laborer, the consumer."



Copper Leads Commodities in New Rally

Prices of most commodities snapped back yesterday under the leadership of copper after the severe decline on Wednesday which carried quotations for a number of important staples into new low ground for the year.

Domestic copper was boosted ½ cent to 12½ cents a pound after dropping a full cent the day before, the second reduction of a cent a pound in 48 hours. Copper futures responded by spurting 0.66 to 0.75 cent a pound.

Producers said the domestic price was boosted because a part of the excess stocks which had been in the market were removed when sales Wednesday reached 4,214,000 pounds.

Export Copper Slips.

The price of export copper, however, again slipped 0.05 cent to 12.10 cents a pound, a new low for the month.

Trading was quiet in other leading nonferrous metals, with cash prices unchanged and futures moderately higher.

Cocoa advanced 0.10 to 0.12 cent a pound. Silk futures climbed ½ to 2 cents a pound, but silk for immediate delivery closed as much as 2 cents a pound lower. Sugar futures were a shade higher and both raw and refined sugar for immediate delivery were unchanged. Cottonseed oil was higher.

Rubber Futures Lower.

Crude rubber futures lost 0.15 to 0.22 cent a pound and smoked ribbed sheets closed at 17.56 cents a pound, down 0.16 cent. Hide futures closed 0.02 to 0.10 cent a pound down, but hides for immediate delivery were unchanged.

Wool tops for immediate delivery were unchanged, but wool top futures gained about a cent a pound.

Lyles Glenn signed an order today permitting three power companies to appeal from his recent decision upholding the validity of the $37,500,000 Santee-Cooper power and navigation project for which the PWA agreed to provide funds. LONDON, Sept. 30.—[Special.]—Revenues of the British government for the six months ended Sept. 30, amounted to £308,861,745 [approximately $1,544,308,725]. Expenditures amounted to £407,397,795 [$2,036,988,-975], leaving a deficit of £98,536,050 [$492,680,250] for the first half of the government's fiscal year.

MEEHAN'S EXCHANGE CAREER ENDS WITH SALE OF MEMBERSHIP

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The career of Michael J. Meehan as a stock exchange trader formally was closed today with the sale of his membership. Meehan was one of the most bullish of the bulls in the boom days before October, 1929. The exchange announced arrangements for the transfer of Meehan's membership to Thomas E. Doherty, who will become a general partner in the firm of M. J. Meehan & Co. The firm will continue a member of the exchange.

Michael J. Meehan.

This carried out the order of the securities and exchange commission which two months ago expelled Meehan from his memberships on the New York Stock exchange, the New York Curb exchange, and the Chicago Board of Trade. The commission found him guilty of violating the securities exchange act of 1934 in manipulating the stock of the Bellanca Aircraft corporation.

Friends of the speculator said he had recovered from a nervous breakdown after spending many months in a sanitarium, but physicians had forbade him to return to business.

COMPANIES WIN FIGHT TO FIGHT SEC DISCLOSURES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—(AP)—The Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia ruled today that corporations have a right to seek court aid to prevent disclosure by the securities and exchange commission of information regarding their organization. The ruling was given in an opinion by Associate Justice D. Lawrence Groner in three cases involving orders which the SEC contended were not subject to court review.

The cases, the merits of which the court did not touch, involved the Bulova Watch Company, Inc., the American Sumatra Tobacco corporation, and the International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd.

The corporations objected to SEC publication of such facts as gross sales, cost of goods sold, inventory reports, remuneration of officials and employés, profit and loss statements, and certain parts of expenses for maintenance and repair, depreciation, taxes, rents, and royalties.

The commission contended that the right of appeal to the courts was granted by congress only in those cases where disclosure orders were made without hearings.

18 Million Suit Against H. L. Doherty Is Dropped

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—An $18,-000,000 acounting suit against Henry L. Doherty, president of Cities Service company, and other directors was marked off the Supreme court calendar today when counsel for the plaintifs failed to appear. The suit was filed last fall by Morton Marks in behalf of himself and other stockholders, who charged the defendants with causing an $18,000,000 loss to Cities Service as a result of their alleged activities in making a market for Cities Service stock.

Egg Futures Fall in Second Heaviest Trade

Egg future prices yesterday fell as much as ¾ cent a dozen on the Chicago Mercantile exchange in the second heaviest trading for a single day in the history of the market. The turnover totaled 12,024,000 dozen, which compares with the all-time high of 12,612,000 dozens which changed hands Oct. 5, 1928.

October contracts closed at 21⅝ to 21¾ cents a dozen, against a closing price Wednesday of 22½ cents. November contracts closed ⅝ cent a dozen lower at 22⅛ cents, and December contracts, which appeared on the boards for the first time, finished at 22⅝ cents, after opening at 22½ and touching a high of 22⅞.

Near Year's Low.

The break in egg futures carried prices to just above low levels for the year. The decline amounted to about $90 a carlot in the October contract. Final prices were around low points of the session.

Eggs for immediate delivery declined ½ to 1 cent a dozen.

Traders attributed the break in futures to weakness in the cash market, unfavorable overnight storage news, and heavy switching from October contracts to deferred months in an effort to escape delivery.

Butter Is Unchanged.

November butter closed unchanged at 33⅞ cents a pound. A price of 34⅛ cents a pound was established in first trades in December butter. Most grades of cash butter advanced ¼ cent a pound.

STANDARD (N. J.) MOVES AGAIN IN TAX MANEUVER

Flemington, N. J., Sept. 30.—(AP)—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, holding company, changed its corporate address to this small city today in what was regarded as a tactical retreat from high personal property taxes prevailing in the metropolitan north Jersey area.

Taxed nearly $2,000,000 in 1936 in Newark, more than $1,000,000 this year in Linden, the company beat tomorrow's taxing date deadline for 1938 and located here.

Originally the office was in Newark, but when that municipality set an assessment of $300,000,000 on the company's personal property the tax battle began. Negotiations brought the assessment down to $50,000,000 and on Dec. 31, 1936, a check for $1,987,-366 was received by the city.

The next year the office was in Linden. The Union county tax board levied a $75,000,000 assessment and the company paid more than $1,000,000.

STOCKS CLIMB, THEN SLIP ON LATER SELLING

Gold Shares Strong; Steels Weak.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 30.—The stock market got off to a good start today, with metal shares leading an early upturn that added as much as $2 a share to prices of many leading issues, but liquidation that came into the market late in the session erased or reduced the gains.

Of the 829 issues traded, 403 closed higher, 248 lower, and 169 were unchanged. Transactions fell to 1,045,-498 shares from yesterday's turnover of 1,353,530.

Gold mining stocks received much attention. The rise in gold prices in the London market and reports that hoarding of the metal is increasing in Europe were responsible for the buying which lifted prices, brokers said.

Copper Shares Gain.

Copper shares also had a good advance on early buying, but lost part of their gains in the late trading. Strength in the copper issues was based on the expectation that the reduction in the price announced yesterday by leading smelters will stimulate consumer demand.

Hope that a settlement might be reached in the railroad wage negotiations in Chicago were revived when early reports told of a joint session of the management and labor groups. The temporary impulse that was given to railroad stocks ended when later dispatches reported that the meeting closed with no public statement on the status of the case.

At the close rails were mixed in a fractional range. Private reports putting freight loadings at 837,500 cars this week, a new peak for the year, did much to bolster the division, brokers said.

Steel Group Lower.

U. S. Steel common, which at one time sold as high as 83¾, dropped back to 80¾ for a net loss of 1½ points. Other leading steels moved in a narrower range and closed at losses of fractions to 1 point.

Utilities receded fractions in small volume. Farm implement shares gave a good account of themselves Case rose 1½ points and Deere and International Harvester each added two points.

Socony was actively bought in a mixed oil section. Mail order stocks moved fractionally lower. Aviations were steady to one point higher.

Chrysler met opposition in the motors, declining 1½ points. General Motors kept its loss to a small fraction.

Foreign Markets Higher.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—[Special.]—American shares closed higher on the London Stock exchange today, although early gains in some issues were almost canceled in late liquidation. Domestic industrials were higher and base metal shares responded to higher metal quotations. Prices turned sharply higher in active trading on the Paris bourse. American stocks were strong on the Amsterdam bourse, where the list made a general recovery from the sell-off Wednesday.

BANK CLEARINGS SHOW DECLINE OF 5.9 PER CENT

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Bank clearings in 22 leading cities totaled $5,221,571,000 in the week ended Sept. 29, a decline of 5.9 per cent from $5,-547,785,000 cleared in the comparable week last year, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. In the preceding week clearings in the same cities were 22.5 per cent higher than a year ago.

The turnover at New York City of $3,103,246,000 was 11.2 per cent under last year's volume of $3,492,767,000. The total at outside centers of $2,118,-325,000 represented a gain of 3.1 per cent over $2,055,018,000 in the period a year ago.

Clearings at Chicago amounted to $321,000,000, an increase of 0.1 per cent over $320,700,000 last year.

Roper May Give Opinion on Recent Stock Slump

Washington, D. C., Sept. 30.—(AP)—A business survey under way at the commerce department today may serve as the basis of official comment on the recent stock market decline. Secretary Roper said he would report on the survey next week and may at that time discuss the relationship between stock market prices and the nation's general level of business activity.

Finance Firms Tighten Auto Sales Terms

Formally endorsing a policy of tighter automobile instalment purchase terms, members of the National Association of Sales Finance companies yesterday passed a resolution adopting standard terms for payments.

The plan calls for a minimum down payment on new cars of one-third of the purchase price and payment of the balance in the "shortest possible time," but not to exceed 18 months. On cars more than two years old it provided the same down payment terms, but a maximum of 12 months for the remaining instalments.

Closes Annual Convention.

The association held the final session of its 14th annual convention yesterday at the Stevens hotel. Its members include General Motors Acceptance corporation, Commercial Investment Trust corporation, Commercial Credit company, and other large sales financing concerns.

In earlier discussion it was said that some financing companies have been accepting less than one-third of the purchase price as down payment and allowing instalments to run up to 24 months.

Insistence by automobile manufacturers, acting under state fair trade practice laws, that their dealers sell cars at not less than suggested retail prices is the most effective method of warding off restrictive legislation. A. N. Benson, general manager of the National Automobile Dealers' association, told the convention.

Commends Reserve Board Action.

The association also adopted a resolution commending the recent decision of the federal reserve board to permit the rediscounting of instalment paper. Another provided for the admission of banks as associate members of the association. This action was taken as a friendly gesture to banks, some of which have been regarded as competitors by sales finance companies.

The association elected as president for the coming year A. D. Weller, president of the Credit Acceptance corporation, Rochester, N. Y.

ATLAS BREWING REORGANIZATION ASKED IN COURT

A petition for reorganization of the Atlas Brewing company under provisions of the bankruptcy laws was filed yesterday in federal court here on behalf of three creditors. Atlas is the second large Chicago brewing concern to be involved in reorganization proceedings. The other is the Prima company.

The company's assets as a going concern are valued at $1,371,000, against liabilities of $635,000, exclusive of 300,000 shares of $3 par value common stock. Land and equipment are valued at $800,000, inventory at $200,000 and receivables at $236,000. Principal liabilities other than stock are $240,000 in mortgage notes and $200,000 in bank loans and other credits. Claims aggregating $125,490 were made by the Northwestern Malt and Grain company, Albert Schwill & Co., and the A. Magnus Sons company, which filed the petition.

After the bill was filed Attorneys Richard Mayer and T. I. McKnight, representing company and stockholder interests, said they will appear before Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward consenting to reorganization and appointment of a trustee so that operations of the company may continue pending drafting and approval of a reorganization plan.

NET OPERATING INCOME OF 137 RAILROADS FALLS

August net operating income of 137 class 1 railroads fell 22.2 per cent below net operating income in the same month a year ago, despite an increase of 2.6 per cent in gross revenues, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The decrease in net operating income was due to a higher wage rate and a rise of 8.9 per cent in costs of operation. The month's net operating income was $50,307,881 and gross revenues were $359,611,955.

Operating revenues for the first eight months of this year totaled $2,811,570,737, against $2,572,205,610 a year ago, and net operating income increased to $408,217,228 from $364,-361,519. Operating expenses rose to $2,093,345,834 from $1,915,174,958.

CORNER IN CORN TO BE PROBED BY BOARD OF TRADE

Short Sellers Settle All Contracts.

With the clearing up of transactions in September corn yesterday officials of the Chicago Board of Trade were preparing for a full investigation of the alleged "corner" which forced the board to close futures trading in corn for September delivery several days ahead of the schedule.

First steps in this investigation are expected to be taken at the regular meeting of the board's directors next Tuesday afternoon. Whether the directors will attempt to discipline the Cargill company for its refusal last Friday to sell a million bushels of its holdings of grain has not been disclosed.

Sued for $100,000.

Representatives of the Cargill Grain company of Illinois, subsidiary of Cargill, Inc., the Minneapolis holding company, are scheduled to appear today before Judge Harry Fisher in the circuit court on a motion to dismiss a suit brought against the company by Daniel F. Rice & Co., grain commission house.

The suit asks the court for a judgment of $100,000 against Cargill under an old Illinois statute providing for a penalty of one cent per bushel for each day's delay in delivery of grain. The case arose out of a transaction last spring in oats for July delivery.

Rice One of Shorts.

This litigation over July oats has attracted interest in the grain trade because Daniel F. Rice, partner in the commission firm, was reported to have been one of the short sellers of September corn. The Cargill firm was the largest "long" in the battle over September corn. Rice is also reported to have filed charges against Cargill with the Board of Trade in the same July oats transaction.

Buyers of September corn took delivery on 1,538,000 bushels of cash grain yesterday and sellers thus completed the last act of winding up their accounts. Contracts involving 6,412,-000 bushels were settled on the basis of $1.10½ per bushel, established by the Board of Trade when it suspended trading in September corn because of the "corner."

Grains Weaken After Rise.

Grain markets developed an easier undertone in the late trading yesterday after advancing a major fraction of a cent a bushel early to a new high on the current upturn. Corn led the decline, with the December contract selling at 66 cents early and later at 62⅞ cents. Professional selling, based on reports of yields of as high as 110 bushels per acre in Iowa and prospects for an early and big movement of new crop grain, were the main depressing influences. Corn futures closed 1¾ to 2¼ cents a bushel lower.

Wheat futures reacted about 2 cents and closed a major fraction of a cent a bushel lower on the old crop month. July was 2 cents lower. The early buying was regarded as being partly due to the removal of hedges against export sales of domestic grain, estimated as high as 1,500,000 bushels.

Report Beans Sold for Export.

Reports were current yesterday that several small amounts of American soy beans had been sold for export, but confirmation was lacking. Futures advanced ¾ to 1½ cents a bushel, however, on buying prompted by the reports. Oats futures declined a small fraction of a cent a bushel, while rye was off as much as 1 cent. No export business was reported yesterday in the latter grain.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 30.—Bonds continued to move forward today on the New York exchange on only a slight increase in trading. Secondary railroad issues supplied the leadership in the movement, again responding to an enlivened demand with gains of fractions to three points. Other major groups participated in the recovery.

The market for United States government obligations was quiet, but prices continued to creep to higher levels. Net gains at the close ranged from 1-32 to 9-32 point on a turnover of $472,750, against sales of $486,000 in those issues on the preceding day.

Belief that railroads were about to reach an agreement with union representatives on protracted wage controversies, reports some corporate borrowers would proceed with plans for new offerings, and the more stable action of the stock market combined to broaden support for corporate issues generally.

Foreign dollar bonds, excepting those of Japan were generally higher. Japanese loans yielded only fractionally.

Transactions totaled $7,495,750, compared with $7,428,000 yesterday.

Chicago Stocks.

Stocks withstood afternoon profit taking to finish moderately higher in quiet trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Volume dwindled to 28,000 shares from 34,000 shares traded Wednesday.

Of the 108 issues traded, 51 advanced, 24 declined, and 33 were unchanged. Chicago Corporation, Commonwealth Edison, and General Household Utilities were among the trading favorites, which finished a shade higher. Zenith Radio and Marshall Field declined.

The September volume of trading on the exchange totaled 1,021,000 shares, against 754,000 shares in July and 1,632,000 shares in September, 1936. Average daily volume of trading was 40,840 shares, against 29,000 shares in August and 65,280 in September, 1936. Volume of trading in the first nine months of this year totaled 11,010,000 shares, against 14,355,000 in the corresponding 1936 period.

Bank Stocks.

First National bank stock advanced $6 a share yesterday, and Lake Shore Trust and Savings stock climbed $5. Continental Illinois was $3 lower, and Northern Trust off $5. Other Chicago bank stocks were unchanged.

Balance Sheet Statistics.

A reader comments that stock prices are supposed to be approximately 10 times earnings or that market value should equal book value, but that such rule of thumb measurements don't hold true in many instances. He asks "Why?"

Balance sheet statistics can be extremely misleading. A balance sheet is not a statement of indisputable facts; it is largely a matter of opinion. For instance: fixed assets are valued in dollars. But that does not mean that that number of dollars can be realized in liquidation. The figures represent some one's opinion of the value of the assets.

Who knows exactly how much can be collected on "receivables," how much can be realized on "patents," or whether an invention tomorrow will make today's patent worthless? Who knows what the value of "inventories" will be a few months hence? "Surplus" is an arithmetic difference between assets, as appraised, and liabilities, plus capital. It is not cash or other specific assets but a figure to balance the balance sheet.

This also holds true for the income statement. Depreciation is an estimate of the wear and tear on fixed assets; bad debts are a deduction or guess of the amount that cannot be collected.

When these estimates are carefully made and the accounts audited by a certified public accountant they may be reasonably used as the basis for deductions. But the student must realize that a financial statement is merely a compilation of appraisals.

COTTON

Heavy hedging sales were again a major factor in the cotton futures market yesterday. While there was trade buying and some short covering, prices receded moderately with March and May contracts on the Chicago Board of Trade selling at a new low for the season. Closing trades in leading American markets were at net losses of .02 to .09 cent a pound.

Spot cotton closed .05 cent lower with New Orleans 8.25 cents, New York, 8.45 cents; Galveston, 8.05 cents, and Houston 8 cents a pound. Prices follow:

PRICES OF HOGS GAIN DESPITE PORK DECLINE

The market for hogs yesterday advanced a little, but fresh pork prices again were weak to lower as retail buying continued at low ebb at all distributing points. Warmer weather and consumer resistance to meat prices caused further reductions of 50 cents in Chicago pork markets and of $1.00 in the east. The scant supply of hogs at the yards forced packers' live costs up, mostly 10 cents.

The top for pork loins declined to $26 here, the cheapest they have been since Sept. 8. This was $7 under the high spot two weeks ago, a decline of 21 per cent.

Live costs of lambs also were forced higher in the face of declines in lamb meat ranging up to $1 per hundred pounds. Prices for live lambs were strong to 25 cents higher, the top at $10.65, equaling the highest since Thursday of last week.

Threat of the kosher consumers' strike against high beef weakened the trade for cattle yesterday. Steers quoted downwards from $11.50 were weak to 25 cents lower, while others brought mostly steady to weak prices. Top grades were absent, the best at Chicago selling at $17.35, with the bulk at $9 to $15.85. Fed heifers, best beef cows, canners and cutters were stronger.

REPORT WORKERS SAFER IN PLANTS THAN IN HOMES

Workers are safer in industrial plants than they are on public highways or in their own homes as a result of 30 years of progress in industrial safety, John A. Stephens, industrial relations manager of Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, said last night at a convention banquet of the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers at the Stevens hotel. The banquet was held to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the founding of the National Safety council, originally sponsored by the steel association.

The records of Carnegie-Illinois, Stephens said, showed that since the start of organized safety work, serious and fatal accidents had been reduced 82 per cent and more than 75,000 employes have been saved from injury and death.

MARINELLO

OCTOBER 1, 1937.

AN OPEN LETTER TO AMBITIOUS GIRLS:

We realize that the most important factor in the training of a student is the experience and teaching ability of the instructors. Therefore, the rigid standards of Marinello's instruction staff are exacting.

These same high standards make it possible for our instructors to guide you successfully through a complete course of Beauty Culture training simplifying the most difficult operations to make them easily understandable—easily learned.

If a career in Beauty Culture appeals to you, it will be to your advantage to have a personal talk with the Dean, Mr. Perraud, at Marinello [National School of Cosmeticians, Inc.], 108 N. State-st., Chicago, the foremost school of Beauty Culture in the world today. Day and evening classes at Marinello must necessarily be limited. Therefore it will pay you to visit our school today. If you cannot do this, write or phone State 5057 for National Descriptive Manual.
